WHEN BUD DID

"Bud Sammons, who flagged for Charley Corey, was a good fellow, said the fat engineer, "but the work germ didn't seem to get set right in his breast and Bud was always B. Ingham. shirkin' little odd chores, which was continually gettin' him in trouble.

"One night when Charley's fast freight was runnin' ahead of No. 12 they had to stop up on the curve by Joy's woods to cool some hotboxes Accordin' to the rules 'n' ethics of the railroad game it was up to Bud to take his red lanterns, walk back 37 telegraph poles 'n' protect his train.

"I guess Bud thought they would gel goin' again in a minute. At any rate, he didn't take the trouble to go back, 'n' with a rush 'n' a roar No. 12 came flyin' along 'n' made a noise like a bad accident against the rear end of Corey's train

"When they got things straightened out a bit they found Bud Sammons layin' in a heap under the platform of the caboose, dead. His indifference to a little bit of work had cost him

"A few nights after that I was comin' east with No. 12, makin' the fast time for which I am noted, when woods, I saw a little yellow circle of light, 'n' in the center of this cir- morning. cle a man was wavin' his arms over his head, all possessed. Rememberin' the accident to No. 12, I immediately gave two answerin' toots on the whistle, shut off steam 'n' slowed up preparatory to stoppin'.

"I declare to man, when we go down near to the circle it faded 'n' disappeared. I couldn't see any trace of the man who was signalin' me to stop. I felt-as foolish as a hen when she finds out she's been settin' on white doorknobs. "When I got 'em goin' again, Murphy stepped over to my elbow 'n said, in an awed voice:

"'Did you see it?" "'Sure, I says. What was it?" "'Why,' he says, that's Bud Sammons' sperrit as sure as I ever put a scoopful of coal on a fire. I suppose Bud's sperrit got to worryin' over all this week. the accident caused by his careless ness 'n' just can't keep away from the railroad track.'

THREW HIM OVER FENCE

Waverly-A certain popular and well known young man has a colt of which he is justly proud but which certainly played him a mean trick last Sunday. The animal is not thoroughly broken yet, it a sigh of relief, I saw that we and he was out last Sunday teaching him the mysteries of gee, haw, whoa, etc. They were in the neighborhood of Lockwood when make up time, when z-1-p, the air the colt evidently got tired of his brakes were set from some cause 'n' schooling and sought to get rid of his driver. A high barbed wire fence paralleled the road, and this right out laughin'. The mystery of scemed a good place to rid himself of the incumbrance so he tossed
