"Fabio Romani" tonight at Oak Grove park.

Joe Piolett, who was operated upon yesterday for appendicitis, is recovering nicely.

The Milltown W. C. T. U. will picnic at the Fulton-Fordham farm tomorrow afternoon. All members are requested to be present.

The city of Syracuse has prohibited the throwing of confetti at carnivals held in that city. Sayre, however, is to have a carnival next week, and the stuff will probably be thrown in the good old fashioned way.

Leo Granger, a 12-year-old boy, who lives with his parents on Frederick street, fell on the concrete sidewalk on First street last night and sustained a painful injury to his elbow. It was at first thought that the arm had been broken. Dr. H. L. Townner was called, but found no broken bones.

Paul E. Maynard and G. S. Parker, who floated down the Susquehanna from Smithboro to this place yesterday, caught 11 fine black bass. This is merely their word for it. No one has seen the fish, but they say they can show the goods. A committee will probably be appointed to investigate the report.

THE D. T. EMITS ANOTHER GROWL

With Characteristic Malevolence the d. t. Resorts to Indecent Personal Abuse, in Order to Justify its Extortionate Charge for Publishing the Trolley Ordinance.

The Daily Times, (elsewhere referred to as the d. t.), the paper that "prints today's news today," uses three-fourths of a column of space Tuesday in a weak, evasive and dyspeptic attempt to reply to an article that appeared in The Record last Thursday.

Careful reading fails to discover anything new beyond a lame effort to justify the d. t.'s extortionate charge for publishing the trolley ordinance. The d. t. makes a great bluff by claiming to do thorough work at so low a rate that a microscope would be required to find the price. In the same breath it says that the borough had nothing to do with the trolley ordinance. Nevertheless the borough council paid the bill, and it was remarked at the council meeting that the "official printer" had a strong attack of stage fright while the borough fathers were considering the matter. The d. t. cannot possibly dodge the fact that it held up the traction people—and it did the job to a turn. "When you catch a farmer, take his crop," goes an old saying; in this instance the word "farmer" should be amended to read "trolley company."

The d. t. gets off a lot of balderdash about printing the sewer specifications. One particularly flagrant misstatement is the assertion that the sewer committee made a mistake and spent $30.22 foolishly. The sewer committee did not make that mistake. The d. t. knows who made it, but will not say whom, for that disclosure would knock the props from under some of the opposition to the sewer system—an opposition that seems to have its stronghold in the office of its mouthpiece.

"Settle down to the facts," and the facts are that the d. t. lost the job of printing the sewer specifications by asking a larger price than other bidders. After the job had been awarded The Record, the d. t. put up a great whine, and it was known then that a growl would be forthcoming. Tradition followed its usual course, and a big crop of sour grapes was placed on the market. The supply is not yet exhausted.

The sewer committee and a large majority of the borough council are satisfied with the printing of the specifications by The Record. An angel from heaven could not satisfy the d. t.

In the concluding paragraphs of the d. t. article the genius who guides the destinies of that sheet forsakes the questions he had been endeavoring to discuss, abandons all pretense of decency and launches forth a tirade of personal abuse and vilification against the publisher of The Record—a tirade so malevolent that its like has never been known in this region, not even in the thick of a bitter political campaign. But this has nothing to do with the sewer controversy. The d. t. acknowledges itself beaten by resorting to defamatory personal matter. Ordinarily the publisher of The Record would ignore such an attack in contemptuous silence, but lest silence on our part be erroneously taken as lending the color of truth to the statements of the d. t., we notice the matter.

The d. t. goes back into ancient history by referring to a libelous publication that was made in the Weekly Times some fourteen years ago and attempting to saddle the blame therefor upon the publisher of The Record, who, at that time was employed as a printer in the Weekly Times office. The publisher of the Weekly Times thought the libelous article a very funny piece until the sheriff came upon the stage of action. Then he began to side step and tried to run to cover. He lacked the backbone to step out into the limelight and own to it, as a man would, that as publisher and owner of the Weekly Times he alone was responsible for whatever appeared in its columns. A scapegoat must be found upon whom the blame could be placed. The printer would do.

It is evident that a newspaper is in desperate straits when it resorts to low personal abuse of a contemporary. The people of Sayre are not all of the stripe, and the d. t. has made a mistake in assuming that they all think as it does. Such a course invariably acts as a boomerang. This last article of the d. t. will come home to roost, as have many others that have gone before. The d. t. has succeeded admirably in showing itself up in its true colors. No one who crosses it can avoid defilement. Might as well kick a skunk and hope to escape the consequences.

