LONG FLIGHT IN AIR

Thomas Balloon Sails From New York to Bay State.

BEGIN AERIAL TRIP AT MIDNIGHT.

Voyage Made For the Purpose of Testing New Guide Rope and Water Anchor, in Very Successful.

BRANT ROCK, Mass., Aug. 7.—Sailing above the clouds and over 225 miles of pabonamic land and water from New York city and landing at the little seashore resort of Brant Rock, Mass., near the historic town of Plymouth, Dr. Julian P. Thomas of New York city and Roy Knabenshue, a professional aeronaut, made one of the most successful balloon trips yet undertaken in this country and learned much, it is believed, that will assist in the development of aerial navigation.

Dr. Thomas in an interview said that the trip from every point of view was the most successful he has yet accomplished. The balloon was undamaged, but Aeronaut Knabenshue was cut slightly during the final descent at this place. Otherwise nothing marred the flight.

The voyage was made with one stop and that a voluntary one at Noank, Conn., where by the aid of a new guide rope Dr. Thomas brought his big balloon to the earth to procure breakfast and water almost as skillfully and with as accurate a judge of distance of a pilot bringing a huge liner to her dock. The aeronauts were nearly twelve hours on their trip.

The start was made from the Union Gas works at One Hundred and Eighty-ninth street, New York, and the trip was made for the purpose of testing two new appliances, a guide rope and water anchor. The former device worked with great success.

The ascent from the gas works was made without mishap at midnight. The balloon rose high over New York city and impelled by a gentle south-west wind sailed off over Long Island sound. The balloonists had a wonderful and unusual view of the earth because of the clear light of a full August moon. After several miles, however, a thick fog swept in between the swaying car and the waters of the sound. To the dismay of the aeronauts they were unable to tell whether they were drifting. This was perhaps the most trying moment of the journey. Of this Dr. Thomas said: "We were not frightened. I have always been lucky."

By the use of his guide rope Dr. Thomas brought the car nearer the earth and from the blasts of the fog horns beneath him knew he was still over the waters of the sound. Off Bridgeport, Conn., attracted by one of the whistling craft, Dr. Thomas brought his airship still closer to the water and surrounded the members of a yachting party by halting them from the mist and darkness. From them he learned his exact position and then quickly resumed his journey.

At about 5 o'clock in the morning the dark outlines of land could be made out through the fog, and by the aid of his new devices of water anchor and guide rope Dr. Thomas landed gently at Noank, Conn., in the yard of Milton Eldridge.

The voyagers breakfasted with Mr. Eldridge and were so enthusiastic over the success of their trip, which at this point had been of about 150 miles, the longest thus far attempted by Dr. Thomas, that they decided to continue on their way, although they had at first planned merely a moonlight excursion to try the new devices. The sun's action upon the balloon had made it still more buoyant, and as soon as released from its anchorage the big bag shot up high in the air to a height not hitherto reached and far above the fog bank that still hung over the water. The wind still held to the southwest. Long Island sound was gradually left behind, and the balloon soared over the hills and meadows of Rhode Island. Desiring of further testing his guide rope, Dr. Thomas dropped nearer to land at Warwick and descended so close that he was able to ask of a wondering inhabitant what place it was. This was at 9 o'clock, and Dr. Thomas estimated that he had been traveling at ten miles an hour.

SIRIO MISSING NUMBER 385.

Terrible Scenes Reported From the Wreck of Italian Steamer.

CARTAGENA, Spain, Aug. 7.—Reports continue to arrive here of the terrible scenes attending the wreck of the Italian steamer Sirio, from Genoa via Barcelona and other ports for Buenos Ayres, resulting in the loss of over 300 lives. The missing number 385.

The drowning of the Bishop of Sao Paulo, Brazil, is now attributed to the action of an Argentina passenger, who forcibly took from the bishop a life belt with which he had provided himself.

One Italian woman kept her three children afloat on a plank until they were all picked up.

A bridegroom who was on his honeymoon lost his bride and sister, and one old man who was saved lost three children.

The Sirio is considered to be a total loss. A number of bodies of the drowned were buried. Ten of the rescued passengers died after being brought ashore.

The survivors say that the Sirio sank with extreme rapidity. Many of the passengers were on deck as she disappeared. The boats were so overcrowded that a number of them immediately capsized, throwing their occupants into the water.

Quantities of food and clothing for the survivors are arriving here from all parts of the country. A public subscription started for the relief of the destitute has reached a large sum.

The survivors are quartered in the theaters, hospitals and clubs, the poorer classes of the inhabitants of Cartagena rivaling each other in assisting them.

Sirio's Captain Not a Suicide.
ROME, Aug. 7.—The Italian General Navigation company, owners of the wrecked steamer Sirio, received a dispatch purporting to come from the captain of the Sirio, reserving his report of the details of the wreck, but saying that the crew were safe. This raises the possibility that the captain was rescued.

