"HOSS" RACE AT LAST ARRANGED

It Will Take Place Saturday Afternoon Next and No One Should Miss It.

For weeks the horsemen in this valley have been talking "hoss" and "hoss" racing until those who are interested in the sport have nearly fainted from exhaustion. Races have been pulled off on paper, and the wads of money which have been wagered on these mythical events had it been in the possession of one individual that in dividend would be as rich as Croesus. Until now, however, it has simply been a matter of "hot air" among owners of steeds that have an idea that the latter can go along some. Bombast and "wind" has now got to take the "23" route, and at last lovers of the sport are to witness a race that will be worth mortgaging a farm to see.

Everybody hereabouts knows Dr. Crawford, the giant veterinarian of Tioga Point, and they also know that he is a great lover of horseflesh. In fact the Doctor is the sole owner and proprietor of an animal that the Doctor says can "go along some." "Honest Dan" is the name of this nimble stepper, and the Doctor is willing to put up his hard earned dimeleons that his "hoss" can beat anything in its class.

Like the Doctor, George Fice, the genial brawny fisted Athens constable, is well known in this section, and he, too, has an equine named "The Ferret," which he says never had anything but first money. Mr. Fice and Dr. Crawford met the other evening and indulged in a little "hoss" argument, interspersed with many allegations by both as to the relative merits of their respective animals. To settle the whole matter, however, a race was arranged. The Doctor wagers Mr. Fice $15 that his horse can win in the finish, while Mr. Fice is willing to raise him $10 and to stake $25 on the ability of his animal.

The money was produced and placed in the hands of John Hill, who will keep it in his possession until after the argument has been settled on the Valley Driving Park association's track on Saturday afternoon next.

PARTELLO STOCK CO.

The Partello Stock Co. will open at Oak Grove park tonight in the four act comedy drama entitled the "College Girl." The play was written expressly for this company and gives a vivid description of life at a large university. Miss Kennedy and Mr. Leland in the principal roles have parts that fit them thoroughly and the balance of the clever company are all well cast. The specialties are many and pleasing, the feature act being Bohee and Myers, the Cuban Nightingales, this act alone is worth the price of admission. The college girl will be followed Wednesday night by a fine production of the great military play "Cumberland '61."

TO FURNISH ROOMS

The Howard Elmer hose company met yesterday afternoon and made provision for furnishing the hose parlors. The rooms are very commodious and pleasantly located but the parlor was never furnished and now it is the intention of the members to put in some furniture, fit up the rooms, and thereby make it a more attractive place. The interest of the members has lagged somewhat at times and it is hoped that this move will instill greater interest and increase the membership.

"THE CHRISTIAN" AT THE LOOMIS

Kirk Brown's Company Gave An Admirable Rendition of Hall Caine's Celebrated Novel on Saturday Evening.

Kirk Brown and his excellent company of players gave an admirable rendition of Hall Caine's celebrated novel, "The Christian," at the Loomis on Saturday evening. It was the opening of the regular season and the theatre was packed from pit to dome, and despite the fact that the weather was warm and muggy the auditorium and stage were most comfortable. Manager Watrous had installed electric fans and there were no complaints of the heat.

The play itself was pleasing in every respect and I would have been a credit to a high price company. This evening "The Cherry Pickers" will be the attraction.

Mr. Brown is given the credit of having the finest and best popular price company on the road. His repertoire consists of distinctly high class plays and during the engagement of his company which continues throughout this week at the Loomis he will be greeted by crowded houses. Grahame Earl and David Elwyn, both well known among the theatre goers of this valley are members of the company.

The machine is manufactured by the International Postal Supply Company of New York city, and is such as is used in the larger cities. The installation of the machine will be greatly appreciated by the local postoffice office force.

ESCAPED FROM JAIL

An officer from Ithaca spent last night in Sayre looking for two men who had escaped from the jail in that place. Both were charged with minor offenses, but they desired their liberty, and succeeded in obtaining it. Their clothes had been taken from them when they entered the jail, and when they took "French leave" they were clad only in their underwear. From this fact the officials at the jail were of the opinion that it would be an easy matter to apprehend them, but thus far no trace of their whereabouts has been obtained.