On occasions the d. t. endeavors to simulate the lion's voice, but we hear instead the mumbling bray familiar to the ears of Sayre people these twenty years. Nothing else could be expected from that source, for twenty years of braying cannot be effaced by one lone-roar. An atrabilious attack that has endured for two decades cannot be dispersed by one treatment.

Poor old d. t., delirium tremens, Daily Times! Certain it is that long have you brayed; equally certain that your voice will ne'er be stilled.

MITCHELL'S ALL STAR PLAYERS

Give a Performance of Excellence at the Oak Grove Park Theatre Last Night

One of the most interesting and delightful performances witnessed this season at Oak Grove theatre was presented last night by Mitchell's All Star Players. "Devil's Island" is an exceptionally strong melodrama of absorbing interest. The scenic effects were very elaborate, and the work of the entire cast could not be improved upon. It is safe to say that this company is giving the theatregoers the best plays, and the best work ever given at the park. There could be no improvement made in the company as each member seems to be just right in their respective roles. Every production is given with care as to scenic and electrical effects, and crowded houses greet them at every performance.

"FABIO ROMANI"

Prior to the eruption of Mt. Vesuvius in 1690 a great plague spread over Italy and many were buried almost instantly. This fact alone gave man a chance to satisfy his revenge by charging symptoms of the plague against their enemies. The story of "Fabio Romani" deals with this, and Signor Ferrari causes Fabio to be buried alive. Mitchell's All Star Players will present this wonderful play at Oak Grove theatre this evening with special scenic and electric effects. The entire cast of the company will be seen. Don't forget the big matinee of the "Two Orphans" on Saturday at 2:30 p. m. This play is being repeated especially for the school children, so that they may be able to witness one of the most charming performances of the season. The small admission of ten cents to any part of the house will be charged. Come early and secure the choice seats.

BUYING HOLIDAY GOODS

The present hot weather does not cause the most of us to think much about Christmas, but the local merchants, with their eye constantly on business, are now engaged in buying their stocks for the holiday trade, and it is safe to say that in no town of its size will the display be more attractive.

While you are kicking about the excessive heat, just remember that you are saving a heap of coal.

FORMER EMPLOYE STOLE LANTERNS

Lehigh Switchman Resorts to Thieving to Secure Funds With Which to Get Out of Town

Charles F. Johnson, who has been employed as a switchman in the Lehigh yards at this place for several weeks, was given fifteen minutes to get out of town this morning, when he was arraigned before Justice Carey on a charge of stealing lanterns from the railroad company. Johnson has had troubles of his own lately. During his stay in Sayre he has been boarding at the Osborne house on Lehigh avenue. Tuesday night he signified his intention of jumping his job with the Lehigh. This came to the ears of his landlady and she caused his pay to be attached for board. As Johnson did not have enough money to liquidate his board bill and the costs of the attachment proceedings he was up against a hard proposition. Yesterday, however, he fell in with William Shaw, another Lehigh employee, who had also quit the company's employ, and the two conceived the idea of turning four lanterns, belonging to the company, into cash, and thereby secure enough to get to Buffalo, where they had jobs. Officials of the company, however, got next to the plan and immediately started an investigation. Officer Shafer and Yardmaster Dawson went to Shaw's boarding house on North Elmer avenue and placed Shaw and Johnson under arrest. Two of the lanterns were found in a bag, while the other two had been left at Taylor's secondhand store, where it is alleged Johnson had tried to sell them. This morning warrants were issued for both men charging them with larceny. Johnson was arraigned first, but as the evidence was not forthcoming he was discharged with the admonition to get out of town as quickly as his feet could carry him.

Shaw was also discharged this afternoon on account of lack of evidence.

CANVASSING FOR BUSINESS

Tuesday's edition of the daily times (more easily recognized as the d. t.) makes the assertion in a half column or more of vituperative screed that it is not necessary for the d. t. to make a house to house canvass in order to secure patronage. The d. t.'s statement carries with it the insinuation that The Record solicits business. The Record candidly admits the inference. In times gone by it has solicited business; it may do so again. It has done so, however, in a strictly legitimate manner, and a large and growing clientele will testify that The Record has always given value received. The Record, however, has not yet reached the point where it is necessary to import out-of-town "talent" to prescribe for a rapidly declining subscription list. The Record has yet to see the necessity of resorting to a veldt "contest" in order to secure readers. A newspaper that publishes "twice as much news as its contemporaries put together" is indeed in desperate straits when it is compelled to resort to methods which savor of the cheap repertoire show to convince the public that it should dig down and subscribe at bargain counter rates.

A paper which has been in existence for twenty years has usually acquired a reputation where it is not necessary to solicit the public to patronize a scheme which was launched for the express purpose of fattening the promoter's pocketbook.
