IN THE WORLD

Have you any idea who or where she is? The Sunday World of New York has located her, and next Sunday will tell about her. Among other features in a particularly interesting number will be a talk with Thomas A. Edison; the Revival of Baron Munchausen and his Adventures in New York; the story of how Mount McKinley, the highest peak on the Continent, has been scaled at last, and by a New Yorker; the true story of the marriage of Mrs. Howard Gould's sister to a Chinaman, a remarkable "History of Love," and many more articles of great attraction to every class of readers.

RECORD ADS PAY

Advertising in The Valley Record pays. Yesterday a woman residing in Waverly sent a small "For Rent" advertisement to The Record and it was printed in yesterday's edition. This morning, shortly after The Record office opened for business the telephone rang, and the woman ordered the advertisement discontinued. "Remember and not let the ad appear this evening," she said, "or I will be compelled to employ someone to answer telephone calls concerning it." If you want to reach the people use the columns of The Record.

TRESPASS SUIT IS DISCONTINUED

Plaintiff Fails to Show Up When Case is Called

The suit in trespass begun in Justice Carey's court by Joe Honis against Joe Beniet was discontinued yesterday, the plaintiff failing to put in an appearance. The case grew out of the stealing of Beniet's trunk containing a large sum of money. The day following the stealing of the trunk Beniet caused a search warrant to be issued. The instrument was placed in the hands of Chief of Police Walsh and the latter accompanied by Beniet went to the home of Honis on the East side. The chief says that when they went inside Beniet learned that Mrs. Beniet was ill and refused to proceed with the search. Honis, the woman's husband, however, disputes this story and says that Beniet went to the second story of the building and broke open several boxes in his search for the missing money. Honis says that Beniet's presence in the house caused his wife to become worse rapidly, and then he wanted damages. Yesterday, however, at the time set for the trial of the case he failed to appear. Therefore the suit was discontinued.

"EMMA BUNTING COMPANY"

The usual large audience greeted the "Emma Bunting Co." at both performances yesterday and all seemed well pleased with the performances. One of the greatest melodramas ever written, entitled "Tracked Around the World," will be presented tonight. Miss Bunting, in the character of a boy detective, Rob Roy, has a role to which she is admirably adapted, the story of the play requiring her to make 12 complete changes on her hasty flight through Spain, France, and the Orient. The staircase fight in the third act is one of the greatest climaxes ever attempted by any traveling organization. Special scenery and electrical effects are carried for the entire production. After the regular performance tonight, it is hoped that a couple will be married on the stage. This would surely be the novelty event of the season. Friday night ten choice building lots situated at New Riverhead, L. I., will be given away. Two handsome French poodles, pedigree stock, will also be given away on Saturday afternoon and evening.

PERSONAL MENTION

J. W. Grumme has gone to New York on business.

Attorney Paul E. Maynard was in town this forenoon on legal business.

County Commissioner M. J. McNulty was in Sayre today on business.

Clarence Blood of New York city, general freight agent of the Lehigh, is visiting his mother in Sayre.

Attorney Archer L. Laws and E. O. Pealer went to Homets Ferry this morning on the early morning train. They were equipped with hooks, lines, rods, etc., and it is presumed that they have gone fishing.

Hon. Mial E. Lilley, Republican candidate for Congress, is in Sayre today. Mr. Lilley is arranging for a political meeting to be held on Saturday night. It is understood that the Packer hose rooms have been engaged for this purpose.

LOCAL NEWS

Hunters report that pheasants are scarce.

Emma Bunting and her excellent company will present "Tracked Around the World" at the Loomis this evening.

Miss Isabel Lake of Binghamton will hold a service at the home of Nathan Grant on Third street, Milltown. All are welcome.

Engine No. 553 jumped the track at Cading siding last night. Only the wheels of the engine left the tracks, and no great amount of damage was done. The derailment was caused by the spreading of the rails.