HEAT PROVES FATAL.
Many Deaths and Prostrations From High Temperature in New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Fourteen deaths and numerous prostrations were reported as the result of the heat wave that has been sweeping over this city and the whole east since Saturday, and there is no relief in sight. Hundreds of thousands of the poor are looking forward with dread, for to sleep in the tenements is impossible, and the lack of sleep means greater danger of succumbing to the heat.

One of the most pitiable cases was that of Miss Julia B. Bergen, a pretty young woman, who was found wandering, wringing her hands and crying continually, "Why won't they let me marry him?"

At Roosevelt hospital it was said that the young woman was suffering from incipient dementia, brought on by the heat.

Deputy Commissioner of Docks Judge will throw open all the recreation piers for the benefit of those who wish to use them to escape the heat.

The piers will be lighted all night for the benefit of those who want to sleep out in the air. They will remain open every night so long as it is necessary.

The rules against sleeping on the grass in the parks have been suspended, and thousands sleep on the lawns.

CHICAGO BANK FAILS

Deficit of State Institution Nearly $1,000,000.

FAILURE CAUSED BY SPECULATION

Gambling in Real Estate and Securities Brings Ruin to Depositors—Suspension Causes Suicide.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—With a deficit in its accounts of close to $1,000,000 and with the whereabouts of two of its chief officers unknown to the authorities, the Milwaukee Avenue State bank, one of the larger outlying banks in Chicago, was closed by State Bank Examiner C. C. Jones. The bank had deposits amounting to about $4,000,000 and loans and credits to about the same sum.

The failure was responsible for the death of one of the depositors and led to the suicide of another man who a month ago had placed the earnings of a lifetime in the institution. In the excitement following the announcement of the failure J. G. Vassar, an officer of the Royal League, who had on deposit in the bank funds of that organization, fell dead. Henry Koepke, a grocer, on hearing that the bank had suspended payment, went to the rear of his store and shot himself. He died a few minutes later.

Riotous scenes attended the announcement of the failure, and a large force of policemen struggled all day to keep an excited crowd of depositors, nearly all of whom were foreigners and many of whom were women, from rushing the doors of the institution.

The fact that the bank was on the verge of failure was first revealed by the president of the institution, Paul O. Stensland, in a letter written from St. Paul to his son Theodore, who is vice president of the bank. The letter was received last Saturday, and it started the investigation which brought about the suspension.

Cashier Henry W. Herring has disappeared, and a warrant has been issued for his arrest on a charge of embezzlement.

The first public intimation that the bank was in trouble was the posting of a notice at the beginning of banking hours by Bank Examiner C. C. Jones stating that business had been suspended for the purpose of making an examination of the bank's affairs and that the institution was in the hands of the state auditor.

The news spread rapidly throughout the entire northwest side of the city, where the bank had been for years a popular depository for funds saved by working people. Soon a clamorous crowd gathered before the doors and demanded admission. Anticipating trouble, a score of policemen were sent to the bank. The people were permitted to file past the doors bearing the posted notice and were compelled to enter moving. Only those having keys to safety deposit vaults were allowed to enter. Many burst into tears when they found that their savings were endangered.

After receipt of the letter from President Stensland and acting on instructions contained therein, Vice President Theodore Stensland opened a deposit box and discovered proofs that the bank's funds were in bad shape. President Potter of the American Trust and Savings bank, which acted as clearing agent for the defunct institution, was called into consultation. The state auditor was informed, and he sent Bank Examiner Jones to make a full investigation. The shortage of between $750,000 and $1,000,000 is said to be due to speculation in real estate and in the security market. Members of the clearing house committee were told that most of this amount was unprotected by adequate collateral. The Stensland family owned much of the bank stock.

President Receives Visitors.
OSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 7.—President Roosevelt entertained the largest luncheon party which has gathered at Sagamore Hill this summer. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. William J. Youngs, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Smith of Cold Springs Harbor, Representative W. W. Stock of the First New York district, United States District Attorney Henry L. Stinson of New York city and John A. Slescher, editor of Leslie's Weekly. Senator Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania paid his second visit of the season to the president.

Governor Higgins Quits Sheriff.
ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Governor Higgins removed John M. McDowell from the office of sheriff of Chemung county and appointed Stanley Day of Elmira to fill the vacancy. The evidence showed that McDowell appointed as court attendants persons in his employment as sheriff, that they performed no services except such as they would naturally render as employees of the sheriff and that the sheriff appropriated to his own use the proceeds of certificates payable for their services.

Governor Warns Saratoga Sheriff.
ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Governor Higgins in a communication to the sheriff of Saratoga county warns that official that the anti-gambling laws must not be violated in that county and informing the sheriff that he will be held strictly accountable for their enforcement.

Ice Shortage in Connecticut.
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 7.—An ice famine seems inevitable in Connecticut. From all over the state come reports that the ice dealers are now distributing the last of their stores and are vainly trying to get sufficient supplies from the north.

