TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF FINE WEATHER

Street Commissioner Fields Will Do a Lot of Work This Fall—No Snow Fall Before Christmas

Street Commissioner D. L. Fields is making preparations to do considerable work on the streets this fall, in view of the fact that he has positive assurance that the weather during the next three months is to be of a fine variety. Mr. Fields has made weather predictions for many years, and they have heretofore always been found correct. Therefore when Mr. Fields states that there will be no snow until Christmas, everyone who has followed his prognostications will become interested. Mr. Fields bases his predictions on the changes which have recently come over the Gulf stream. "During recent years," says Mr. Fields, "but little attention has been paid to this stream, and weather men have apparently lost sight of it altogether, and this accounts for the many wild predictions that have been made by Foster, Hicks and the rest of the weather prophets." D. L., however, keeps his weather eye on the stream and recently has noticed a radical change. This change reveals to his trained eye and inherent sagacity the fact that there is to be no fall of snow until after the Christmas holidays.

"Then," he says, "look out for blizzards. During the interregnum, however, the weather will be of an exceedingly mild type. There will be but little frost, hardly enough to open the chestnut burrs, and farmers will have plenty of opportunity to do their fall ploughing. Mr. Fields will also take advantage of the fine weather and the streets of Sayre will be put in fine condition."

RECIPE FOR STAYING YOUNG

An old favorite and one who has withstood the test of time comes to the Loomis opera house on Wednesday, Oct. 3d, in the person of Henry E. Dixey, who will be seen in a dramatization of Harold MacGrath's popular story, "The Man on the Box." It has made a great hit in New York and Mr. Dixey has reason to claim anew his title of matinee idol.

Adonis Dixey he was nicknamed twenty years ago, when he first appeared in the title role of the successful piece of that name and never was a title better deserved. There was an indescribable charm, a regularity of feature, an expression of the eye, a rose of the head or a suggestion of a smile about Henry Dixey in those days which would have made him the toast of the town had he been a woman and which, as it was, made him the most sought after and popular young actor of the season. He was always the gayest of the gay, the life of every party, the wit whose sallies were passed from mouth to mouth, the central figure of the brightest life of the swiftest set on Broadway—the set which forces the pace that kills—but it didn't kill Henry Dixey.

How does he do it? How does he manage to keep so young that De Soto's fountain of youth would dry up with envy could it behold him?

"Don't worry! That is the whole secret. Always be cheerful and happy, for as the slangy little boy once said, 'the worst is yet to come,' and no matter how bad things look there is always some redeeming feature of the situation if you'll only stop to think of it, and there is always some reason to laugh if you only know enough to find out what it is and then obliterate all the other phases of the situation from your mind."

Applications for the civil service examinations which are to be held in the high school building on Saturday next must be filed with J. J. Voegel, secretary of the board of examiners at Philadelphia, not later than 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

W. T. Goodnow has taken his handsome 30-foot cabin launch from Cayuga lake and placed it in the Susquehanna river at Owego. The craft draws only sixteen inches in the water and is admired by all rivermen. It will probably be run to Sayre this week.

"The Proud Prince," a play in four acts by Justin Huntley McCarthy, is the vehicle which Porter J. White will use this season. This powerful drama, said to be more impressive than "The Sign of the Cross," is booked for an early engagement at the Loomis.

CONVENTIONS ADJOURN

The Republican and Democratic state conventions have both adjourned until tomorrow. The Republican convention is being held at Saratoga, while the Democrats are meeting at Buffalo.

THE ISSUE IS JOINED

The action of the Democratic Congressional conference in nominating George W. Kipp of Towanda, and his endorsement by the Lincoln Republicans of Bradford county, as a candidate for member of Congress, launches the political campaign in this district, which gives promise of being exceedingly lively, even at this early date. Last spring the Hon. Mial E. Lilley, the present congressman from this district, secured the Republican nomination, but as the Democrats were somewhat late in selecting a candidate, matters political have been quiet. Now, however, the issue has been joined, candidates have been nominated by both the old parties, and the progress of the campaign will be watched with interest from the present time until election day.

In choosing Mr. Kipp as a candidate the Democrats have exercised excellent judgment, and unless there is a radical change of sentiment between now and election, his chances for representing this district in the halls of Congress are exceedingly good.

