THE BIG STORE WITH LITTLE PRICES

Store Closes Daily at 6 P. M. Except Saturday and Two Evenings After L. V. R. R. Pay.

Little Prices Everywhere Throughout This Big Store

We have enjoyed a profit on lines selling regularly, which at this season leaves remnants and odd lots; but to clean the deck of these odd lots we make prices that meet the smallest ideas of merchandise values, almost losing sight of their true worth. Price-making is our hobby.

Millinery Values Were Never Bigger

When you get a hat such as we sell for $4.00 regularly, for $2.00 it's big value. $2.00 ones for $1.00, and all others, including a few children's, all marked at one half.

Children's Seamless Ribbed Waists

Usually sold for one fourth to one half more, ages 2 to 10 years, 15c

Misses' Wash Suits and Dresses

BOY TRIED FOR STUNNING BAIT FISH

The Case Seems to Be Based More on Technical Interpretation Than Common Sense

It may be that the fish laws are all right and necessary, but those who witnessed the trial of young Claud Springer yesterday before Justice Tozer will hereafter have nothing but contempt for the manner of their present execution. We are more and more convinced each day we live that the great mass of laws being enacted at each session of the legislature are calculated to confuse and open the door for ambitious officials to further their own interests rather than to correct abuses. The case yesterday presented the overwhelming power of presumptive interpretation above all regard to reason or wise legislation. According to the decisions quoted, a fisherman would be subject to fine if he captured a fish in any other way than by the prescribed manner. If a good sized bass should jump into a fisherman's boat he would be obliged to throw him back into the water or pay a fine.

The testimony of Fish Warden Nichols was to the effect that he saw young Springer catching bait fish by hammering the stones above them and then taking them out of the water with his hands. He described these fish as the bull head or catfish variety and that he had seen them grow to the size that would weigh from one half to three fourths of a pound, and that they were food fish. A number of our expert fishermen were called and they all testified that these were neither a food or game fish, but were only useful as bait and that they never grew over four inches in length; they were a separate species and their value as bait was derived from the fact of their vitality. Mr. Nichols rowed his boat out to where young Springer was and invited him to get in and he would take him to shore. After they reached the shore he placed him under arrest and took the fish and hammer and can away from him. He claimed that part of the fish were dead and on being questioned said that had Springer wanted to throw them back into the river he would not have allowed him to do so as he wanted them as evidence to correct him.

Young Springer is an honest, innocent, young man, and when he was called to testify, he impressed everyone with his sincerity. He stated that he did not know he had been violating the law until they reached the shore and Nichols told him that he had done so and arrested him. He stated that there were eight small bait fish and that they were all alive and he got them for the purpose of using them himself. The court room was densely crowded, and every person present sympathized with the boy and felt that it was an outrage to punish him for such an insignificant act. The case rests upon an ambiguous legal interpretation which deprives it of all merit.

Justice Tozer gave his verdict at 10 o'clock this forenoon discharging Claud Springer.

Permanent Dentistry

A quarter of a century ago we placed some gold fillings in the teeth of a well known gentleman at present a resident of Sayre. These fillings today are just as bright, firm and useful as the day they were made. We will tell you the name of the party, if you wish to see him yourself.

There are variations in dental workmanship, just as there are differences in the various brands of flour. If you desire the highest degree of proficiency—the skill and knowledge that will make YOUR fillings serviceable twenty-five years from today—come in or phone for an appointment. On the other hand, if you take pleasure in having your teeth filled over and over again every year or two, you should go elsewhere—we do not do that kind of work.

STORE BURGLARIZED

A telephone message this morning states that L. R. Browning's store at North Rome was burglarized last night. The loss as far as known is four pair of shoes, from twenty to twenty-five pocketknives, fourteen dollars in money, and other small articles. Suspicion points to John Hammond alias Alfred Wagner, the man who recently escaped from the stone gang in Owego, as the person who did the deed. He is described as a man about 38 years old of light complexion, gold eyeglasses with out rims and had on a blue shirt and dark trousers.
