and who afterward outraged a negro girl fourteen years old, was lynched at Greenwood.

Governor Heyward reached the cene shortly after the negro had been captured. A platform was erected in a fence corner on the premises of the victim's father, from which platform Governor Heyward addressed the mob in an effort to prevent the lynching. The governor beseeched the mob not to lynch Davis, but in vain. At the uclusion of his speech the governor was vociferously cheered. The mob theu removed the prisoner from the view of the governor, and within a short distance of the home of his victim the negro was riddled with bul-

It is impossible to estimate the crowd, as citizens from several coun-ties had gathered at the scene and for two days had been in pursuit of the negro, but it is certain that hundreds of bullets were sent through his body. The militia in that section of the state is now encamped at Chickamauga, and there were no nearby troops to be called upon. The governor's guards and the Richland volunteers of this city had been ordered to hold themselves in readiness in the event that their services were needed, but the mob was determined.

The assault by Davis on Miss Brooks was made in her father's store, where she was temporarily in charge. After making some purchases the negro grasped a meat knife, shouting, "You the girl. Miss Brooks attempted to denegro slashed her across the throat, making a gash four inches long and almost severed two of her fingers. Afterward he went three miles to another farm and outraged a fourteen-year-old negress. A posse of a thousand men started in pursuit of the negro soon after the outrage at the Brooks store and finally captured him near Ninetysix, a town nine miles from Green-

Four hundred rifles were sold to citizens. The report that the officers of the garrison (Chief Robert H. Many people are leaving their homes on the side of the city near Fort Brown, Additional appeal is being made to Governor Lanham to send state troops."

CHICAGO, Aug. 17. - The Garfield Park bank, a small institution at 2024 West Madison street, was placed in the hands of a receiver, Henry Hiestand, by Judge Bethea in the United States district court. Three creditors with claims amounting to several thousand dollars filed the petition in court asking that Ellis E. Drake, president of the institution, as well as the bank, be declared insolvent. The assets of the bank are not given in the petition of the creditors. The collapse of the Milwaukee Avenue State bank is said to have caused the doors of the smaller bank to be closed.

The foregoing officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Grand Army of the Republic. All other officers are staff appointments and will be announced later by the new commander in chief.

Both of these withdrew when it was seen that the election of Mr. Brown was a certainty. Brown was then chosen by acclamation. Several candidates were nominated for senior and junior vice commanders, but at the last instant all withdrew in favor of Armstrong for the senior position and Fenton for the junior place, and both men were chosen unanimously. Archbishop Ireland had no rivals for chaplain in chief.

After the elections the place of holding the next encampment was taken up, and the New York delegation presented Saratoga. An adjournment was ment will have an opportunity to pre-sent their invitations today. The sen-