Believing that the interests of the people of the district will be best subserved, The Record has no hesitancy in announcing its preference for Mr. Kipp's candidacy. The Record, without reference to party, can be implicitly relied upon to advocate any cause in which it believes that the welfare of the greatest number is at stake, and in this campaign the issue is clearly one of the people against machine rule and machine methods. Mr. Kipp stands for the people; he stands for reform, honest government, clean politics, and a square deal, and his election will mean that the people of Bradford county and this congressional district are to have representation at Washington, instead of the private interests of a few machine politicians who have goon sleek and fat at the public crib. Following the policy it adopted shortly after its first issue, The Record stands for the people as against the "ringster" and the "gang." The Record is first, last and all the time unalterably opposed to the methods of bosses and bossism as they have heretofore been employed in Bradford county politics.

The Record believes that the time has come when the voters of Bradford county, irrespective of party lines or affiliations, will throw off the yoke of thralldom and refuse to heed the crack of the party whip. The time has come when so called leaders must succumb to the inevitable and learn that the masses must be heard and their interests respected at least half the time.

The political methods which have been employed by machine politics in this county have become exceedingly distasteful to the great majority of voters, regardless of party, and there is a decided determination on their part to create a new order of things and give others a chance to be noticed.

The selection of Mr. Kipp as a candidate by the Democrats will be hailed with delight by those who believe in giving the people a voice in the body politic. Mr. Kipp will receive the hearty endorsement of every voter who believes in striking a decisive blow at the unsavory machine tactics which have become notorious throughout this county and state, and which have been so manipulated as to absolutely at times defeat the expressed will of the people. The Record believes that the election of Mr. Kipp to congress will be the beginning of the end of machine politics in Bradford county.

BIG COUNTY FAIR OPENED TODAY

Annual Exhibition of Bradford County Agricultural Society Promises to Eclipse All Previous Efforts

It only remains now for the weather man to look down with a friendly countenance upon the Bradford County Agricultural Society and furnish fine weather this week in return for the faithful efforts that have been put forth to make the annual exhibition a success. The management is certain that the crowds are assured, and it is believed that the attendance this year will be greater than ever.

Exhibits have fairly poured into the grounds today and the space allotted to this feature of the fair will be full to overflowing. The displays of business houses are said to be more representative and larger than in previous years. There will be a great showing of stock, there will be ball games, balloon ascensions, plenty of good music, plenty to eat, and the races—it is sufficient to say that the generous purses will attract the speediest horses in this part of the East.

Then it will be worth one's while to attend just to meet the politicians. The will be dead loads of politicians—Kipp Democrats and Kipp Republicans; Lilley Democrats and Lilley Republicans; Emery Democrats and Emery Republicans; Stuart Republicans, but no Stuart Democrats, and there may be a few Prohibitionists on the side lines. Each one of them will have on his most expansive smile and he will be awfully glad to meet you. If he is on to his job he might see that you have a choice seat in the grandstand, but he will not hand you a cigar this year, since the corrupt practices act passed by the last legislature makes it a misdemeanor for a candidate to talk politics and clinch the argument by handing out bad cigars. That is a wise law, for there have been too many cheap cigars palmed off on the unsuspecting voter in the days gone by. With the "two-for" eliminated, the fairground politician should prove a greater source of joy than ever. By all means go the fair; take the family with you; cast dull care to the winds. You will return home tired in body, perhaps, but certainly refreshed in spirit.

BRADFORD COUNTY TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

Will Be Held at Towanda During the Week Beginning October 8

The annual session of the Bradford county teachers' institute will meet in Hale's opera house in Towanda, October 8, at 10:30 a. m., and continue during the week. The following instructors have been engaged for the day sessions: Hon. Henry R. Pattengill, ex-superintendent of public instruction of Michigan; Dr. T. S. Lowden, Clark University, Worcester, Mass.; Prof. Charles H. Albert, Bloomsburg state normal school, Bloomsburg, Pa.; Prof. O. H. Yetter, Bloomsburg, Pa.; Dr. Andrew Thomas Smith, principal Mansfield state normal school, Mansfield, Pa.

A fine program has been prepared for the evening sessions, in which well known educators will participate.

The law requires all schools to be closed during institute week and allows teachers pay for their attendance. All teachers are expected to be present during the entire session. Application has been made for reduced rates on the railroads.
