This oil floated down and without the knowledge of the local company was pumped, along with the water, into the ress ervoir, and has permeated the whole water system. A gang of men is busily engaged in flushing the pipes, and the reservoir has been emptied and is being thoroughly washed out. It is thought that the water will be in normal condition by tomorrow. The quan tity of oil that got into the pipes is in no way injurious to health, and, aside from the disagreeable taste and odor, it did no harm.

COLLISION AVERTED

An accident was narrowly averted on North Elmer avenue last night just above the point where the horse was killed by the street car a few days ago. The southbound car that reaches the Desmond street switch at 6:48 missed striking a buggy by a very few inches, and the fault lay with the woman who was driving. She drove across the track ahead of the car, and in turning after crossing the track she drove directly into the car. The motorman reversed the power and stopped the car just in time to avert a collision. The car was delayed a few moments by the damage to the connections due to reversing. The woman contin ued on up the avenue, apparently indifferent to her narrow escape.
