Bryan For Government Ownership of Reilroads.

PERCENT INTEREST ADVOCATES EIGHT HOUR DAY

New York City Gives Nebraskan a Great Ovation.

BAR ALL MONOPOLIES.

William Jouniugs Bryan, After Tour Around the World, Landa at Battery, New York, and Makes Triumphal Square Garden He Struck Keynote of Presidential Campaign of 1908, York to the Golden Gate, From Porto Rico to Alaska - Governor Polk and Tom Johnson Take Leading Part in Recoption-William B. Hearst Present.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.-William J. Bryan, the twice nominated candidate of the Democratic party for the presilency and acclaimed on all bands as the nominee in 1908, sounded the keynote of the next presidential campaign in two remarkable speeches delivered in and outside of Madison Square Garden to probably the greatest audiences ever assembled in America for political meetings.

Mr. Bryan struck the keynote so sharply that it will reverberate from Mentauk point to the Golden Gate and from Porto Rico to Alaska for some time to come. He took the most advanced and radical ground on the trust question, advocated the extermination mayor and other prominent men, Mr. of private monopolies and came out oldly for government ownership of railroads, divided between federal ownership for the trunk lines and state ownership for branch roads lying with-in the boundaries of a single state.

He also advocated an eight hour day for laboring meu, the licensing by the federal government of legitimate corperations and the reduction of the tarif so as to prevent the fostering of monopolist. He declared in favor of giving the president power to place on the free list any articles which come into competition with the products of a trust, thus making trusts as they now exist impossible. In fact, Mr. Bryan argued for the wiping out of the trusts entirely.

Mr. Bryan declared against Socialism, or the public ownership of all saying that he stood for individualism and the rights of private property. He unced plutocracy as a menace to this government as great as the evil of rdism in Europe and advocated laws to curb the power of wealth. Among his remedies for this condition he again proposed the income tax, which has been declared unconstitudenal by the United States supreme

Twenty thousand enthusiastic admirers of the Democratic leader heard him enunciate these and other policies which he hopes to see embodied in the party platform in 1908. The radical points of his address were uproarioussered, the vast audience in Madion Square Garden manifesting its approval of his utterances by plauditory menstrations which have never been

So touched was Mr. Bryan by the lcome that as he stood waiting for he cheers to subside his eyes filled with tears, and he strode nervously an side to side of the narrow plat-

"How can I thank you for this wel-eme home?" he said. "My heart ild be ungrateful if it did not consecrate itself to your service. It was aind to prepare this reception. It was kind of Governor Folk to come here all the way from Missouri. It was tind of Ton Johnson, that example of the moral courage we so much need in this country, to lend his presence

"It was kind in you to fully recom se me in being absent so long from my native land. I thank you. I reud of my citisenship than ever be-

For eight minutes, while the garden seemed to sway and shake from the smed to sway and strode souts and applause, Bryan strode errously from side to side of the narlatform. Only once again during he entire evening was there anything ng such a demonstration hat was when the speaker told his earers that he had become converted the cause of government ownership

"I favor the control of only the trunk lines by the national government," said Mr. Bryan, "and the ownership of all other railroads by the state govern-cratic campaign call. Mr. Bryan's ech was a clear cut outline of his speech was a clear cut outline of his ideas as to what the Democratic policy should be. The election of United States senators by the people, regulation of the trusts by the government, a universal eight hour day, settlement of all international disputes by arbitration rather than by resort to force and revision of the tariff were some of his points. We Brown designed how.

his points. Mr. Bryun declared, how ever, that he was merely expressing his own opinion and not attempting to forecast the policy of his party. Mr. Bryan declared that the trusts were the great issue of the day. The speaker scored the Republican congress for not passing the legisla-tion urged by President Roosevelt giving publicity to campaign contribu tions. He gave the president some praise, however, for what he termed ais adoption of Democratic ideas. Mr. Bryan said he hoped the income tax night some day be imposed through an amendment to the constitution. He referred briefly to the recent insurance investigation and said smilingly that he believed the disclosures made would result in difficulty in securing large campaign contributions in the future.

Probably no other American ever was honored by such an ovation as the people of New York, re-enforced by usands from almost every state in the Union, gave Mr. Bryan on his return home from his famous trip around the world. Great as was the Bryan meeting in Madison Square Garden six years ago, it was not to be compared with the present outpouring. Six bundred policemen had all they could do to keep the multitude in order, and there were many near riots among the shouting, jostling thousands who clamored for admission to the huge hall.

As was expected, the big garden wasn't half big enough to hold the mass of people, and those who could not get in overflowed into the square in front, where an open air meeting was conducted. Here Mr. Bryan repeated his speech, and here the wonterful enthusiasm shown inside was

Before the meetings Mr. Bryan was given an ovation by the citizenship in his triumphant march up Broadway from the Battery to his hotel. In a Bryan met with a continual vociferous greeting all along the line of march, and when he reached the Victoria ho tel at Fifth avenue and Twenty-seventh street the sidewalks and roadways were blocked by struggling humanity. His reception at the Victoria hotel was in itself a remarkable demonstration.

Wall Street No Longer Represented. NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The board of directors of the Equitable Life Assurance society accepted the resignations of George J. Gould and Judge D. Cady Herrick as members of the board. A statement issued from the Equipable office said: Judge Herrick resigned on account of the pressure of private business, and Mr. Gould resigned because of the fear that his participation in syndicates which night sell securities to the Equitable niight result in unconscious violations of the new insurance law. There is now no man identified with Wall street on the Equitable board.

