LARGEST MORGUE ON EARTH

The Columbarium at San Francisco Not Unlike a Church in Appearance—A Costly Structure.

San Francisco.—The Byzantine church looking structure in the accompanying picture might be a temple in Russia or the orient, but it is not merely San Francisco's famous crematory and the largest in the world until the earthquake and fire came and turned the city into a vast crematory and morgue.

It is said that San Francisco was the only city in the world enforcing cremation on all its inhabitants, consequently the extension of cemeteries was stopped, and the great black cross on the heights and visible from ships at sea marked the last of the great burial places of former days. The crematory, built at great expense, was called the Columbarium and was fitted up with luxurious rooms and corners for the dead. There were thousands of niches along the walls, as in a picture gallery, and the urns for the ashes were placed above and below "the line," according to your choice of position and length of purse.

An Educated Elephant. When Lord Dufferin was viceroy of India he received a novel paper knife from the Maharajah Holkar of Indore as a return gift of an ivory paper cutter given to him in England. The viceroy introduced a fine young elephant into the room. A pile of newspapers lay at Lord Dufferin's side. The animal went up to them, cut them neatly with his tusks, which had been purposely sharpened, and laid them in a neat heap on the floor, ready for perusal.

To Measure Day or Night. To ascertain roughly the length of the day and night at any time of the year, double the sun's rising, which gives the length of the night, and double the time of setting, which gives the length of the day.

DECLINED ROOSEVELT'S DINNER

Old Ranching Friend Would Not Attend Without a Dress Suit.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—President Roosevelt had an unusual experience. An invitation which he extended to a caller to take dinner with him last night at the White House was declined. John Willis of Moscow, Mont., was the man who rejected the invitation. He is an old friend of President Roosevelt. They formerly ranched together on the Little Missouri river.

Willis, accompanied by Thomas Everett of Harlem, Mont., called on the president with Senator Carter to discuss what they maintained were the dilatory tactics of the engineers of the reclamation service on the Milk river project in Montana. They said the engineers had been engaged for four years on the work and had not finished it yet, although they thought it ought to have been done in six months.

When the president extended to Willis his dinner invitation Willis pleaded that he could not accept because he did not have a dress suit. The president assured him that need not worry him, but Willis was obstinate. The president said he would be glad to entertain him in a suit of buckskin, but Willis insisted that he knew what was proper and said that while he would be glad to join the president in a horse-back ride he could not think of going to the White House for dinner in anything but a dress suit.

Girls Dance Together. Dancing in India is held in the highest esteem and dates back many centuries. The girls never dance with the men, but with one another, performing all sorts of grotesque figures.

Useless Words. Statistics show that the sooner a man allows his wife to have the last word the sooner the controversy will end.—Chicago Daily News.

Southern Farm Values. It is computed that farm properties in the 11 states that once seeded from the union have risen in value more than $1,000,000,000 in two years. The average yield of these lands since this century began is $200,000,000 a year greater than it was in the preceding six years.

Church Town. The town of Willis has 183 inhabitants, and 176 of them belong to the church. Four of the seven who do not belong are town loafers and the other three are infants, who will be taken in as soon the weather warms up and they can be baptized.—Kansas City Journal.

N. F. Walker while in Harrisburg this week had a conversation with the State road commissioner, Hunter, in relation to the proposed improved road between Athens and Sayre boroughs. Mr. Hunter says that the necessary papers are all completed and are now in the hands of the state printer, and that they will be forwarded as soon as printed, which he thinks will be in about two weeks. All of these papers must go into the state printer's hands. And, as there is such a large number of them, there is necessarily some delay in getting them out. It, however, cannot be very long before we shall have the work in progress.

Robert Hendershot, the drummer boy of the Rappahannock, gave a very pleasing entertainment at Elsbree Opera House last evening. The story of his remarkable heroism is one of absorbing interest, and the silver drum which he carries as a trophy, has many marvelous harmonies when awakened into being by his dextrous manipulations. There was not a very large audience but those present enjoyed it very much.

About 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mrs. John B. Ackley's chicken house on Chestnut street caught fire and created a panic amongst the residents of that vicinity. The women of the neighborhood hastily organized a fire brigade and subdued the flames without turning in an alarm. Mrs. Ackley had built a sulphur fire inside in order to exterminate some insects that were annoying her chickens and while it was in operation she fell asleep. The fire soon broke forth in great fury but the ladies went to work systematically and soon had the fire extinguished.

ATHENS CHURCHES

The arrangement by which the Presbyterians, Baptists and Methodists are to unite in union Sunday evening services, will commence tomorrow evening with the services at the Baptist church. Tomorrow morning the regular services will be held in the Presbyterian church, when Rev. Von Tobel will officiate at communion. The regular communion services will also be held in the Baptist and Methodist churches in the morning. The Young People's Societies will also join in union services at the regular hour in the Baptist church.

There will be mass at 8 a. m., only tomorrow at the Catholic church. Rev. Father O'Rourke will officiate at the funeral of Patrick Kain at Ulster at 10:30 a. m.

The regular communion service will be held in the Methodist church tomorrow morning. No evening services.

The usual services will be held in the Universalist church tomorrow morning and evening, Rev. W. A. Kelley officiating. Morning subject, "Jesus Christ and the Social Question." Evening, "Object of the Church."

Permanent Dentistry

A quarter of a century ago we placed some gold fillings in the teeth of a well known gentleman at present a resident of Sayre. These fillings today are just as bright, firm and useful as the day they were made. We will tell you the name of the party, if you wish to see him yourself.

There are variations in dental workmanship, just as there are differences in the various brands of flour. If you desire the highest degree of proficiency—the skill and knowledge that will make YOUR fillings serviceable twenty five years from today—come in or phone for an appointment. On the other hand, if you take pleasure in having your teeth filled over and over again every year or two, you should go elsewhere—we do not do that kind of work.
