On Sale Friday Morning at One Half Price

An unusual offer, because in it are no "jobs," no hard styles, no shop-worn garments, but all 1906 and 1907 style garments. They must go out in the season for which they were bought.

Not all sizes in all materials but sizes for all in many materials and suitable for every figure.

In this sale are Coats for Children 4 years of age and up.

No apology necessary for so deep a cut; it's a loss to us on every sale, but a big saving for you to buy now. Some idea can be gotten from a look at our big Lockhart street window.

ONE HALF PRICE tells the story. No tickets changed; original markings remain on each garment, but when you buy you get two garments for the price of one out of the 113 garments offered at this one half price sale.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR

The universal joy of Christmas and the cherished hopes of a Happy New Year are about to be realized. Merriment should radiate from your countenances, enjoyment and happiness prevail in the household or wherever you may be.

L. O. Snell will leave Athens for iew York about January 7th and from there he wil take the steamer "Pausma" for the Isthmus where he has se cured a government appointment to work at his trade as carpenter on he world's famous ditch, President Roosevelt in digging for a ship canal. Gip says he is not afraid of wild Indians, mosquitoes or yellow jack and he is bound to stay until the job is finished.

Mrs. David Benjamin of Spruce street went to Laquin last week to attend a wedding, but was taken very ill and was obliged to return home Somewhere down the line of that wilderness railroad there was a bridge gone and they were obliged to carry her across the stream with a stretcher and then to change again at Towanda. The consequences has been that she is clear used up and is suffering a elege of sickness.

James S. Parks and his wife went to Rome today where they will stay a week as he puts it "to circulate around his old tramping ground." He was born there and lived there forty-five years with the exception of three years that he put in the service for Uncle Sam in the army. He afterwards removed to LeRaysville and from there came to Athens. He purchased a lot on the outskirts of town those girls rushing like Indians to the but now he has built up a miniature city with a store, meat market and other enterprises and he has become one of the magnate of that section He desrves a good time "tramping around" and we hope he will have it

Our account of the marriage yesterday has aroused quite a turmoil. amongst the guests and they have been bombarding us all day with explannations. They state that they knew what was going on but that they were invited verbally and that the time was to have been 8:30 and they were all in readiness at that time In some way or other the ceremony took place at 7:45 and that left them in the category of "too late." Now another explanation is in order and that is that all railroads make an allowance for differences in timekeep ers. The guests ought to have regulated their watches by standard time and then they would not have been "caught napping."

Engagement Announced.

Athens-We notice from a lat Schenectady Evening Star the en gagement of Miss Minette H. Hage man and Mr. Curtis Ralph Osborn is announced. At a social given been served each guest found a ne miniature leather travelling case i their plate. It was done up wit ribbons and a printed verse on th outside read:

"Open this And you will see A vision here Of what is to be."

On opening it there was the printed ngagement announcement and the couplet was surrounded with rice. We are glad to see that Ralph is getting along so well. He was a noble young nan and has been promoted to be Electric Engineer in the General Electric Company, and he will be honored wherever he makes his home.
