The Diligent Student.

The son of a wealthy London merchant was sent to Edinburgh to study medicine. After an absence of some time, he returned to the Scottish capital to see his son. While out "doing the sights" he pointed to a large colonnade building, asked his son what it was. He replied: "Well, father, I really do not know. I have such little time for sight-seeing." On meeting a policeman and asking the question, they were told: "That building, sir, is the School of Medicine."

Auk's Egg Cracked.

The enormous value attached to the eggs of birds which have become extinct has been recalled by the accident that has befallen the specimen of the great auk, which constitutes one of the treasures of the Scarborough museum. Kept securely guarded in the safe, it was recently placed on public exhibition. By some means or other it has become cracked, and its value has been depreciated by more than £50.

Origin of Common Phrase.

In times when deer were common in England deer "scrapes" were sharply marked hollows between trees which had been worn down by the feet of many stags and does. Sometimes these much-depressed paths made by deer were not easy to step out of, or pleasant to slip into unawares. Hence it is thought the common phrase "get into a scrape."

Another Charge Against Motor Cars.

Mid-Sussex farmers have added another count to the indictment of motorists, with regard to the dust nuisance. They say that owing to the dust raised by motor cars it now takes a man two days to cut an acre of grass, as the scythe has to be sharpened more frequently. Before motor traffic was general, it is stated, this work was done in one day.—London Daily Mail.

Englethens For Style.

Just as there is only one fashion for women, the Paris fashion, so there is only one fashion for men, the London fashion. This is just, because no dress is more quiet, practical and "good form" than that of the Englishman, whether he be of the highest or the lowest class.—Zitung, Frankfurt.

Value Bathing Places.

In the hot countries of the east public bathing places are accounted among the most treasured possessions of the villages. They are found along the banks of rivers, screened off with brush and fenced in with stockades of bamboo to keep off prowling crocodiles.

Had It Down Fine.

Jews Flocking to Jerusalem.

It is reported that more than 100 Jewish families move into Jerusalem every week. Though most of them are very poor, yet they find means to make a scanty living. Jerusalem is rapidly becoming once more a Jewish city.

Blinded by Mosquito Bite.

John Bodair, of Westport, Conn., has been rendered temporarily blind by a mosquito bite. The mosquito bit Mr. Bodair upon the lid of the right eye. Mr. Bodair paid no attention to the swelling. When he arose in the morning he was stone blind.

Mexican Children.

The Mexican children are delightfully interesting. Courtesy with them seems to be ingrained. As soon as they can talk they become Chesterfields, while their innate kindness prompts them to many a delicate attention.

To Protect a Mattress.

Stitch together newspapers enough to entirely cover the springs of your bed, and if there are slats make a second paper sheet to put under the springs. It will keep out the dust and is easily replaced.

A Man's Religion.

A man's religion is measured exactly by the number of things he loves. If he only loves a few things he has little religion. If he loves many things he has much religion.—Medical Talk.

MADMAN ON ROOF
REPELS RESCUERS

AN ASYLUM PATIENT DEFILES
GUARDS FOR 12 HOURS.

THREATENS TO KILL SELF

Various Schemes to Capture Him
Prove Fruitless Until Superintendent Finally Lures Him to Safety.

Chicago—Dr. O. C. Whitte completed his third day as superintendent of the Dunning institution by luring from a roof and rescuing Joseph Daly, an insane patient, who had defiled hospital attendants and others for 12 hours.

As twilight came the guards, firemen and voluntary helpers were sent away. Daly apparently was to be left to his devices aloft on the cornice of the five-story main building. Then the superintendent crept up the ladder left by the firemen, under cover of the gathering darkness, disguised as a patient.

Pretending to cover his movements with utmost secrecy, he edged his way to Daly.

"I've been here as long as you have," the superintendent whispered; "this is our chance. Let's climb down and run while it is dark."

Daly, who had spurned every bait offered during the day and had threatened to hurl himself to the ground and to death if any one tried to put hands on him, was charmed. He followed Dr. Whitte down and was seized by hidden attendants as he stepped upon the ground.

On arising in the morning Daly, who is powerful and weighs 180 pounds, crept from his ward to the back porch, where inmates take their walks. There is a porch on every floor, all inclosed by a stout iron netting to prevent escape. This netting runs from the ground to the roof.

Daly worked a hole in it, and, worming his way through, found himself on the outside, clinging to the mesh. Instead of jumping—he was on the first floor—he began climbing up, clinging to the heavy wire like a squirrel. Before he had ascended to the next story he was seen by attendants. But as he refused to descend it was thought best to let him have his way, the guards believing it would be easy to induce him to come down later.

