DELANEY CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS

Stole Overcoat Belonging to Dennis Creegan and Is Apprehended While Trying to Get Away

Frank W. Delaney, who says that he is a married man and resides at Scranton, was taken to Towanda this morning by Constable Spencer Brougham and confined in the county jail to await the action of the grand jury which sits the latter part of this month.

According to Delaney's own story he came to Sayre yesterday forenoon and went into the barroom of the Bradford house on Thomas avenue. He asked permission to wash his face and hands, and while performing these ablutions it is alleged that he took an overcoat belonging to Dennis Creegan, a roudhouse employe who boards at the Bradford house. Creegan missed his overcoat a few minutes after Delaney left the hotel. Creegan in company with John Boland started after Delaney, and after a diligent search found him near the Southern Central tracks. He had Creegan's overcoat on, but when he saw that he was pursued he took the coat off and attempted to hide it. Creegan and his companion in the meantime had caught up with Delaney, and having seen him with the coat took him in custody and later turned him over to Officer Brougham. The officer brought him to Justice Carey's office where a warrant, charging larceny, was issued and Delaney was arrested. He demanded a hearing, but offered no defense except that he had plenty of clothing at home and did not need to steal an overcoat. He was held to the grand jury in the sum of $200 bail, and being unable to furnish the same was taken to Towanda this morning. The coat, which Creegan recovered, was valued at $12.

KIPP'S MAJORITY REACHES 683

Democratic Candidate for Congress Has Made Great Gain Since Yesterday.

The latest returns from official sources places Kipp's majority at 683 in the district, or nearly four hundred more than was claimed by Mr. Kipp's campaign managers when The Record went to press yesterday afternoon. The victory for Mr. Kipp is thus complete and decisive. He has accomplished a wonderful change about in the fourteenth congressional district. In previous years the Republican candidates for congress have been given majorities ranging from 7,000 to 10,000. Two years ago Mr. Lilley was elected by a majority of nearly 5,000. He was opposed by M. B. Packard, of Windfall, this county, and but little effort was made to support Mr. Packard.

SAYRE BOROUGH NEEDS A LOCKUP

The Present Is Absolutely Unfit for Use

Sayre borough is badly in need of a lockup, a place in which to confine prisoners who are being held for trial or who are awaiting transportation to the county seat. The present lockup is absolutely unfit for occupancy. To say nothing of the army of bugs that infest the place, the building is cold and uninhabitable. At this season of the year when the nights are chilly prisoners confined in the lockup suffer from exposure to the elements. The stove which is presumed to be there for the purpose of warming the place is said to be worthless and gives out no heat. Last night a man named Delaney, who was held yesterday to the grand jury, occupied one of the cells. This morning he was found almost numb from the cold and could scarcely speak. There is nothing right in this sort of treatment. While it is not expected that a jail should be equipped with all the comforts of home, at the same time jails never were intended to be of a character that will endanger the health of those who are compelled to occupy them. This matter should be taken up by the borough authorities at once. If we are not to have a town hall right along, there should be some provision made for a comfortable place in which to confine prisoners during the coming winter months.

SMITH HELD TO COURT

James Smith, who was arrested on Friday of last week, charged with cutting timber on the lands of T. P. Maney, and converting the same to his own use, was this morning held to the next court of quarter sessions by Justice Carey. Attorney A. A. Laws appeared for Mr. Smith while the commonwealth was represented by Attorney Paul Maynard. Mr. Laws submitted no evidence in behalf of his client but contended that his client had committed no crime on the ground that growing timber is a part of the reality and therefore incapable of theft.

BUSTER BROWN

Buster Brown, with his faithful pal, Tige, and forty others, mostly girls, will come to the Loomis for one night Tuesday Nov. 13th. As a "play actor" Buster has been a success from the start. Two Buster Brown companies are now on the road playing to crowded houses. The original Buster himself will play in Waverly.

As the story runs, Buster Brown's father is a retired merchant. Having failed in business, and failed "rich" he has plenty of money and is able to pay spot cash for the damages committed by Buster and Tige during their revels from day to day.

The dear mother-in-law, whom the father does not love as much as he would like to, plays an important part in the story. Like most mothers-in-law she is ambitious and wants Buster's father to go into politics. She fancies that such a move would make him a power in the world and ultimately take them to Washington, where she hopes to shine in Society with the Four Hundred, the admiration of millionaires and visiting kings at the White House.

To this Buster Brown's father objects. He is loaded down with money and prefers the quiet life which all rich young men revel in. Fortunately, Buster's older sister relieves the situation. She is engaged to an up-to-date man who parts his hair in two places in the middle, clips his sentences according to the fashion of the smart set and really longs to enter politics and lift the family name from the vulgar mire of commerce and finance.

Buster, the little philosopher and child of nature, heartily favors his sister's sweetheart.

Such is the situation when the committee of great men, genuine pillars in the party arrive at the Buster Brown mansion to notify the retired merchant that they propose to nominate him for the highest office in town, Mayor of Brownsville.
