Forty-three Go Down With Seattle Steamer.

$80,000.00 HIT BY JEANIE NEAR ALKI POINT.

Lost Vessel When Struck Amidship Listed Heavily to Port and Sank Immediately, Stern First. In Deep Water.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 20. - The steamer Dix, Captain P. Lermou. bound from Seattle to Port Blakeley with passengers, sauk two miles north of Alki point after having collided with the steamship Jeanie, Captain P. H. Mason, of the Alaska Coast company during the early evening. Fortythree passengers and men of the crew of the Dix are missing, and thirtyeight were saved. The Dix is a total wreck, as she went down in 100 fathoms of water. The Jeanle was not injured in the least, and no member of The constant repetition her crew was lost. The master of the Dix was saved.

The collision occurred while the sound was almost as smooth as a mill pond and after the boats had been steaming within sight of each other for a quarter of an bour. The Jeanie was backing when she collided with the Dix, and the impact was very slight. The Dix was struck abaft of amidships on the starboard side. She listed heavily to port for a brief period, righted herself, then sank stern first. There was hardly time to launch life rafts or boats before she was almost cutirely submerged. Passengers jumped from the decks into the water, women screamed, and officers and men called orders that could hardly be heard above the din. The passengers from the Dix who could swim made their way to the sides of the Jeanie and were dragged aboard. The Jeanie was not moved until after picking up several who had managed to stay above water. The Jeanle had started for Tacoma just about the same time the Dix left the Flier dock for Port Blakeley. When within about two miles north of Alki point the two steamers were within a short distance of each other, steaming along converging lines. The captain of the Jeanle says he signaled for the Dix to pass nity. him, and his whistle was answered. The Dix was then within speaking distance of the Jeanle and to the port of "The explosion of a bomb in St. Peter's, where heretofore there has never been the least attempt at anarchist disorders, is a crime of great malignity and audacity and has caused serious apprehension throughout the Catholic world." The pope has received personal letters containing threats that he will be assassinated in the apostolic palace as a protest against the present organization of society. The anarchists, it is added, are ready to employ every means to destroy all institutions supported by religion or by military forces.

This announcement, coming so close ly on the explosion of a bomb in St. Peter's, has caused a great sensation in official and church circles. The report was current that Pope Pius was to be present at the anniversary services of the dedication of the basilica, but this was not true. Cardinal Rampolla, formerly papal secretary of state, took part in the services in the

MOOSE LAKE MURDER

Gillette on Trial For Death of Grace Brown.

That Interfered With Work. Miss Benedict's Name Brought In.

HERKIMER, N. Y., Nov. 20.-District Attorney Ward made a good becountries into closer and lasting rela- ginning in the examination of witnesses in the trial of Chester F. Gillette on The occasion was the twelfth annual the charge of murdering Grace Brown banquet given by the Kansas City at Big Moose lake, in the Adirondacks, Commercial club in commemoration of Nineteen out of the 100 witnesses subthe signing of the John Jay commer- poenaed for the case took the stand cial treaty. Five hundred plates were during the day's proceedings, and, laid, and many notable persons were while they were ordered to remain in court until further orders, it is not likely that many of them will be recalled. Mr. Ward said that he had no doubt but the case would go to the jury this

Probably the most interesting testimony was that of Albert D. Raymond, who conducts a little summer resort near Cortland. He described an evening boat ride which Gillette and Miss Brown had at his place about June 15. nearly a month before the occurrence on Big Moose lake which led to Gillette's arrest.

Gillette asked for a round bottomed boat and was supplied with one.

The witness had said that many persons were afraid to venture in round bottom boats, and in answer to the district attorney he said that boats of that description tipped over much more easily than flat bottomed boats.

Harold Gillette, who is superintendent of the factory in which Grace Brown and Gillette were employed, testified that he told Gillette it was "bad, business" to call frequently upon a girl whom he would not take out in

Miss Ella Hong, Gillette's aunt and pay mistress at the factory, testified that she also spoke to Gillette about keeping company with Miss Brown doing so.

Several young women employed in the factory, including Miss Theresa Harnishfeger, Miss Theresa Dillon and Miss Ella Melvin, testified that Gillette spent so much time about Grace Brown's table that neither of them did the amount of work expected of them. Miss Harnishfeger said that she admonished Gillette about calling on Miss Brown when he was keeping company with another girl and that Gillette replied, "Oh, I'm having my fun out of it!" It was at this point in the trial that the name of Miss Harriett Benedict was first mentioned. Miss Episcopal church until such time as Harnishfeger testified that she had his teachings conform to the doctrines seen Gillette and Miss Benedict out to- of the Apostles' and Nicene creeds.