OPENING DAY AT SARATOGA.

Hitchcock Entries Run First and Second in Handicap.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 7.—F. R. Hitchcock's entry, Dandelion and Tangle, coupled in the betting at 13 to 5, ran first and second in the $10,000 Saratoga handicap, one mile and a quarter, at the opening of Saratoga's racing season. Dandelion in winning created a new track record for the distance, stepping it in 2:04 2/5, which is three-fifths of a second faster than Irish Lad's time, made in 1903. Gallivant, an added starter, was third. Gallivant and Red Leaf were the pacemakers for half a mile, when Gallivant took the lead. Sewell at this point sent Dandelion to the front, followed by Tangle. These two had the race to themselves, and Dandelion won easily by two lengths from Tangle, who was two lengths before Gallivant.

Peter Pan, favorite and carrying top weight of 125 pounds, won the Flash stakes by a head from Electioneer, with Arctic third. Peter Pan took the lead at the start and made all the pace, but had to be ridden out to win.

Herculeo, played down from 8 to 1, easily captured the Saratoga steeplechase. Hylas, the favorite, had no speed and was never a factor, flushing away back. Two favorites won. Summaries:

First Race—Edna Jackson, first; Rusk, second; Husted, third.
Second Race—Herculeo, first; Gold-Beur, second; Kasil, third.
Third Race—Peter Pan, first; Electioneer, second; Arctic, third.
Fourth Race—Dandelion, first; Tangle, second; Gallivant, third.
Fifth Race—Runella, first; Laucastrian, second; Sir Russell, third.

BIG STRIKE LAGGING

Czar's Men Seize Leaders in Russian Capital.

REVOLUTIONISTS ISSUE MANIFESTO

Former Duma Members and Other Agitators Issue Appeal to People to Overthrow Imperial Rule.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 7.—It is evident that the government has practically succeeded in crushing the organization of the strike leaders here.

The central committee of the Social Democrats was captured and landed in prison in the early hours, and the greatest confusion now prevails in the revolutionary camp. The hope of the revolutionists is now centered in Moscow.

The St. Petersburg railroad committee has decided to await the result of the strike at Moscow before attempting to order out the men.

Unless dispatches from the interior within a few hours entirely change the situation the general strike promises to prove a complete failure.

Not only is the sympathy of the intelligent public lacking, but in St. Petersburg the leaders of the various labor organizations find many of the followers lukewarm and even in open rebellion against their orders.

The central committee of the road men's unions finds so many of the men either opposed to a strike or afraid to risk the loss of their positions, with imprisonment in the bargain, that it has not yet, so far as known, issued a formal order to strike.

If the train service is not brought to a standstill the collapse of the strike movement is inevitable.

The former deputies composing the Social Democratic and Labor parties, Polish and Jewish committees and various revolutionary bodies have issued the following joint manifesto:

"To the whole nation: Citizens, a fortnight has elapsed since the government dissolved the lower house of parliament. It laughed at the national representation and set the whole people at defiance. Russia has received this new crime of the autocratic power in silent silence. The government rejoiced of gnat at Sveaborg and Cronstadt proved this rejoicing to be premature. The army and the navy have raised the standard of insurrection against the oppressors of the people. The roar of the guns at Sveaborg and Cronstadt has given the signal for a new pan-Russian attack on the autocracy. A new and decisive struggle for land and liberty has begun. The lessons of the past will not have been vain.

"The imperial manifesto of Oct. 30 proved deceitful, and a 'state duma' is without authority and unable to satisfy a single national need.

"The people see now they can hope and expect nothing so long as the state power is in the hands of its enemies. The object is not an unauthorized parliament, but a constituent assembly, with full powers, elected by universal, equal, direct and secret suffrage. The people must apply themselves. Citizens all, to whom freedom is dear, we call upon you for a decisive struggle against the government of the emperor, for a national government and for land and liberty. We call upon you for a general strike to cast down the imperial government and the authorities depending thereon.

"Long live the general strike and the decisive struggle for national power!"

Sound Steamer Damaged.
NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 7.—In a dense fog the Fall River line steamer Puritan, bound from New York to Fall River with a passenger list of about 800, broke her shaft while off New London harbor in the early morning. The passengers were taken ashore in tugs and other boats, and a special train carried them to their respective destinations. The accident created no alarm among the passengers.

Beginning Standard Oil Probe.
CLEVELAND, Aug. 7.—Special Attorney Morrison, with his several assistants and District Attorney Sullivan of Cleveland, questioned a number of proposed witnesses in the Standard Oil inquiry. These men were questioned as to what they knew of Standard Oil methods. It is probable that the jury panel will be filled by this afternoon.

Charges Against Bender Dismissed.
ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Governor Higgins dismissed the charges against Harry H. Bender, fiscal supervisor of state charities. The conclusion of the governor is that the evidence does not show that Supervisor Bender solicited political contributions from his subordinates.
