Woman Champion Mountaineer. Mrs. Bullock-Workman, the intrepid explorer, who has won fame by her climbing feats in the Himalayas, now holds the world's record for mountain climbing. She has scaled a height of 23,150 feet in the Nun Kun range. The ascent was continued by cutting steps in an ice wall. Mrs. Bullock-Workman left her husband at 22,500 and continued the ascent accompanied by a guide and a porter.

A Daily Thought. There is but one straight road to success, and that is merit. The man who is successful is the man who is useful. Capacity never lacks opportunity. It cannot remain undiscovered, because it is sought by too many anxious to utilize it. A capable man on earth is more valuable than any precious deposit under the earth, and the object of a much more vigilant search.—W. Bourke Cockran.

Authorized by Shakespeare. Shakespeare has "left" for "sixth" Doubtless he so pronounced it, for he was credited with having written the three parts of "Henry the Sixth," and he certainly wrote "The Life of Henry the Fifth," as the old edition has it. And it is worthy of notice that "fifth" and "sixth" are the Anglo-Saxon forms of "Fifth" and "Sixth" respectively.

Peculiar Centipede. C. W. Anderson and H. P. C. Melville, two officers of the British department of lands and mines, who have been exploring British Guiana, report discovering a species of centipede, two or three inches long, which has a red light in its head and a series of 11 or 12 white phosphorescent spots along its body, one to each segment.

A Woman's Simple Life Card. To be tender, to be kind, to be able to bear our trials bravely, to decide without prejudice, to look for the beautiful and the good in the precious common things about us; to let the soap of inward trust and peace rise to our lips and permeate our lives—this is the simple life.—Ruth Sterry.

Spartan Upbringing. Lord Kitchener's father, who was rather a Spartan parent, was also a soldier; but in Ireland he turned his attention to breeding pigs as a source of income. Kitchener and his brother had to drive the pigs to market. They were sent off without breakfast, and had to do without their meal on their return if their pigs remained unsold.

Distinctive Dress for Waiters. New York hotel proprietors and the officers of some clubs are seriously considering the matter of compelling waiters to wear blue cloth dress suits, in order that they might be distinguished from the guests, whose evening attire is precisely the same as that worn by the food throwers.

Rabbit's Motherly Devotion. A trapper going his rounds at Leeds-town, Cornwall, came upon a rabbit nursing her little ones, and lying on her side to do so, while she was evidently in excruciating pain. Her two forelegs were broken and bleeding, and securely held in a steel trap.

ROUMANIA HAS SHOW

KING CHARLES' ACCESSION TO THRONE IS REMEMBERED.

Fortieth Anniversary of Event Celebrated with First Exposition in History of the Country—Capital Decorated.

London—Bucharest, the capital of Rumania, is gay this fall with an exposition, the first in its history. It is held in honor of the fortieth anniversary of the accession to the throne of King Charles.

The exposition was nominally opened on June 19, but as a matter of fact it was not until October that the plans for the exposition were fully realized. When it was opened only one or two of the buildings were finished. The others have been opened one by one, as completed. The last was the French pavilion, and it was only thrown open to the public in the last week of September.

The exposition is officially described as the First General Rumanian exposition, France, Austria and Hungary are the only foreign nations that participate in it.

From the beginning it was planned that the exposition should be distinctly Rumanian. Even in the exhibition halls, where the requirements of machinery and the conditions requisite for displaying objects advantageously compel the adoption of modern forms, the spirit of the old national style of architecture is imparted to the buildings by the choice of materials and the details of ornamentation.

The artistic display is regarded as one of the most successful features of the exposition. It consists largely of historical works of art in silver and gold and of ancient embroidery and pictures largely brought together from old Rumanian cloisters and churches.

