SOUTH WAVERLY COUNCIL MEETING

Pay Several Bills and Direct W. E. Secord to Place Pitney and Fulton Streets in Former Condition

South Waverly—The regular monthly meeting of the borough council was held last evening. Those present were Councilmen Stephens, Sinsabaugh, Walsh, McCraney, Murphy and Gates. In the absence of the president, Mr. Stephens was placed in the chair for the meeting. Geo. Quinn, the newly appointed clerk, was on duty for the first time.

The matter of the cutting of Pitney and Fulton streets by W. E. Secord when he put in his new cement walk, came up for discussion. Mr. Secord had been notified to put the street back in its former condition, but had failed to do so. The committee appointed for the purpose was instructed to obtain legal advice and take such steps as were necessary to put the streets in safe condition.

Sidewalk rebates were allowed to Rev. E. J. O'Reilly, Harry Ellis and Patrick Lynch. These claims were late in being allowed as the claimants were late in getting the papers fixed, as required, although the walks were built in time to come under this year's appropriation. The whole number of bills and the sidewalk rebates allowed amounted to $116.05.

Miss Fairchild appeared and asked for a rebate on the cement sidewalk built in front of her property on Bradford street four years ago. It seems that there was some contention at the time that the walk was in the street, but the present council expressed a willingness to grant the rebate, provided the walk was in the sidewalk line. A committee was appointed to determine the location of the street line. She also called attention to the fact that a walk was badly needed in front of the Howard lot on the same street, and the council directed that steps be taken to insure a walk before winter.

After directing the clerk to notify the electric light company to place another light in the council room, the board adjourned.

THIS GIRL WANTED TO GET MARRIED

She Didn't Have the Male Requisite for the Ceremony With Her But Thought the Justice Should Supply Him

Waverly—She wandered into town this morning, and stayed about the streets for some time. She seemed to be in a quandary and a little uncertain just where she wanted to go. At length she went into the office of a well known attorney. She wished to consult him, but was at first somewhat bashful about stating her business. After some questioning she admitted that she wished to get married, but when asked where the man was she said she did not know, but thought that one could be found if the lawyer would only employ the means that he possessed. She had heard that lawyers were employed to dissolve the marriage relation, and supposed that they would be equally useful in furnishing the requisites for getting one into that state.

She was advised to call on a justice of the peace, and she went to the office of Justice Hoagland, first stopping to call on other members of the legal fraternity, without, seemingly, meeting with any greater success than she had achieved at her first call.

When she appeared before the judge she was at first reluctant to state the cause of her visit, but after some urging she confided to him that she wished to enter the bonds of matrimony. When asked where the man was, she stated that she had none, but thought that he could, through the exercise of his legal authority, supply the omission. The judge expressed his willingness to perform the ceremony but said that he could not run a matrimonial bureau, and if she wished to marry that it would be necessary to find the man. She was very much disappointed that the thing could not be done in the manner that she supposed, and went out in a saddened state of mind, but seemed in no way discouraged.

When last seen she appeared to be looking for something very industriously, and if she finds a man who suits her fancy it is very likely that there will be a case of kidnaping, and that the ancient method of wife stealing will be reversed, and that she will marry him whether he will or not.

TOWN BOARD MEETING

Waverly—The town board held a meeting at the clerk's office yesterday morning. The usual routine business was gone through with, and Dr. Theodore Snook was appointed ballot clerk for the fourth district, in the place of Mr. Genung, who had removed from the district. A committee was also appointed to go over the road running from Waverly to Lockwood, and designate the places where sluices should be placed under the road. The road for the greater part of the distance runs close under the hill, and when a hard storm comes on, the road is generally badly torn up. It is hoped that the placing of the sluices will put an end to this.

MRS. THEODORE MULLOCK

Waverly—Mrs. Theodore Mullock, a former resident of Waverly, who was very well known in this village, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Heath, at Elmira, last Sunday. Yesterday noon the remains were brought to Waverly and taken in charge by E. S. Hanford and buried at Forest Home cemetery. The Rev. W. H. Sawtelle of Ulster, conducted the service at the grave.

