ROYAL BATTLE OF THE PITCHERS.

Lend Two to One-Pfelster's Throw Broke Hahn's Nose In the

Sixth Inning. CHICAGO, Oct. 12.-The game be ween the Chicago teams of the National and American league was a battle royal between pitchers, and the Americans were victorious by a score

Twenty-one batsmen struck out. For Walsh. In addition he gave only one will arrive at home on Oct. 21. pass and allowed but two hits, in the first inning. Thereafter the Nationals, until the ninth inning, never had any ort of a chance to score.

According to the official count, 13,750 enthusiasts, encouraged by slightly warmer weather, were present when given us our reputation. the game began. Pfelster, the left handed pitcher, went into the box for the Nationals. His control at first was good, but by no means perfect. He quickly steadied, however, and pitched was hepe he went to pieces, and the game was lost. Tannehill, reputed to be a weak batter, singled down the third base line. Somewhat disconcerted, Pfeister allowed Walsh to walk and a moment later hit Hahn in the face, breaking his nose. A doctor was called, and O'Neill went to first for Hahn and finished the game for him.

The bases were now full with no body out. A pandemonium of cheers from American league sympathizers broke loose. Ffeister pulled himself together, and there was a sigh of re-lief from National lengue supporters when Captain Jones fouled out to Kling. Isbell, one of the team's best batsmen ordinarily, struck out for the third time during the game. Then came Robe, the substitute, to bat. It was this light haired young man, whose accidental presence by reason of Davis' illness in Tuesday's game, brought victory to the Americans. Again the fate of the game depended on him, and again be did not fail. He waited patiently for a ball that suited him and then swung with all his strength. The ball bounded like a jack rabbit down the third base line and under the benches in left field. Tannehill, Waish and O'Neill crossed the plate amidst wild cheers and the noise of many megaphones, while the author of the scores stood on third base receiving the congratulations of his team mates. Donohue sent a weak fly to Evers, and the agony was over. On their part the Nationals started out like winners. In the first inning Hofman sent a clean single to center. Sheckard struck out, and then Hofing to steal second, where he was C. J. KITCHIN, doubled to left, but it did no good, for Chance went out, Isbell to Donobue. Thereafter till the ninth the Nationals never gave a hint of designs on the home plate. Walsh held them completely at his mercy, apparently growing stronger and steadler every inning. When the game began the Nationals awung viciously at his offerings, but before the contest was half over they were fishing for the it. Any kind of a hit would have looked good, but mostly when they didn't strike out they rolled puny grounders HILL & BEIBACH to second or short and were out easily. In the ninth Gessler went to bat for Pfeister and reached first because Isbell fumbled his grounder for a monent. Hofman went out, via Isbeil, Gessler reaching second. Sheckard for the second time missed three good ones. Gessler beat Sullivan's throw to third because the catcher juggled the ball for a moment. A hit meant a run, but Schulte became a victim of Walsh's curves, and the third game of the world's championship series was It took a large force of policemen to rensied admirers who thronged on to Evers, Tinker and Tannehill divided

An unique method has been adopted by the campaign managers to enable citizens of the smaller towns throughout the state to hear the voice of the candidate of the Independence league and Democratic state ticket and to see him in the act of delivering a speech on the great issues of the present cam-

Mr. Hearst has delivered one of his strongest speeches into the receiving films of the phonograph. Hundreds of superbly until the sixth inning. It reproductions of these films will be made and sent with accompanying talking machines to villages and hamlets throughout the Empire State. With these phonographs will be a biograph or moving picture paraphernalia, which will be used in conjunction with the talking machine.

At the town meetings the photographic presentation of Mr. Hearst will be laid upon the canvas. The candidate will be seen in every move and gesture as he proceeds with his speech. As the moving pictures throw the figure of Congressman Hearst upon the canvas the talking machine will deliver in his every tone and accent an exact vocal reproduction of the address which will give his views on the burning issues of the present gubernatorial campaign. Mr. Hearst has issued a statement regarding the attitude of the Independence league on the subject of noupartisan judiciary nominations in New York city, blaming Chairman Timothy L. Woodruff of the Republican state ommittee for the failure of the joint indorsements and declaring that the action of the league in the matter would depend largely upon the character of the nominations made by the Republican county committee. He denied that he was especially favoring the nomination of any individual for election to judicial office.

Pittsburg Girl Elopes With Vice President's Son.

WIRES MOTHER NEWS OF MARRIAGE

Smoky City Society Agitated About Miss Nellie Scott's Ranaway Match. Romance Started at In-

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 12. special from Pittsburg to the News says that Mrs. James Scott has received a message from Steubenville which

"Frederick and I were married yes terday. NELLIE" Announcement was made at Steu benville, O., that Frederick Cole Fairbanks, son of Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks, had eloped to that city with Miss Nellie Scott of Pittsburg and had married her there.

It is known that the couple left Pittsburg secretly, came to Steubenville and were married. Parental objection was responsible for the runaway. The young man's distinguished father is said to have opposed the match. His son has notified him by wire of his act and asked him to receive the pretty young bride as his daughter.

The bride is the daughter of a prominent citizen of the east side district of Pittsburg. She has been popular in Pittsburg society since her debut. The youth of both the young people is believed to have been the chief cause of the objections which Vice President Fairbanks entertained to their mar-

He had known for some time, as had the family of Miss Scott, that the young people were in love with each other, but it was not thought that young Frederick Cole Fairbanks would undertake to carry his sweetheart off against the known wishes of his father.

Frederick Cole Fairbanks was graduated from Princeton in the class of 1903. A little more than a year ago he was made his father's private secretary. He has spent much of his time lately in extensive cross country trips in an automobile. Last August he was fined $10 at Salem, Mass., for speeding. His bride, who is said to be a remarkably pretty girl, is still in her teens.

Miss Scott was a schoolmate of Miss Stout of this city at Washington and visited here this summer for several weeks. The Stout home is across the street from the Fairbanks home, and the young people met. An engagement followed, and this was known to the two families. Neither Mr. Fairbanks nor Miss Scott desired a fashionable wedding ceremony.

The young couple have been in telephonic communication with the Scott household, and it is learned that they will reach Pittsburg today to remain a th the question of the sovereignty of honeymoon trip, which, it is said, will