Insurgent Chief and Officers Unable to Prevent Their Men From Plandering and Destroying Merchants' Goods.

HAVANA, Aug. 81.-The rattle of achine guns has become a familiar und on the sea front of Havana, where Major Clews' corps were trying their weapons and drilling for their new duties. Part of the corps went to the front today, but its destination has not been divulged.
General Avalos and Pino Guerra are close to each other in the vicinity of Guanes, to which point General Avalos, with 1,000 cavalry, mounted infantry, rural guards and recruits, has marched from the little village of Sabalo.

A press correspondent with Avalor reports that a considerable number of recruits fell out along the march from San Juan de Martinez, overcome by the heat and choking dust, and that some were ill with fever induced by drinking bad water. The general spirit, however, was good.

The story of the plundering of Galafre by Guerra's men has been duplicated on a larger scale at Sabalo. When the government troops reached that place they found the general store in a state of indescribable ruin. Every kind of merchandise, liquid or solid, clothing, dry goods and everything the insurgents did not want was piled together in stacks.

Guerra's men on their arrival there had crowded into the store and begun taking what they chose. Guerra and some of his officers, who strenuously tried to prevent them, finally drew their macheles and wounded several men who were searching the store for money. The townspeople assert that there were evidences of considerable bloodshed. Guerra utterly failed to prevail over his men.

The opposing forces are now so close that a battle is expected shortly. The only fight of consequence reported lately was a three hours' conflict at

Calabaxar, Havana province, between fifty insurgents and fifteen rural guards, with the result that the latter An engagement between insurgents and government troops is reported to have occurred near Artemisa, province of Pinar del Rio, near the Havana Several exchanges of shots have been reported at various places westward of Guanajay, near the Havana border, in Pinar del Rio. As the place is poorly protected, re-enforcements of fifty rural guards have been sent there. An insurgent band estimated to number 300 was attacked by government troops near Campo Florida, twenty

ing. Its stories and tragedies seem who witnessed the fighting says the and that there was no volleying. After two hours of this fighting the com batants came closer together, and finally the rural guards and volunteers made a fine charge up a hill, routing the insurgents, who scattered and disappeared.

At least twelve insurgents were killed, and many more were wounded.

An official report of the fight given out says the combined forces of Captain Collazo's rural guards and Gen eral Alfred Rego's volunteers, totaling 130, attacked 400 rebels, fought two hours and then charged and complete ly dispersed the enemy, who left fifteen dead and three prisoners. Twenty horses and some arms and accou terments were captured. Captain Collazo was wounded in the arm, but not seriously burt. Reports of surrenders in compliance with the government's offer of amnesty are more numerous than heretofore, most of them coming from towns near Havans, to which quite a large number of insurgents have quietly returned. The insurgent chief Tata Sanchez is the most prominent of those who surrendered. He returned to his home at Salud with a few of his followers.

On the other hand, the insurrection is receiving some recruits. Colonel Carlos Guas, a prominent resident of San Antonio de los Banos, has joined the insurrection, followed by some of his friends, forming the nucleus of a new band.

The situation in the vicinity of Cienfuegos is threatening. Parties of insurgents wander at will near the city. It is reported that 3,000 insurgents are out in that vicinity.

Premier Stolypin Fears For Nicholas.

HIS INJURED DAUGHTER STILL ALIVE

Pive Bodies of Victims Killed by Bomb Esplosion Have Not Yet Been Identified-A Princess Lost Her Life.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 31.-It is asserted that Premier Stolypla and his colleagues are employing the newspapers which they control to fight the court camarilla. This, it is added, is the secret of the Novoe Vremyn's constant reference during the last few days to the necessity for protecting the cabinet from the interference of pernicious court influences. Stolypin in conversation with friends is said to have asserted that he is continually subjected to embarrassment. adding that he was convinced that the task which he set himself was impossible unless the emperor gave him an absolutely free hand-in other words, conferred upon the cabinet a practical dictatorship.

An intimation comes from a high source that the premier broached the subject at the first audience which he had with his majesty since the tragedy of Aug, 25, when the explosion of bomb at the premier's residence caused the loss of over thirty lives.

In the aforementioned conversation with friends the premier is alleged to have said that history seemed to be repeating itself, the situation closely resembling the closing days of the reign of Alexander II., who was assassinated. The reactionary spirit was growing rapidly. Nevertheless he considered it vital-that the government should not take a reactionary path.

In spite of the earlier diagnosis of the hopelessness of her case Premier Stolypin's daughter, who was badly injured by the bomb explosion in he father's apartments Aug. 25, is still alive, and there are hopes of her recovery. The others wounded are im proving except the student Dulevitch and the carriage driver Bernarsky, Both the earlier suspects have now been cleared. Among the unknown dead have been recognized the body of Princess Eudoxía Cantacuzene, Mme. Istomia, a member of a noble family, and her eight-year-old son. Five corpses have not been identified.

A commission sitting under the presidency of the minister of education has recommended the reopening of the universities except the one at Warsaw and other of the higher schools under practically the same conditions as were vainly tried last autumn, an autonomous government by a professorial council.

At Warsaw extraordinary precautions to prevent disturbances or dem onstrations marked the funeral of General Vonliarliarski, the acting military governor and commander of the Fifth army corps, who was shot and killed med. Special 37 c. while out driving Aug. 27.

Dispatches received from Saratov state that the peasantry of the Volga provinces are talking of an uprising at an early date.