Several attendants followed Daly to the roof. He seated himself on the stone cornice and watched them approach. They mounted to the summit of the ridge of the roof and as a first venture tried soft arguments. Daly was scornful and defiant. He warned his pursuers to leave him alone or he would jump.

The city firemen at the Jefferson station were called. They ran a ladder to the cornice of the maniac. As a fireman mounted to the roof Daly drew back, mumbling and renewing his threats. The plan was a failure and was given up, the ladder being left in place.

It was now the middle of the forenoon and the roof grew hot in the rays of the midsummer sun. Daly shifted from one foot to another to save his shoeless soles. The crowd saw him remove most of his clothing and wondered what form his dementia was to take next.

This clothing was laid on the ledge and Daly stepped on it. He had found cool footing and cheated the sun. For hours, through the middle of the day, he was seen standing erect, sloutheaded against the sky, or finding temporary relief in sitting on his improvised cushion.

As dinner time came many of the watchers left the grounds. Superintendent Whitte asked the others to depart and soon there was not a person to be seen in the vicinity of the building. Numbers having failed, Dr. Whitte thought he would see if Daly would not come down of his own accord when left alone.

Daly, however, showed no signs of quitting his perch. It became dusk, and at length it was impossible to discern his figure. Then Dr. Whitte's inspiration came to him. The result was, as stated, that the superintendent lured the patient to safety.

After Daly had been returned to his ward it was seen that he had suffered no injury beyond blistering his feet.

FIREMEN RECEIVE NUMBERED BADGES

They Will Serve to Identify Firemen from Others During a Fire

Waverly—The badges that were purchased some time ago which are to be worn by the firemen for the purpose of identification in case of fire were issued last evening. The badges are numbered, and were given out in the order of seniority, the oldest active fireman received number one, and the last member to be accepted the highest number in the lot. Number one was issued to Hatfield Hallett, who is at present the oldest active fireman. The badges are to be worn at all times, and any man not having one on will not be allowed inside the fire lines. This move was rendered necessary because of the trouble that has been experienced heretofore in keeping people who were not members out of a burning building, because, without some mark of identification it was impossible to tell who was and

BOROUGH COUNCIL
HELD MEETING

P. M. Walsh Resigned as Clerk and His Successor Was Appointed—Other Business Transacted

South Waverly—The regular monthly meeting of the South Waverly borough council was held last night. Those present were Burgess Conley and councilmen Stephens, Sincebaugh, Walsh, McCraney and Gates. A motion was passed that the clerk notify Mr. Secord to put Pitney and Fulford streets in as good condition as they were previous to the time that he put down the walk on those streets. At the present time there is a ditch at that point nearly 3 feet deep, and is a menace to the safety of all who have occasion to drive on those streets after dark. The clerk was also directed to notify a number of property owners on Fulton, Pleasant and Loder streets to repair their sidewalks. The resignation of P. M. Walsh as clerk of the council was read and accepted, and the acting clerk was directed to cast one ballot for Geo. Quinn for clerk to act for the balance of the unexpired term.

Bills aggregating $51.25 were ordered paid. The council then adjourned until the first Tuesday in October.

RESOLUTIONS

At a regular meeting of Autumn Leaf Lodge No. 36, L. S. to B. of L. F., the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, That dreaded and uninvited guest called Death, in his ruthless mission on earth, has entered the home and stifled the heart throbs of our beloved sister, Kate Walt.

Whereas, We believe that Death has only kissed down the eyelids in sleep and that she will awaken in a glory that we know not of; and we trust that He, who doeth all things well, although we can not understand why, will provide a way; that some time, some where and some how there will be a glad reunion with the loved one whose departure has brought sorrow in our midst. Therefore

Resolved, That we tenderly condole with the family of our deceased sister in their hour of trial and affliction, and devoutly commend them to the keeping of Him who doeth all things well.

Resolved, That while we deeply sympathize with those who were bound to our departed sister by the nearest and dearest ties, we share with them the hope of a reunion in that better world where there are no partings and bliss ineffable forbids a tear. And be it further

Resolved, That as a token of respect to the memory of our departed sister, that our charter be draped in mourning for 30 days, that a copy of these resolutions be presented to the bereaved family, and be recorded in the minute book of this lodge, and also to The Valley Record, Athens News, Sayre Times, and Elmira Telegram. Zeza Hartman, Minnie Santee, Lizzie Dietrich.