Lilley's "Endorsement" By the Lincoln Party

Correct Story of the Day's Doings at Tunkhannock on Sept. 20, Makes Interesting Reading

MACHINE HENCHMEN SAT AS DELEGATES

Without Credentials They Did the Bidding of the "Boss" and He Was Endorsed.

The conferees of the Lincoln party in this Congressional district which met at Tunkhannock on Thursday, September 20, and despite the protests of the Bradford county delegation "endorsed" the Hon. Mial E. Lilley, who by tricky and high-handed political methods secured the Republican nomination for Congress at a "gum shoe" committee meeting held early last spring, prepared and adopted a set of resolutions, the preamble of which is as follows:

"We, the regular conferees of the Lincoln party of the Fourteenth Congressional district of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in conference assembled, do this 20th day of September, 1906, proud with pride to the magnificent record of our eminent President, Theodore Roosevelt. We cordially approve of the reform movement in Pennsylvania under the leadership of Lewis E. Bury."

In the very next paragraph, after asserting that the causes and conditions which necessitated the organization of the Lincoln party have no bearing on national issues, the conferees pledge their cordial support to Mr. Lilley on the ground that the chief executive of the nation should be heartily supported in the halls of Congress.

Here is a brand of "logic" that has never been in use before. This system of reasoning is the same that a learned judge referred to recently as "blowing hot and cold in the same breath."

First, these self-appointed Lincolnites, under the "skillful" guidance of the once powerful "boss," assert that the party has nothing in common with national issues, and then before the ink has dried on the paper they tell the voters of this county and district that they will "endorse" the Hon. Mial because a Republican national administration demands the support of Republican Congressmen.

Really here is a joke that ought to cause anyone who reads it to forget his troubles and laugh long and loud. If the organization of the Lincoln party had no bearing upon national issues, then why mix up with them by "endorsing" Mial Lilley for no other reason than a Republican President is desirous of having his support in the halls of Congress. If this is not bringing matters down to a national issue, then The Record would like to know what does.

The voters throughout the district, and especially those who have cast their fortunes with the Lincoln party, must not be deceived. The men who composed the conference that "endorsed" Lilley were not Lincoln Republicans in any sense of the term. The men who sat in that conference as the alleged representatives of the Lincoln party were nothing more nor less than a coterie of political ringsters who, from the time he first made his appearance in the arena of politics, have been owned body and breeches by "boss" Lilley; men who were sent to that conference to do his bidding, and who perpetrated one of the most outrageous political intrigues of this section of machine ruled Pennsylvania has seen in years. Mr. Lilley was in Tunkhannock the day the conference was held. He knew that he could not control the Lincoln conferees from Bradford county. He had awakened to the fact that his grasp on this county has been shaken off, so all that he could do was to import trusted members of the disintegrated machine and instruct them to pose as Lincoln Republicans. They did their work well, but no one has been fooled. The whole transaction was too transparent, and Mial has only added one more disgraceful stunt to the outrageous political methods he has employed ever since he first began to pose as the leader of the Republican party in this county.

The true story of that day's doings at Tunkhannock places Lilley in a more unfavorable light than ever before—were such a thing possible. The manner in which the job was done should be known to every self-respecting voter of Bradford county. The rules of the Lincoln party provide for holding primaries and electing delegates in much the same manner as do the rules of other parties. Rule 7 provides that for this year the members of the county committee may be called together and hold a convention. In Bradford county a convention organization had been perfected, county committeemen had been appointed in every district, and at a convention regularly called James L. Dyer was given authority to appoint conferees, himself to be one of them. The conferees thus selected were given further authority to confer with conferees from other counties in the congressional district regarding the nomination of a candidate for congress. A meeting was arranged to be held at Tunkhannock on Sept. 20. The Bradford county delegation went to that place on the date mentioned and found in waiting one L. M. Atkinson of Honesdale who claimed that he was a conferee from Wayne county. He also claimed to represent three other conferees and that he would generously vote for the whole four. When asked for credentials he could not produce them, neither could he tell the names of the other three delegates, and further questioning developed the fact that he had no authority whatever to use the names of or represent anyone. He was frank enough to state that the Lincoln party had no organization in Wayne county and that no convention had been held. S. R. Brungess and Neil Doty of Wyoming county were also present, and they claimed to represent the Lincoln party in that county. They also admitted that no convention had been held and had no credentials entitling them to representation at the conference.

