LIVERY HORSES TO DRAW WILBUR'S TRUCK

Decided to Engage Livery Rig to Answer Fire Calls—New Nozzle to Be Tested

At the last council meeting the attention of that body was called to the fact that the Wilburs had sold their team, and that some means should be provided for drawing the heavy hook and ladder truck. The matter was referred to the fire committee, and last night the members of that committee, consisting of Burns, Ellis and DeBell, met with Chief Engineer John Hammond, and it was decided to engage some liveryman who had a good team, and who kept a driver all night to haul the truck to fires whenever the alarm sounds. The compensation for this service was fixed at $3.00 for each trip made. It was also decided to make a test of the new cutoff nozzle next Tuesday morning, when all firemen, borough officials and citizens are requested to be present. The new nozzles are a great improvement on the old type and if they give satisfaction during the test a number will probably be purchased for the use of the local fire department.

MOVING OF WALK CAUSED DAMAGE

H. M. Weiss Claims That the Borough Damaged His Property by Moving Walk

The sidewalks on the east side of Wilbur avenue have been out of line, and that fact coming to the attention of the street department they decided to straighten them. Several walks were changed a few inches one way or the other, and it was necessary to change that of H. F. Weiss about six inches, moving it in toward his yard. The yard is about 16 inches higher than the walk, and two stone steps lead down to it. It was necessary to cut away part of the terrace, and nearly half of one stone step. Mr. Weiss claims that he is damaged and that the borough must compensate for the injury done.

INCREASE YOUR LIBRARY

P. J. Weber's book store comes out with a brand new stroke of enterprise in selling new copyrighted books that is a distinct departure from the time-honored customs of the trade. The Authors and Newspapers association furnishes the literary novelty of the century. Twelve famous authors have been engaged to write a new novel, one each month, at a total cost of $150,000. The novels will be the strongest and most thrilling that modern genius can evolve. They will be beautifully printed and bound, and, like all copyrighted books by famous authors, should sell for $1.50. But Weber's book store has contracted for a large edition of each new novel each month and will place them on the market at the insignificant price of 50c a copy. Weber's is the only place in this valley where these novels can be purchased. Read the large advertisement in another column which tells all about them. Here is a chance to add the best in modern literature to your library at less than the price of old out-of-date works.

THE LAST TWO NIGHTS

For the last two nights of the Bennett-Moulton company's engagement at Oak Grove park, they promise an offering that should not fail to attract theatregoers in large numbers, an elaborate production of "Faust." The costuming will be correct in every detail. Mr. Tidmarsh will be seen in the part of Mephisto, and Miss Parks as Marguerite. The balance of the company is well cast. New scenery and electrical effects built especially for this production will be used. Seats should be secured in advance.

WILBURS ELECT NEW OFFICERS

J. A. Wilking Resigns As Foreman—Arrangements Made for Convention September 20

The Wilbur hook and ladder company held a meeting and accepted the resignation of J. A. Wilking as foreman. The following officers were then elected: Geo. Loop, foreman and drillmaster; Harry Zeller, 1st assistant; Robt. Wass, 2nd assistant; Frank Wass, member of the fire board.

Arrangements were made for the entertainment of the company that may be assigned to the Wilburs during the Valley firemen's convention to be held here September 20.

An attempt will be made to recover all uniforms that are in the hands of ex-members of the company. Many men who were once members of the company still have uniforms in their possession. They are scattered about all over town, and it is the desire of the company that they all be sent in before the day of the convention.

THE PARTELLO STOCK CO.

The Partello Stock Company, an entirely new one, and considered the most perfect of repertoire organizations, will open an engagement at Oak Grove park, Monday evening, August 13. Each production will be as complete as the most advanced stage management can make it. The company in itself is composed of clever people who have already made a name for themselves in this field, and is headed by Miss Alice Kennedy, a most magnetic and charming little leading lady, and Harry J. Leland in the principal comedy parts. Every part he essays bears the stamp of originality and his work shows a versatility far beyond his years. The strength of the company, the many bright specialties, elaborate scenic effects and superior selection of plays, should make this engagement one of special interest. It has been the object of the firm to provide a series of productions which equal each other in strength and to make them as complete in detail as possible. Manager Partello has gone to considerable expense in the matter of vaudeville and has secured as an extra attraction Bohee & Hyers, the Cuban nightingales, who made such an emphatic hit at the opera house last season with his Bennett-Moulton Company. The opening bill of the engagement will be "The College Girl," written expressly for this company by Mr. Justin Adams, author of "Quincy Adams Sawyer" and other successes. The parts allotted to Miss Kennedy and Mr. Leland fit them down to the ground; and the balance of the company have roles that will bring out the full dramatic worth of each member.

STOLE CUSPIDOR

Last night after the shades of night had fallen the orderly at the Wilbur House had the cuspidors out in front of that popular hostelry cleaning them. A man who resides in town came by, picked one up and carried it away with him.
