INJUNCTION SECURED SERVED ON OFFICERS

W. S. & A. Claims to Own the Track Running Through the Simmons Lot—Claim They Were Acting Within Rights

Waverly—No further attempt has been made to connect the two pieces of track on Chemung street, although it was thought by some that such an attempt would be made.

President Lawrence and Village Attorney Bell returned from Binghamton last Saturday night after having secured an order from the court restraining any of the companies concerned from laying the track. Service has been secured upon W. E. Case, the superintendent of the W. S. & A. Co., and upon F. E. Hawkes, the company's attorney.

A motion to vacate the injunction will probably be made within a very short time and it is claimed that the street car company has a good case on the merits.

The officers claim that the W. S. & A. company has a franchise granting it the right to lay a track in the center of Chemung street, together with necessary switches, sidings and turnoffs. They say they were merely exercising their right to connect up another piece of track which belonged to the company, and that it is merely a turn-off and is within the rights given to them by the franchise.

It was stated by a representative of the company this morning that the piece of track running through the Simmons lot is the property of the W. S. & A. company, and that the line of the Elmira, Corning & Waverly company ends near the Erie railroad, and does not extend out to the sidewalk line on Chemung street.

There is a provision in the franchise given the W. S. & A., however, that requires the company to get the grade from the village before any tracks of any kind are laid, and this little preliminary, it seems, was overlooked by the company before it attempted to lay the track last Friday shortly before midnight.

Service of injunction will be obtained upon all the officials of the various companies interested, and the right and wrong of the matter will be decided by the courts.

CONDUCTOR INJURED

Daniel Bentley of Sayre, a well known conductor on the Lehigh, met with a painful accident at Wysox on Thursday of last week, which will probably lay him up for some time. Bentley was in charge of an eastbound freight train and when it neared Wysox he went ahead to the engine. He jumped off at the station and as he struck the ground he stepped on a stone.

In order to prevent himself from falling underneath the engine he threw his body in the opposite direction, severely spraining the left ankle. He was brought to his home at this place, where he received medical attention, but has since been confined to the house.

Charles Decker, a resident of South River street, suffered a severe strain of the ligaments in the right knee joint while working in the shops on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Decker was engaged in repairing a car bumper when it fell on his leg.