The operators in the employ of the Lehigh Valley are agitating the question of higher wages. At the present time the average rate paid to operators is considered too low, and the men will probably ask for an increase.

Owing to the small attendance the meeting of the high school alumni last night the meeting was adjourned until Monday of next week at which time it is hoped that the attendance will be more representative of the association.

From now on every nice day will be spoken of as Indian Summer, but as a matter of fact that season of the year called Indian summer does not occur until November. Sometimes, however, it is conspicuous by its absence.

Efforts are being made to revive roller skating in Sayre, but the difficulty is in securing a hall for the purpose. The two large halls in Sayre have been fitted with floors for dancing and the owners will permit their use for no other purposes.

The funeral of Mildred Lockett, the two year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lockett of South Lehigh avenue, was held privately yesterday afternoon from the house. Mr. and Mrs. Lockett desire to express their sincere thanks to those who were so kind to them during their bereavement.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Hadlock, whose death occurred at Trenton, N. J., on Tuesday morning, was held this afternoon from the home of J. B. Knapp, the Rev. Will Kelley, of Athens, assisted by the Rev. Hannah of this place, officiating. The remains were taken to Tioga Point cemetery for interment.

Sayre is badly in need of a hall in which public meetings, of a political nature and otherwise, can be held. The pavilion at Oak Grove Park is the only place available at the present time. It is too far from the center of the town to draw a large crowd, except when a hair-raising drama is perpetrated at ten, twenty and thirty. Then the seating capacity is insufficient. A hall for public purposes would be a paying investment, and men who have the capital should get busy.

CITIZENS' COLUMN.

Editor Valley Record:

It has been a long time since there has been anything in Sayre that could be correctly styled a high class educational entertainment. It seems that some effort should be made to introduce lectures and amusements that will serve as an amusing pastime and at the same time call the attention of the people to matters of importance that are transpiring in the world about us. This should be done not only for the benefit of those who have reached a state of maturity, but it is a duty that the community owes to its younger members, whose minds are still in the formative period, and are open to suggestions, whether good or evil. The community should be awakened to an appreciation of the importance of such things. It would be difficult to mention anything that is of any greater benefit to the community than a good course of high grade lectures. This is a fact that is being recognized more widely as time passes, and lectures that are open to the people are a part of the regular curriculum of the schools in many of the large cities.

It seems that Sayre should follow the example of neighboring towns and have a good lecture course brought in this winter, and there seems to be no better organization for carrying out this work than the Sayre High School Alumni Association. If they will initiate the movement it seems that they would receive the hearty support and encouragement of the citizens of the borough.

A Citizen.

"THE PROUD PRINCE"

The eminent tragedian, Porter J. White, has come into his own, and will appear at the Loomis on Monday, October 22, in "The Proud Prince," a drama in four acts by Justin Huntley McCarthy. This great play has not been seen outside the large cities, and that Mr. White has been secured is due to the enterprise of his new managers, Messrs. Nixon & Zimmerman, who purchased the rights from E. H. Sothern after months of negotiating. Mr. White will appear in the role of Robert, the Bad, King of Sicily, a character which offers his genius full scope. The several scenes of the play are fine examples of stage craft, and the dressing of the piece is elaborate and expensive in every detail. The story told is the pursuit of Perpetua, an innocent mountain girl, by the Proud Prince Robert. She repulses him and seeks protection in a chapel. Robert follows her, and disdaining the presence of the priest, proclaims himself to be superior to God, whereupon he is stricken by a thunderbolt and transformed into the illshapen fool Diogenes, whose head Robert had threatened to have cut off. The next three acts show the transformed king seeking to prove himself the ruler of Sicily, only to be laughed at for his pains. His return to his original form is accomplished only after he has repented and saved the girl Perpetua from a fate worse than death. The climax which ends the play is at once striking and convincing and carries the moral of the work straight to the heart of every onlooker. A strong supporting company has been engaged for Mr. White, and a performance adequate in every respect is vouchsafed our theatregoers.
