FATAL WRECK AT TOWANDA YESTERDAY

Cars Plunged Over End of Trestle and One Man Killed

An accident on the construction work of the Lehigh Valley at Towanda yesterday resulted in the killing of one man and wrecking of several cars which were being used to draw gravel for a fill at the east end of the new bridge.

Early yesterday morning a string of seven cars was being pushed on to a trestle at the east end of the bridge by the D. S. & S. engine No. 9. In the center of the trestle which is 30 feet high, is a steep grade, and as the cars began descending a knuckle pin on the end car broke. The released car plunged forward and ran into two cars standing on the end of the trestle, on which two Italians employed by Mutchler & Son, were standing. One of them jumped off, but his companion was carried off the end of the trestle with the cars to the ground. He was found pinned beneath one of the cars, his chest having been crushed in. Death must have resulted instantly. The dead man's name was Angelo D. Donato, and he had only been in this community about fifteen months. He was taken to the rooms of a Towanda undertaker, but no inquest was deemed necessary. The accident caused consternation among the Italians. About 200 of them quit work, and up until this afternoon the officials in charge of the construction work had not been able to induce them to return. The killing of DeDonato frightened the Italians badly and it is probable that they will seek elsewhere for work.

MINI LILLEY AND THE LABORING MAN

Gompers Says That the Congressman from This District Is Unfair

Lilley says that he is a great friend to the working man and that he has always been found battling for their rights. There is a wide difference, however, between Mr. Lilley's claim and the opinion of Samuel Gompers, the president of the American Federation of Labor. Recently a well known official of a local labor organization, in order to satisfy himself on the subject, wrote to Mr. Gompers and received the following reply:

Dear Sir and Brother:
Your favor of October 2nd to hand and contents noted.
In reply would say that the only bills of interest to organized labor that were considered in the last session of Congress was the one which nullified the Eight Hour Law in the construction of the Panama Canal, and on this Bill Congressman Lilley is recorded as being paired in favor of nullifying the Eight Hour Law in the construction of that work.

After the adjournment of the last session of Congress, a document known as Labor's Bill of Grievance was submitted to the members with a request for a reply from them stating their attitude on matters enumerated therein. Many replies were received and were published in the September issue of the American Federationist. The members from whom no replies were received were furnished with a second copy together with a similar request. Up to the time of writing no reply has been received from Congressman Lilley. With this attitude favorable to the nullifying of the Eight Hour Law on the Panama Canal, and his refusal to reply to either of the communications sent him, does it not signify that if he is not hostile, he is at least indifferent to the demands of Labor.

Let the slogan go forth to our fellow workers and friends, and we urge that they act intelligently, unitedly and practically to accomplish the purpose they set for themselves—the enactment of their lawful demands.

Labor men often underestimate their own ability, and look up to those who are members of Congress as mortals of greatly superior qualities. It is true that many of our Congressmen are brilliantly brainy, but their brilliancy too often consists of tricky devices by which the people are hoodwinked, cajoled and tricked out of their rights. Some of the most brilliant speeches that are made in Congress have their beginning and ending for, of and by the dollar.

A number of workmen from the factory, workshop, farm, mill and mine would give a healthy tone to our Congressional and legislative halls and their sterling common sense, honesty of purpose and experience would surely inaugurate an era of plain, but honest legislation in the interests of the people.

Wherever possible, let labor elect its own men, but wisdom and foresight forbid the nomination of a labor man in a hopeless district, particularly when that action may result in the election of a man who is a known and persistent opponent to the cause of labor, of justice and right.

Let us stand by our friends, our true friends, not those who simply mouth their pretended friendship now, and whose past course has given their pretensions the lie.

Let us administer a stinging defeat to all men or parties who are either indifferent, negligent or hostile.

With best wishes, I am,
Fraternally yours,
SAMUEL GOMPERS,
President
American Federation of Labor.

CITIZENS' COLUMN. STANDING BY ROOSEVELT

Editor Valley Record:

We hear everywhere the despairing cry of the political pirates of Pennsylvania, begging Republicans to vote for their made-to-order gang candidate, Stuart, in order to "stand by Roosevelt."

When Roosevelt was making his heroic fight for the passage of the railroad rate bill this selfsame gang, acting under orders from Roosevelt's enemies, performed a remarkable feat in political gymnastics, and drove to the hilt the dagger of treachery in the back of Theodore Roosevelt.

