FARMER FINALLY DISCOVERS MYSTERIOUS THIEF.

FIRST LAID TO WITCHCRAFT

But Pinally Bossy and the Reptile Were Found Meeting by Appointment and Now the Latter Is No More.

Pine Brook, Mich.-Abraham Ska lowski, a Hebrew farmer living near this place, has discovered the thief that daily for the last four weeks has been milking one of his cows,

And, what's more, Skadowski has the thief's hide on the fence, not figuratively, but literally speaking. It measures more than half ength of a temfoot chestnut rail, to which it is nailed, in plain sight of everybody that passes along the road -in front of his house. Those that have seen it say it is the largest specimen of spotted or milk snake eyer seen near Pine Brook.

The snake was killed by Ska dowski himself in the pasture lot adjoining his barn. It had just helped itself to a good feed from an old brindle cow. The strangest part of the affair was that the cow stood as quietly while the reptil was milking her as though it were the milkmald's hand to which she submitted.

When Skadowski approached the snake dropped in the grass and started to crawl away, but he had no trouble in overtaking it and killing it with a stick. The discovery and death of the reptile cleared up a mystery that for nearly a month has been puzzling the Skadowski house-

It was early in June that the farmer, on going to the barnyard one night to milk discovered that none could be drawn from the brindle cow, one of the heaviest milkers in his herd of 12. Every night since, if the cow spent the day in the pasture field, it was the same way. In the morning she would be all right, and also at night on the few days during that period that Skadowski kept her confined to the limits of the barnyard. It was only when turned loose in the pasture that the milk was taken.

None of the other cows were eve afflicted in the same manner, and how to account for the strange condition- of affairs was beyond Ska dowski's power. He reported the circumstance to his Hebrew neighbors. but they could offer no relief. He called in the rabbi, but the religious leader could give no better advice than the laymen. All were inclined to attribute it to witchcraft or some

The cow had separated herself See Lehigh Valley Ticket from the rest of the herd and came toward the barn. It was near milking time, and the farmer thought nothing of it, as she, as well as the turn. What was his surprise to see her stop near a clump of blackberry bushes, out of which the snake glided and ran to-meet her. It looked as though the two met by were pleatiful.

"I believe that the milking of a cow by a snake is one of the rarest things that ever happens, and that conditions must be just right for it to happen. In fact, if there should be a hundred more milk snakes in that pasture, and a hundred cows were to pasture there, it might never occur again."

The Voice of Conscience. Never yet was the voice of conscience silenced without retribution.-The Lehigh Valley Railroad will sell tickets Sunday, July 1st and every Sunday thereafter until Sept. 5th. ## WHAT'S IN A NAME

Waverly-A man named Clear water was brought into police court this morning under a charge of being drunk, and his appearance bore out the charge. Waverly-This morning shortly after o o'oclock, a demented man, who had escaped from the Bing Mr. and Mrs. John Brosnan are hamton State Hospital for the Invisiting James Grace at Brooklyn, sane, was captured just this side of Chemung while walking on the Erie tracks.

A man named McMahan, who formerly worked about the hospital grounds, was working on the new trolley line and espied the man walking up the tracks. He recognized him as an inmate of that institution, and going after him he tried to hire him to work on the line, but he refused, and when he tried to restrain him he put up such a vigorous fight that he had to leave him and go for help. With the aid of his brother, McMahan succeeded in getting him off the track and down the bank into the roadway. Two farmers residing in the vicinity thought the man was being assaulted and came to his rescue, but soon discovered the cause of the trouble The superintendent of the hospital was communicated with, and he directed relatives in Waverly for some time the men to hold him prisoner and an attendant would be sent to Way verly to bring the man back.
