INCA CLUB BANQUET

Waverly—The Inca club, a Waverly high school organization, met in their rooms on Broad street last evening and had a very enjoyable banquet. The club has a membership of about twenty four and all were present last night. A number of new members were initiated and after the regular meeting the banquet was served.

INTERESTING MEETING

Waverly—The Eastern Star held a very interesting meeting last night, and about thirty members of the West Sayre lodge were in attendance. After the regular business had been finished a picnic lunch was served to about 85 persons. An invitation was received from the Loyal chapter of Elmira to attend their meeting next Saturday night.

RALLY LAST NIGHT

Waverly—The Salvation Army held a rally at the Methodist church last evening. Members of that organization were present from Elmira, Corning and Towanda. There was a good sized crowd in attendance, and the work of the army in this section was reviewed.

FIREMEN PARADE

DESPITE THE MUD

Downpour of Rain Does Not Dampen the Ardor of Local Firemen

Rain began falling in Sayre at an early hour this morning and continued throughout the forenoon, changing the dust into mud and making the streets in anything but fit condition for the firemen's parade which, despite unfavorable conditions, was in preparing to start as The Record went to press at an early hour this afternoon.

The rain ceased falling shortly after noon but the indications for clear weather seem doubtful. There is a large crowd in Sayre to witness the parade, but many have doubtless remained in their homes on account of the rain.

The firemen will take sidewalks instead of the streets, and slight changes will be made in the route to meet the unfavorable conditions underfoot.

The visiting firemen arrived in Sayre early in the forenoon and were immediately taken in charge by members of the Sayre department and conducted to the various places provided for their entertainment. The visitors are a fine looking lot of firefighters and they are being accorded first class treatment while in Sayre.

HE MAY NEED AN ARTIFICIAL LIMB

If you see a corpulent individual with chestnut brown hair limping down street, assisted by the handle end of a fishing rod, you will know that it is A. J. L. Cotton of the News. Cotton went fishing last night in company with a friend. When they returned it was dark. Although "Andy," as he is familiarly known, is well acquainted with the rural districts, having been reared among the clover blossoms and daisies, he failed to observe a woodchuck hole, into which he stumbled and fell. He tried to get up but could not. He had sustained a severe strain of the right leg, and if the News readers fail to get their daily grist of Sayre news they will know the cause. This morning Miles C. Baldwin, a manufacturer of wooden legs, called on "Andy" took his measure, and will supply him with an artificial limb, should the necessity arise.

KIPP NOMINATED

A special dispatch to The Record from Tunkhannock immediately after dinner states that the Democratic conferees of the counties comprising the Fourteenth Congressional district are in session at that place. While the nomination of Mr. Kipp had not at that time been actually made, yet our informant says there is not the slightest possibility of any other person being selected as the Democratic congressional candidate. It is also stated that the Lincoln party conferees will meet after the Democrats have concluded and endorse Mr. Kipp. The Record goes to press earlier than usual today on account of the firemen's parade, and is accordingly unable to state whether Mr. Kipp's nomination was a certainty.

WATCH STOLEN

A watch was left lying on the desk at Arthur's store by the bookkeeper yesterday while she was working about the store, and when she returned it had disappeared. The parties who took the time piece are known and if it is returned no questions will be asked.

LOCAL MENTION

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Eighthy returned home yesterday in their motor car from Larksville, Pa., where they had been on a few days' visit. They had an enjoyable trip and brought home some very fine black bass.

Sweating Sickness.
The well-known nerve pathologist, V. M. Beckateroff, says the St. Petersburg Novosti, mentions the appearance of a peculiar disease of the nerve system, which he calls "sweating sickness of the hand." This trouble is indicated by the sudden perspiration of the hand on the part of the victim each time he sees an acquaintance with whom he is about to shake hands. Sometimes the perspiration will fall in large drops from the tips of the fingers. None of the other parts of the body show similar symptoms.

Best of Cows.
The Jersey cow is a small animal, and therefore her maintenance ration is small, while a relatively large part of her food goes to profit. She is a persistent milker, often a perpetual milker, and ordinarily not dry more than six or eight weeks in a year. She has an extremely long period of usefulness in the dairy. Five years covers the profitable work of the average cow. The Jersey is 16 years old. Many are profitable when 18 to 21 years of age.

Beans of Manchuria.
The chief product of Manchuria, beans, is still treated in a primitive manner by many of the manufacturers of bean oil and bean cake. Even in Niuchwang, which has been a treaty port of approximately half a century, the crushing of beans with heavy stone rollers drawn by mules and donkeys continues in some of the bean mills. In such primitive institutions the oil is pressed out of the pulp by hand, wedges driven by huge beetles being used.

Political Note.
The first senator frowned impatiently.
"Listen to that fool Rox prating away about agriculture," he muttered.
"Yes. Listen to him," said the second senator.
"He doesn't know anything about farming, does he?"
"Well, he once had hay fever."

Not All Hopeless.
"When you know a man is a devotee of golf," said the enthusiastic golfer, "you can be absolutely certain of his mental caliber, and be assured."
"O, come, I wouldn't say that," replied the plain man. "I don't doubt that some men play golf who are really quite sensible."—Stray Stories.

Journalism in St. Petersburg.
A St. Petersburg correspondent writes: "There was never before such journalistic activity in St. Petersburg as there is at present. New radical and revolutionary papers are appearing on the scene every day to take the places of those that have fallen under the displeasure of the law."

People Afraid.
About 3,500,000 people are on the sea, either as passengers or seamen, every day in the year.

He Believed.
"Do you believe, Mr. Rounder, that marriages are made in heaven?"
"Sure; you don't see me trying to go there, do you?"—Houston Post.

Singular Circumstance.
Prizes for the best patriotic song for the use of school children were offered in Brussels, and the first prize was won by a Frenchman.

Disappearance of the Beaver.
In the days of our great-grandfathers the beaver was a resident of many streams and small lakes all the way from Maine to Oregon. He is now numbered among our rare animals, and a few years ago seemed doomed to total extinction.

Mistake of Gothamites.
The center of population of the United States is officially announced to be six miles southeast of Columbus, Ind., and not at the intersection of Broadway and Forty-second street, as a great many New Yorkers vaguely fancy it.—Puck.

Difficult Task.
The Japanese army surgeon who has a plan to increase the average height of the Japanese soldiers to six feet will never be able to convince Russia that he isn't going to a lot of unnecessary trouble.

Mineral Fabrics.
Much of our textile materials now comes from the mines. Silk rustles with 36 per cent. of salts of tin, flannel is weighted with epsom salts, and linen table cloths are made from cotton filled with china clay and starch.

Due to Mimicry.
Stuttering children have lately become alarmingly numerous in Germany. The public schools contain 99,000 of them. The increase in the number is largely due to mimicry.

Literary Note.
"Smith, the minor poet," wrote the literary editor, "has abandoned the linen collar for the paper one. He wears it all day and writes poetry on it at night."

A Difference.
"You can't keep a secret, Lucy."
"Yes I can, Jack. I just happen to tell things to other girls who can't."

And Meant.
There's many a true word spoken in disgust.—Life.

Beer in Japan.
The Japanese drank 3,000,000 gallons of beer last year.

Born a King.
There is a fact about King Alfonso well worth knowing. Of all the kings who have ever lived with the sole exception of Jean I. of France, who lived but a few hours, he is the only one to be a king from the moment of his first breath—a veritable "born king."
