One of the other children of the house was ill and Mrs. Adamy was preparing to give him a dose of the aconite. She left the room for a moment and left the bottle of the medicine sitting on the table. When she returned she found that the boy had taken a teaspoonful. Dr. Reese was hurriedly summoned and upon his arrival he administered an antidote and kept the boy awake until the danger point had passed.

TAXES SHOULD BE EQUALIZED

Next Legislature Should Give This Matter Serious Attention.

(Communicated)
Editor The Valley Record:

Now that the excitement of election is over, and people have settled down once more to business, it occurs to me, in view of the fact that all parties at the recent election were pledged to reform the unequal and unjust discrimination in the taxation of property for municipal purposes that the present is a very opportune time to urge the fulfillment of this pledge.

I do not believe in reforms just before election, when every voter is excited and more or less prejudiced against certain candidates, no matter what party they belong to. I do believe in reforms and passing laws beneficial to the people, and that reform should take place after the election, for the people then use calm and mature judgment upon the laws that they wish to have passed that will benefit the people at large.

Under our present laws, and the decisions of our courts, all railroad, canal, telegraph, gas and water companies, and all other great public corporations, bear no portion of the taxes, for country, city, borough or township purposes, except in the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburg, although in very many municipalities, such corporations own a very large proportion of the property.

It is but just and fair, while our laws, as at present constitute, require each municipality to conduct its affairs and pay all expenses from the taxes received upon property within its territory, that we should have the right to tax all property alike within such territory for municipal purposes.

Again, it is just, fair and equitable that all parties should be treated alike, and that no person, whether an individual or a corporation should have special privileges or exemptions. No good reason can possibly be given why the real estate owned by a railroad corporation or by any other corporation, should not bear its proportion of the public burden equally with the real estate owned by a private person.

The State of New York and the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburg are to-day collecting and receiving taxes upon all the real estate of railroad corporations, the same as on private owners. Why should the other municipalities of the state be deprived of the same privileges enjoyed by Philadelphia and Pittsburg?

Many of our counties, cities, boroughs and townships are struggling to raise the necessary amounts to properly carry on the business required of them and are taxing the owners of property to the very limits in order to accomplish this end, when if the property of corporations could be made to bear its equal and just part of taxation, sufficient could easily be raised, and at the same time the rate of taxation lowered, thus relieving the people of much unnecessary burden and hardship.

It seems entirely unnecessary to argue the justice of this measure, all who think on the subject for a moment will admit its absolute fairness and justice. In fact the people generally demand it and all parties have promised to enact a law to establish equal and just taxation. We must not suppose that such a law will be enacted, however, without the public generally demanding it and insist upon it. It can only be accomplished by united and systematic and untiring effort, upon the part of the public generally. Business Men's Association, Boards of Trade of towns and cities and all Societies formed for the good of the public or of the locality where such society exists, should take the matter up at once, see their State Senators and Representatives in the Legislature and urge them to support such a measure; pass resolutions urging them to use all honorable means to secure the enactment of such a law.

Do not suppose for one moment this measure will or can be passed without effort. Every interested corporation in the commonwealth will fight it with all the power at their command. Let no one underestimate this power. Their forces are most formidable and can only be beaten by united, systematic and long continued and persistent effort. Now is the time to organize for the fight. Let every club, society, business men's association and board of trade pass a resolution similar to the following:—

Resolved, That our State Senator and Members of Assembly, be instructed and most earnestly requested to use every honorable means to secure the enactment of a law making all property owned by any and all corporations the subject of taxation for local or municipal purposes the same as similar property owned by individuals, or natural persons. I feel deeply upon the subject and trust your organization will take the matter up at once and act vigorously and promptly.

Yours very truly,
Wm. Cross,
Burgess of Sayre.
