VALLEY FIREMEN ELECT OFFICERS

James Clohessy Elected President at Annual Convention Held Last Night—Banquet Follows Business Session

The Fifth Annual Convention of the Valley Firemen's Association was called to order promptly at 8 o'clock last night. The convention was held in the Packer Hose rooms and all of the delegates were present.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: James Clohessy of Waverly, president; Charles Beibach of Sayre, vice president; D. D. Tillman of Sayre, secretary, and M. J. Farrell, also of Sayre, treasury.

It was decided to elect four directors this year instead of two, as has been the custom since the organization of the association. The directors chosen are E. A. Tilton and Fred F. Smith of Waverly, and John Rabcock and J. D. Munn of Sayre. In order to create more interest in the annual meetings it was decided to discuss topics of a various nature at the next session of the association, and E. A. Tilton, J. M. Smith and M. J. Farrell were appointed a committee to name the subjects.

Waverly was chosen as the place for holding the convention and parade next year. A banquet followed the business meeting.

The Social Session

Last night's banquet, the fifth in the series of enjoyable affairs that have marked the history of the Valley Firemen's association, set a pace for hospitality and good feeling that has not been surpassed heretofore in this region.

After the business of the convention had been despatched, the delegates welcomed a number of guests, including a few veteran firemen, some of the village authorities of Waverly and Sayre, representatives of the Sayre Business Men's association and members of the press. A short social time followed, and then the 75 or odd gentlemen sat down to a long table garnished with beautiful flowers and heaped high with viands of the choicest and most delectable varieties. A large force of male waiters, many of them volunteer firemen, were kept extremely busy for half an hour, and it was remarked that the service was uncommonly good.

But there is a limit to man's capacity and, despite a general desire to establish gastronomic records, the banquets were finally compelled to abandon the contest. Daly's orchestra, which up to this point had discoursed sweet harmony, then gave way to the orators. M. H. Sawtelle made an ideal toastmaster. He did not monopolize the talk; his introductory remarks were to the point, and the anecdotes with which they were enlivened struck the popular fancy. The oratory was also a departure from that heard on similar occasions. It is impossible to particularize, and, anyway, the thought voiced, rather than the personnel of the individual, is of first importance. Oratorical expressions ran the entire gamut, from the vivid word painting of the skilled rhetorician to the plain, wholesome phrases of the volunteer fireman. Rounded, panegyric, eloquent peroration and fervid sentiment followed in rapid succession until the listener had but to close his eyes and see before him a panorama that portrayed the red-shirted hero in the performance of his duty—sometimes the disagreeable, thankless task we know it to be—on other occasions the risk of life itself, willingly taken, in order that another might be saved.

There is also an end to the words of man, and when the assemblage had drunk to the continued good health of the association and dispersed in the hours of early morn it was with the thought uppermost in the minds of all that the bonds of fraternity and sincere friendship which link together the firemen of the valley had been materially strengthened.

The catering by VanDuyne & Hawkins received high commendation, and last night's event has gone a long way toward increasing the good reputation of this popular firm.

ENGINEERS MAY ASK CONCESSIONS

Lehigh Valley Enginemen Are Holding Annual Meeting at Pittston.

What is considered to have been a very important meeting was held at Pittston Tuesday when the members of the Lehigh Board of Adjustment of the Brotherhood of Locomotive engineers held its annual session.

Just what was discussed or considered was not definitely ascertained, as the officers were reticent, saying that the business of the session related to internal affairs. It is too well known to warrant contradiction, however, that the engineers desire a rearrangement of the schedule. They want, it is said the promotions to be given to the oldest men in point of service and there are some classes of engineers who would like an increase in wages. The board will remain in session several days and its findings will be presented to President Thomas in writing.

DENISON CAUSES DANTON'S ARREST

The Latter Is Charged With Pointing a Deadly Weapon at the Former

This morning Stephen Danton was arrested on complaint of Dr. L. B. Denison, who charges Danton with pointing a pistol. Danton was arraigned before Justice Nelson and through his attorney, Paul E. Maynard, waived a hearing and entered bail in the sum of $200 for his appearance at the next court of quarter sessions. The arrest of Danton is the outgrowth of the suit which was commenced recently by Danton against Denison, in which the latter is charged with alienating the affections of the former's wife. The latter part of last week Denison caused a warrant to be issued for Danton, charging a similar offense, but for some unknown reason this warrant was withdrawn. Spencer Brougham qualified as bondsman in the case against Danton today. The differences which exist between Danton and Denison are now becoming interesting and the outcome will be awaited impatiently by the public.

PEYTON THREATENED TO SHOOT WOMAN

Colored Youth Got in Trouble Yesterday Because He Failed to Get His Pay for Services

Alfred Peyton, a negro youth, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a surety of the peace warrant, sworn out by Mrs. Mary Harrison, the woman who conducts the merry-go-round at the street fair. Peyton is a product of Washington, D. C., and was engaged to shovel coal in the boiler which furnishes the steam for the merry-go-round engine. Tuesday Peyton became weary of his job, when he was told to procure three barrels of water instead of two. Rather than obey orders he decided to quit. He demanded his pay, which he claimed amounted to $5, but his employer says that he had overdrawn to the extent of 75 cents. Peyton, however, who claimed to have the account in his head, insisted on having the five dollars, and began suit to recover. Tuesday night, however, while in a thirst emporium Peyton told several of the carnival attaches that if he had a revolver he would shoot Mrs. Harrison full of bullet holes and then turn the gun on himself. The threat came to the ears of the woman, and as she did not know what the colored youth might do, she concluded to have him apprehended.

When arraigned in court Peyton was sure that he did not make the threats attributed to him, but three or four witnesses were just as sure that he did. The matter was finally adjusted, however, by Mrs. Harrison paying him the five dollars he claimed on his agreeing to get out of town on the first train. Peyton was remanded to the custody of Chief Walsh, who later bought him a ticket for a point down the line of the Lehigh.

"THE MAN ON THE BOX"

On the evening of October 3 Henry Dixey will come to the Loomis and present that most entertaining and laughable production, entitled "The Man on the Box." The name of Dixey is too well known to theatregoers to need extended mention. He has just completed a 250 night's run in New York city and he comes to the Loomis directly from the city with the same cast and scenic equipment. Manager Watrous has been singularly fortunate in securing this attraction, and as the expense contingent therewith has been enormous, the attraction should be greeted with a crowded house.

JONES-HALLETT

A wedding which united a popular young man of Sayre and an estimable young lady of Waverly was quietly celebrated at the Methodist parsonage in Waverly at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the Rev. Mr. Cook. The bridegroom is Vernon Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Jones of North Wilbur avenue, who is employed as a boilermaker at the Sayre shops, and the bride is Miss Mabel Hallett daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hallett of Waverly. After a brief tour, the young couple will make their home at the residence of the bridegroom's parents in Sayre.

School opened this morning at 8 o'clock instead of 9.