One of the most striking exhibits is the memorial of the siege of Plevena in the Turco-Russian war of 1877. This consists in the first place of the chapel of Grivitz, dedicated to the memories of those who fell during the siege. There is also a full sized reproduction of the peasant's hut at Poradim in which the Prince Charles of that period, the present king, had his headquarters during the siege. Besides this there is a model in relief of the besieged fortress and the country surrounding it.

Other characteristic Rumanian buildings are the Koula, an ancient Boyard house, half farm, half fortress, and also the reproduction of the Tepes Voda, an old feudal castle of semi-oriental type. Besides these there are cabins and cottages of the Rumanian and Transylvanian peasants in which people wearing the national costumes are established, including a scattering of gypsies, to give true local color to the representation of Balkan life.

King Charles is 67 years old. He was married to the Princess Pauline Elizabeth Otilie Louise of West in 1869. She was crowned queen of Rumania along with him in 1881, and is known officially as Queen Elizabeth. She is known to the whole world, however, as Carmen Sylva, the author of "Thoughts of a Queen," "Shadows on Life's Dial," "A Real Queen's Fairy Book" and countless other stories, sketches and plays.

The couple had only one daughter, who died in 1874 at the age of four years. King Charles' successor will be his nephew, Prince Ferdinand Victor, second son of his brother. He is married to a semi-English princess, Marie of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha. They have two sons, Princes Charles and Nicholas, and two daughters, Princesses Elizabeth and Marie.

Of British birds the following are said to be in the greatest danger of extinction: The chough, golden oriole, hoopoe, osprey, kite, buzzard, bittern and ruf.

Enjoying a Nice Long Nap. Berlin.—It has been discovered that a municipal employe in this city has been asleep for two years and four months. On the 20th of June, 1904, this employe was summoned to explain some fault committed by the municipal authorities, and in alighting from the car he fell. He was able to answer all questions put to him, but on his return home, he fell asleep, and has not awakened since. The doctors in attendance have been able to nourish him and keep him alive for over 28 months.

LYNOTYPE MACHINE BEING INSTALLED

Up-to-date Methods of Setting Type Will Hereafter Be Employed on This Paper

Workmen and machinists are busy today installing a Mergenthaler lino type machine in the Record printing plant. The machine arrived over the Lehigh Valley railroad this morning and the work of installing was begun with in a few minutes after its arrival. It is expected that the machine will be in operation in a day or two and the public in general will then be welcome to drop in and see a modern type setting machine perform its work.

Edward L. Roe, lino type machinist for the Elmira Advertiser, is erecting the machine. He is an experienced man in this line of work and moves with neatness and despatch.

Discovery of the Telescope. The discovery of the telescope was brought about by the children of a Dutch spectacle-maker named Lippershey, playing with their father's glass before the door. While shifting and changing the spectacles, the children were surprised to see the spire of a distant church brought, as it were, close to their eyes. They called their father to witness the strange sight, and he, with his knowledge of optics, at once recognized the opportunity the chance had given him.

Farmer as Bait. On an examination paper in zoology the question was asked: "Of what use to the farmer are the earthworm and the slug?"

The reply of one promising pupil read: "The earthworm is of use to the farmer because he eats the insects and minute animals that are destructive to crops; he is also useful because he can use him as bait when the farmer goes fishing."—Judge.

Enduring Work on Typewriter. The tests of the German government have shown great variations in the durability of typewritten documents, but with the best ribbons the works seems as lasting as that written by hand with the best writing ink. While some German ribbons proved good, those of American manufacture showed a higher general average in quality.

Her Idea of an Ideal Death. In the London hospital ward was a little girl whose brother had died recently enough to make his sister still a subject of reflected interest. "It was all along of eatin' too much ice cream and ginger cookies," she said to the doctor who was attending her. Then she smiled beautifully and piously. "It was a beautiful death, doctor."

Bunco. "Don't ye believe it," said Mr. Dooley. "Nobody is too smart to be buncoed. The only kind of people that can be buncoed are smart people. Ye can be too honest to be buncoed, but never too smart. It's the people that arn't tryin' to get something fr' nawthin' that end in gettin' nawthin' fr' ev'rythin'."—F. P. Dunne, in "Disseriations by Mr. Dooley."