William T. Creasey, the candidate for auditor general on the reform ticket, offered a strong resolution endorsing and encouraging the president in his fight. The gang tapped Creasey on the back and cried "Good, we will pass that resolution." The resolution was adopted easily, and then what happened? The enemies of the people summoned the gang at once. They were plainly told that they wanted no rate bill; they would stand for no endorsement of the president. Word was immediately passed along the gang line, a right about face was executed; the resolution endorsing Roosevelt was reconsidered and actually voted down with a hurrah, in spite of a determined stand by Creasey and his followers.

Now this is the crowd that asks you to vote for Stuart on the plea of "standing by Roosevelt."

Stuart, the gang candidate for governor did not have an instructed delegate at Harrisburg, yet Penrose, Andrews, McNichol & Co., imitating the Quay-Pennypacker stunt of four years ago, handed him the nomination without even the formality of a single ballot. The actual candidates before the convention, Watres and Thompson, were ordered to make his nomination unanimous; they were then permitted to go home with their delegates and prepare to execute further orders.

Mr. Root, Roosevelt's secretary of state and steadfast personal friend, calls this same gang "a criminal combination masquerading under the name of Republican."

Does any Republican honestly doubt that Theodore Roosevelt, had he a vote in Pennsylvania, would cast it for Lewis Emery, Jr.?

Why did the gang select Stuart as its candidate? When the thunders of reform rolled over this state, shaking the city of Philadelphia, where the fight waged fiercest, to its very center, Stuart was secretly plotting with the gang, or was too cowardly to raise a finger for the people. His reward for this was the gang nomination. He is now masquerading with the "criminal combination," and wants you to make him governor.

On the other hand, what of Lewis Emery, Jr.? He has been a steadfast champion of the people for more than a quarter of a century. Often the Standard Oil Company thought they had him crushed as they had crushed thousands of others, but he was up at them again. This heroic struggle has saved to the people of Pennsylvania, in the one single item of oil alone, millions of dollars.

Voters of Pennsylvania, your champion, he who has fought your fights for nearly a generation, is in a death struggle with our common foe. Will you rally to his support now? We believe you will. We believe that the chivalry of '61 is still alive in Pennsylvania's sons, and that they will give to Lewis Emery, Jr., on the 6th of next November, such a majority as will sound the death knell of political piracy in Pennsylvania for all time.

LEHIGH AFTER COAL THIEVES

Two Men Were Arrested Last Night and Others Are to Follow

Last night Constable Spencer Brougham arrested Alexander Craft and William Tillman, who reside in the vicinity of Milltown, on a charge of larceny preferred by T. B. Shaffer, special officer for the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company. Craft is charged with taking coal and wood from the company's property at Milltown, while Tillman is said to have three car doors belonging to the Lehigh in his possession. At this season of the year the Lehigh officials are persistently annoyed by persons who pick up coal along the tracks. The majority of them, it is said, do not stop at taking coal lying on the tracks, but go on the loaded cars and carry the fuel away in large quantities. The company is determined to put a stop to this practice. Craft and Tillman will be given hearings this afternoon before Justice Carey.

ALUMNI TO GIVE LECTURE COURSE

The Sayre high school alumni association held a meeting at the high school hall last evening when it was decided to give a lecture course this winter. The course will consist of high class educational lectures and entertainments by musicians and impersonators. There will be five numbers on the program and they will all be strictly high class. One of the lectures will be by S. W. Gillilan, the man who writes much of the funny stuff that appears in Judge, America's most humorous publication. Another lecturer whose services have been obtained is Frank Dixon, one of the most interesting lecturers on the American platform today. The whole course will cost only $1, provided that a ticket for the whole course is purchased. The course will be a rare treat and all should take advantage of it.

"KING" KELLEY LIQUIDATED FINE

Prince of Bums Is Said to Have Fallen Heir to a Fortune

For the first time since his appearance in Sayre about nine years ago "King" Kelley yesterday afternoon liquidated his year for being drunk and disorderly. During those nine years the "King" has made frequent visits here and each time has succeeded in getting into jail. Shortly after the firemen's parade the "King" was gathered in by the vigilant police, and after being given an opportunity to get sober he was ordered out of town and told to never return. Disregarding the notice, the "King" appeared in Sayre yesterday. He was accompanied by his usual load of peaches, a new suit of clothes, shoes, hat, etc. Since his last appearance here dame fortune is said to have smiled on the "King" in the shape of a $17,000 estate bequeathed to him by a relative. The story of the fortune may or may not be true, but at any rate when he was arraigned before Justice Nelson yesterday afternoon on a charge of drunkenness and fined one dollar and costs, he pulled forth a wad and contributed to the borough treasury.