At 2 o'clock the conference went into session, but after a chairman and secretaries had been appointed it was agreed not to sit in conference with the alleged representatives of the Lincoln party from Wyoming and Wayne counties, and adjournment was taken until 6 o'clock.

In the meantime no one had appeared from Susquehanna county, but late in the afternoon a delegation arrived from that county. They also asserted that they represented the Lincoln party, but went directly to the Graham House where Lilley had established headquarters. They were joined shortly afterward by Atkinson, Brungess and Doty, the counterfeit conferees from Wyoming and Wayne counties.

At 6 o'clock the Bradford county delegates were on hand to do business, but after half an hour had passed and no other conferees showed up, Mr. Dyer went to Mr. Lilley's headquarters and informed them that the Bradford county men were waiting. The Susquehanna delegation, four in number, and the spurious delegates from Wayne and Wyoming, followed by a bunch of supporters, went to the meeting place. The Bradford conferees told the Susquehanna crowd that they would not confer with the alleged representatives of the Lincoln party from Wayne and Wyoming. Acting under orders from Lilley, however, the Susquehanna delegates and the men who were alleged to represent Wyoming and Wayne, began to organize another conference. The Bradford conferees protested against permitting the alleged conferees from Wayne and Wyoming to sit, but the Susquehanna men had been too well coached by Lilley and would listen to no protests. They were there to run things as they pleased, and they did it. As tools of Boss Lilley, it was their business to "endorse" him.

That was the shameful manner in which Lilley secured the "endorsement" of the Lincoln party. No wonder the Bradford conferees endorsed Mr. Kipp, a Democrat. Now that the tools of Boss Lilley have done this dirty job, they are going up and down the district and telling the voters that the Bradford delegation booted. The Bradford men did nothing of the kind. They simply refused to sit in conference with a set of men who admitted the lack of credentials showing the right to represent anybody.

Miss Laura Hatton of Bernice, is visiting friends in town.

J. W. Piatt, Esq., of Tunkhannock, was in town this afternoon.

D. J. Pearsall of Mauch Chunk, and Henry Streeter of Towanda, were in Sayre today.

Max Lundergren of Schnectady, who formerly worked for the Valley telephone Co., arrived in Sayre today.

The Cayuta Land Company
 of Sayre, Pa., desires to announce that they have some very desirable building lots for sale on cheap and easy terms, and that they have placed the agency for selling them in the hands of Andrew Everts of this place. All those wishing to provide themselves with homes or to invest in lots for speculative purposes will do well to consult with Mr. Everts before purchasing elsewhere. This plot of land is nearly surrounded by industrial plants, with beautiful scenery and all the advantages of a modern industrial town. Terms to suit purchasers. Steps are already being taken to supply all the land comprising this plot with a full supply of the best water the valley affords. ANDREW EVARTS, 108 Hospital place, Sayre, Pa. Phone 244c.

Permanent Dentistry

A quarter of a century ago we placed some gold fillings in the teeth of a well known gentleman at present a resident of Sayre. These fillings today are just as bright, firm and useful as the day they were made. We will tell you the name of the party, if you wish to see him yourself.

There are variations in dental workmanship, just as there are differences in the various brands of flour. If you desire the highest degree of proficiency—the skill and knowledge that will make YOUR fillings serviceable twenty-five years from today—come in or phone for an appointment. On the other hand, if you take pleasure in having your teeth filled over and over again every year or two, you should go elsewhere—we do not do that kind of work.