Antelope on African Stamps. The antelope is part of the arms of Rhodesia, emblazoned on the stamps of that portion of British South Africa. Another species of antelope, known as the kudu, is on the stamps of Nowangar, a town in Hindustan with an active trade with the outside world, which has been issuing stamps of its own since the year 1877.

Stamps of the French Congo. The leopard from French Congo is honored with a place on every one of a series of six stamps issued in 1900. Each stamp of the series is in two colors and these colors vary, all of which goes to prove that if a leopard cannot change his spots the lithographer can do it for him.

Value of Mental Pleasures. No man's life is free from struggles and mortifications, not even the happiest; but every one may build up his own happiness by seeking mental pleasures, and thus making himself independent of outward fortunes.—Von Humboldt.

Women Exact Heavy Interest. An English woman says that women make much better bankers than men. That may be true. Did you ever know a man to borrow money from his wife and escape paying it back less than seven or eight times?—Washington Herald.

Dog Buried in Fine Coffin. A Tunbridge Wells, Eng., woman, who recently lost a dog of which she was very proud, ordered from a local undertaker a handsome polished oak coffin, with silvered fittings, for her dead pet.

Change of Name at Marriage. As far back as 1568, in the region of Elizabeth, it was decided in the case of Bon vs. Smith that a woman by marriage loses her former name and legally receives the name of her husband.

YESTERDAY'S WORK IN DECEMBER COURT

Various Matters That Took Up Time of Judge and Lawyers

Dominick Earle, the man arrested several months ago charged with the burglary of a store in North Towanda, was, after a jury trial, yesterday found guilty and sentenced to spend one year and eight months in the penitentiary at Philadelphia, pay a fine of $50 and also the costs of the proceeding.

In this case the usual order of things was reversed, for despite his classic name, Dominick is an Irishman, and the prosecutor in the proprietor of the store, was an Italian. There were two counts in the indictment, burglary and larceny, and Dominick was found guilty on the second count of larceny.

After spending about six weeks in the county jail upon suspicion of having received stolen goods in connection with the robbery committed at a store in Lockwood, Adelbert Johnson was yesterday found not guilty and discharged.

The case of Ralph Whitmiller charged with assault and battery was heard by a jury which retired late in the afternoon.

Other court business was the application for a transfer of license to William H. DuBois from H. J. Decker, for the Summers Hotel, in Monroeton; also an application of H. J. Decker for the transfer of the license now issued in the name of Stephen Sullivan for the Wysox Hotel. It is desired to place this permit in a new hotel now being made ready in Wysox. Hearings will be given on Saturday, Dec. 15, at 2 o'clock.

An Eye to Spare. "Be careful how you shoot that arrow this way," said the supporter of the family to the kid. "You'll put out my eye and then I can't write any more." "Why?" asked the kid, as he kept on shooting. "Can't you write with one eye?"

If the Lamp is Overturned. Don't attempt to put out the flames with water if the lamp is overturned, for water will simply spread the flames. Instead, throw sand, garden earth, or salt, any of which will have the desired effect.

Much Sustenance in Nuts. A sample of the nuts upon which the warriors of Somaliland march and fight so well has been brought to England. Twenty of the nuts are a day's rations for the Somali, who eats them boiled.

From Swedenborg. To will and not to do when there is opportunity, is in reality not to will; and to love what is good and not to do it, when it is possible, is in reality not to love it.—Swedenborg.

A Freak. Botany may not recognize it, but it is nevertheless a fact that orange blossoms have been known to sprout from widows' weeds.—Evening Wisconsin.

Long Jump of Kangaroo. A Kangaroo has been recorded to jump a height of 11 feet; while the longest jump known to be performed by a deer is 9 1/2 feet.
