"Anna Moore," the central character of "Way Down East" has perhaps received from the public more sympathetic expressions and heartfelt regrets over her treatment, than any character of fiction of modern times. Her simple story, her grief and anguish; her spirited denunciation of the man who took advantage of her innocence; her triumph and the prospect of peace and happiness for her as the curtain falls—all go to make up a pretty, unaffected and direct play. The date of production here is Saturday, Dec. 8.

NEW PRIMARY LAW CAUSING TROUBLE

Politicians and Others Interested Are Unable to Interpret It

The new primary law which passed at the extra session of the legislature last winter is a source of considerable annoyance and anxiety to those who follow the political game and are interested in the conduct of the municipal elections. So far as borough elections are concerned the law is rather vague, and is likely to prove unsatisfactory. It is contended that it gives the right to the borough whether it shall use the new law or conduct the primaries under the old. In several of the counties of the Commonwealth the commissioners are deciding that the new primary election law shall not apply to the nomination of candidates for borough and township offices. The law gives the commissioners no such authority and the state department advises that they have no business to decide the matter. The conclusion will probably be reached that if any party in a borough or township desires to make its nominations for local officers under the new system it will have to be permitted to do so, and the commissioners will be required to provide the facilities and arrange for paying the expenses. This is substantially the ruling of the secretary of the Commonwealth and for the present there is no higher authority.

While there is no doubt that the new law gives townships and boroughs the privilege of holding primaries under the new law or the old, as they desire, there is considerable speculation as to how to decide the matter. Although the law makes the foregoing provision and gives the township or borough the choice of either the new or the old, it as a question as to who shall decide. It would appear, however, that if the electors of any borough or township desire to make nominations for the coming spring election under the new primary act, then they should signify such desire and intention by filing with the county commissioners petitions for nominations, which must be done at least seven weeks before the time for holding the primaries. If such petitions are not filed with the commissioners no ballots will be provided for use under the new primary law, and the primaries cannot be held under the same, but will have to be conducted according to the old system, that is in the manner prescribed before the passage of the new act. It is asserted that in the event of any of the candidates filing a petition it will suffice to place the law in operation. In the event of others wanting to maintain the present system, the matter would be then thrown into the courts for them to adjust.

CLUB DINNER

The game is here, and it is very hard to decide who is the greatest hunter, there are "birds" of all sorts, also animals. John R. Druggan contributes two of the great American hogs. The bill of fare will be mixed, roast pig, turkey, chicken, rabbit and partridge; and some of them were really wild. All members should turn out for there is bound to be a big time and a big dinner. Some of the boys could not get out to hunt, but they are expected to get out tonight by all means. Come and let us have a rousing old time.
 W. W. Shaw, Secretary.

COUNCIL MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the borough council will be held on Monday evening. It is expected that the borough attorney will have prepared the amendment to the sewer ordinance, but it is doubtful if the matter will be in shape to close up on account of the arrangement for passing the sewer underneath the Lehigh tracks still hangs fire.

MINIONS OF THE LAW WERE PRESENT

Rev. E. W. DeWitt Preached Farewell Sermon Under Protection of the Police

The Rev. E. W. DeWitt, well known to readers of the newspapers in Waverly, Sayre and Athens, having been a pastor of the Baptist church in the latter place for several years, will leave Scranton, where he has been for the last year. Mr. DeWitt preached his last sermon in the North Avenue Baptist church at that place on Sunday evening, and as he preached blue-uniformed members of the city's police force occupied pews in various parts of the church edifice. In other words the corpulent pastor preached his last sermon with the minions of the law as his protectors. Mr. DeWitt defiantly stated that he was going to Erie, this state, and that the good members of the congregation to whom he was to preach the gospel, will permit him to attend ball games, if he desires, and that the deacons will go with him. The congregation of the Scranton church gave Mr. DeWitt a farewell reception and presented him a purse well filled with lucre. Mr. DeWitt, as is well known, carries a superabundance of averdupois and it appears that he has fought the battle to a finish.

PIG WAS MISSING

There was weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth among the members of the Sayre City Club last night. The members are arranging for a game dinner to be held this evening. For the past week the woods hereabouts have been filled with hunters and all kinds of birds and animals, both wild and tame, have been brought in by the sportsmen. Among other things that have been captured for the dinner was a small pig and no end of rabbits. The pig was provided for roasting purposes and last night it was properly dressed and lain away in the refrigerator at the club house grill until such time as it was to be toasted over the coals. This morning, however, when Mr. Shaw, the manager of the club, went to the refrigerator, he discovered that the pig and also two rabbits were missing. The appearance of the refrigerator denoted that a thief had been at work and as he left indisputable evidence of his identity behind he was quickly caught. When confronted with the horrible crime he broke down and confessed. He said that he had not done the actual thieving himself but that he had employed an unscrupulous Hungarian to do the job. He said that it had been years since he had tasted parboiled pig and when he discovered how easy it would be to purloin this one he could not resist the temptation. Upon promising to be present at the dinner to be given this evening, and to tell the members of the club just how the pig was stolen, he was told to go and sin no more as the proprietor of the club refuses to prosecute.

WILL PLEAD GUILTY

Lyman Heeman, Jr., who was committed to the county jail by Justice Carey is wanted on four different charges. He has already been indicted on two of these charges and when he arrived at Towanda yesterday stated to Constable Brougham that he intended to plead guilty to them all. By doing this and saving the county the expense of a trial he will doubtless get a considerable lighter sentence. As it is, however, the slippery Lyman, Jr., ought to receive a rather stiff sentence.

THE MUMMY AND THE HUMMING BIRD

Will Be Presented at the Loomis This Evening

"The Mummy and the Humming Bird," to be presented at Loomis Opera House tonight by Jules Murry's Own Company with William A. Whitecar in the role of Lord Lumley, and Henry Carl Lewis, as Giuseppe, the organ grinder, may be properly described as a comedy that contains the possibilities of a tragedy, had its incidents been treated by the author in a different and less delicate manner but, as its theme and situations have been logically developed, and its complications brought to a happy ending, the unfolding of its plot is accompanied by an increased interest that may be attributed to the very uncertainty that shadows the events as they transpire until the desirable denouement is reached. The reputation that has been won by the play rests in a measure upon the large number of good parts it contains, each of the characters being sufficiently strong in itself to constitute a star role in an ordinary production. The company consists of artists whose individual talent, it is claimed, ranks them high in artistic merit, therefrom resulting a performance which is everywhere described as wellnigh perfect in its ensemble.

RESOLUTIONS

Whereas, It has pleased our Heavenly Father in His all-wise providence to take from our midst our esteemed friend and sister, Emma Hudson, it is but a just tribute to the memory of the departed to say that in the death of Sister Hudson our order has lost a worthy member, one who was ever ready to proffer the hand of aid and the voice of sympathy to all who were in need or in sorrow, one whose noble and upright life is a standard of emulation for her sisters in this lodge. Therefore be it Resolved, By Lady Willard Rebekah Lodge No. 131, I. O. O. F., that while we mourn with those who are near to her by family ties, we share with them the hope of a reunion in that better world where partings are unknown.

Resolved, That the members of the lodge extend to the bereaved family their sincere and heartfelt sympathy in their deep affliction, and commend them to Him who doeth all things well, and whose chastisements are meant in mercy.

Resolved, As a mark of respect, that the charter of the lodge be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days and that these resolutions be spread upon the records of the lodge, a copy be sent to the bereaved family and printed in the daily papers.

Res. A. Swartwood, Ida Thomas, Bells Haverly, Committee.
