"For Her Sister's Sin" at the Loomis this evening, with high class specialties between the acts.

The Cradoc-Neville Repertoire company will present "For Her Sister's Sin" at the Loomis this evening.

Every merchant in Sayre should secure his share of the November and December business. This can be done by using the columns of The Valley Record.

Hon. J. T. Sawyer will give an interesting talk on his recent trip to Alaska in the Baptist church at Waverly, Wednesday evening, Nov. 21 at 8:15. Admission 25 cents.

The young men and ladies of St. Joseph's church will hold a euchre and social evening at Pharmacy hall, West Sayre, Thursday evening, Nov. 27, for the benefit of the church. A large attendance is desired.

Carpenters are engaged in repairing the borough lock-up. The building will be lowered to the ground and "banked up" for the winter. Alterations will be made on the interior and it is expected when the work is completed that the building will serve the purpose of a lock-up during the winter months.

HOUSE CROWDED, EXCELLENT SHOW

Cradoc-Neville Company Gave a Fine Performance at the Loomis Last Night

The Cradoc-Neville repertoire company gave its initial performance at the Loomis last night to a crowded house. This is the first time that the company has appeared in this section and it made an instantaneous hit. "Shadows of New York," a melodrama in four acts was the bill and it was staged and handled in a most excellent manner. There were four big vaudeville numbers, and nothing finer in this line has been seen at Loomis with a popular price company. Melvin's Midget Animal Circus is alone worth the price of admission. Mr. Melville has two trick ponies, a dozen or more dogs and several monkeys, all of which are trained to perfection. The trick pony is without doubt the best that has ever been seen here, and does tricks for his master that seem to display almost human intelligence. Edmonds & Smith, acrobats and high barrell jumpers, also gave a first class exhibition of talent, while Miss Enid Delle, a singing and dancing soubrette, captivated the audience. All in all the Cradoc-Neville company is far and away the strongest melodramatic combination that has appeared at the Loomis in many moons. The theatre should be crowded the remainder of the week. This evening "For Her Sister's Sin" will be the attraction, with the usual high class specialties between the acts, and it should be greeted with a crowded house.

COMING SOON

Unquestionably the best show that has been at the Lyceum in recent years is "The Mummy and the Humming Bird," which opened on Thursday afternoon and which continues throughout the week. The cast is headed by W. A. Whitecar, who essays the part made famous by John Drew. It is really hard to imagine even John Drew making more of the part or handling it any more cleverly than does Mr. Whitecar. Henry Carl Lewis in the character part of an Italian, is masterly, and Amanda Wellington as the wife of the Mummy could scarcely be improved upon. W. J. Townsend, Leo Herbert White and Rachael Sanderson fill most creditable roles which do not give them full opportunity of displaying their capabilities. The production is most artistic throughout and the play itself is one of the masterpieces of recent years.—Toledo Blade.

LUNCH WAGON CLOSED

The lunch wagon which has been operated by Johnson & Brews on North Lehigh avenue for several weeks has closed its doors, and the wagon and its contents has been attached for various debts contracted by the firm. F. E. Seager and Ray Allen are the complainants. Mr. Seager's bill being for groceries and Mr. Allen for services rendered.

LOOKING FOR HIS WIFE

A Laceyville man was in Sayre last night looking for his wife who left the former place several days ago in company with a man who was no her husband. The latter who arrived here last night after a fruitless search declared that if he could lay hands on both the man and woman there would be something doing.

SOCIALIST MEETING

There will be a special meeting of the Socialist local tomorrow evening at the usual place. Steps preparatory to putting a ticket in the field for the next election will be taken, and it is the desire of the officers that every member be present.

PERSONAL MENTION

Hon. E. M. Dunham is at Towanda today attending county court.

Mrs. Aaron Wood of Scranton is visiting at the home of Frank Mead.

PROGRESSIVE EUCHRE

T. J. Leahy, Doctors Cummings and Higgins and Miss June Balch of this place, attended the progressive euchre party given at the home of Dr. Dodd in Athens last evening. Eight tables were played and the Sayre party report a most enjoyable time. Mr. Leahy won the prize despite the fact that he is an amateur and was never known to gamble before in all his life. In fact it has never been supposed that he could tell the deuce of clubs from the tray of diamonds, but he handled the pasteboards last night like an old war horse, and did not need a basket to do the shuffling. The prize was a handsome hand painted plate, on one side of which was a partridge, natural as life, and when Mr. Leahy saw the bird he yelled with delight. He is particularly fond of partridge and the prize is therefore of double value to him. When it is taken into consideration that he was playing against old timers, who handle the cards like professionals, Mr. Leahy's victory is particularly gratifying to him. An excellent lunch was served to the guests and every one declare that they had a most delightful time, although they are unable to explain how an amateur should be so lucky.

LOCAL NEWS

With eggs at 32 cents a dozen, butter at 30 cents per pound, and poultry fetching prices that are almost prohibitive, the average farmer ought not to find trouble in enjoying life!

CHILDREN BARRED

The postoffice department has decided that children going to and from school shall not be allowed to get the mail for their parents. The postoffice habit among the children has become a nuisance according to the department, both to the public and the postmaster, to say nothing of the chances taken in the proper delivery of mail to the person to whom it belongs.

GRAND JURY'S PARTIAL REPORT

No Indictments Found in Two Cases Which Were Sent From Sayre

The grand jury made a partial report to court yesterday afternoon. It is understood that the jury failed to indict James Smith, charged with larceny, and Joe Cooper, charged with forcible entry and burglary. Both of these were Sayre cases.

The case of the Italians charged with the murder of Eugene Messenger at Athens last summer, will come before the present grand jury. District Attorney Mills has been at work on the case but the result of his investigations of course, have not been divulged.

NEW EXPERIMENT

With the end in view of making the engines do double the work they have been doing the Lehigh Valley officials at the Coxton yard will put a new plan into effect as an experiment. The engines in the freight department are coaled with a mixture of bituminous and buckwheat coal. Heretofore the supply has been dumped without mixing into the tenders of the engines, and the fireman has had the work of getting the best combination of coal. In most cases he had to throw the coal into the furnace of the engine just as he found it.

The best results of the combination therefore were not obtained. Now the officials will see to it that the coal is thoroughly mixed before it is thrown into the tender of the engine.
