The president's cabinet is still in the field. Most of the cabinet officers have done strenuous campaign work.

Although reports from the various states indicate that as a resuft of the election an ample working majority of Republicans will be returned to congress, there are varying indications as and California, where there is an Independence league ticket in the field, the and his seven men had breakfasted Republicans, on the other hand, expect through the courtesy of the crew of the to win by increased majorities. Few, , however, share Mr. Griggs' opinion, and it is generally believed that the next house will be of the same political complexion as the present one

The situation in New Jersey, it is said, is likely to develop surprises, and many of the politicians admit that they are unable to make confident predictions. HUGE MASSES OF NETAL RAIN DOWN

Had Polling Stars Happened to Have Hit the Vessel," Said Captain Fitzgerald, "Every Soul Would Have Been Destroyed."

"On Tuesday afternoon," said Chief Officer V. E. Spencer, who was on the bridge when the meteors appeared, the weather was clear and bright, although there was little sunshine. Just after one bell, 4:30 o'clock, I saw three meteors fall into the water dead ahead of the ship one after another at a distance of about five miles. Although it was daylight, they left a red streak in the air from zenith to the horizon.

"Simultaneously the third engineer shouted to me. I then saw a huge me eor on the port beam falling in a zigzag manner less than a mile away to the southward.

"We could distinctly hear the hissing of the water as it touched. It fell with a rocking motion, leaving a broad red streak in its wake. The meteor must have weighed several tons and appeared to be from ten to fifteen feet in diameter. It was saucer shaped, which probably accounted for the peculiar rocking motion.

"When the mass of metal struck the rater the spray and steam rose to a height of at least forty feet and for a few moments looked like the mouth of Republican State Chairman William a crater. If it had been night the meteor would have illuminated the sea for fifty or sixty miles. The hissing sound, like escaping steam, when it struck the water was so loud that the chief engineer turned out of his berth and came on deck, thinking the sound came from the engine room. I have seen meteors all over the world, but never such a large one as this." Asked what would have happened if the meteor tumbled on the St. Andrew, Mr. Spencer said: "The ship would have been burned out immediately and every soul on board destroyed. I have no doubt that many of the vessels which have been lost at sea in apparently fine weather have been destroyed by falling meteors." Red Men Win Land From Whites. Special Wool Offer WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.-The supreme
