GANS WINS BATTLE

Victor at Tonopah For Lightweight Championship.

HERMAN DOWN AND OUT IN EIGHTH

Negro Pugilist Won All the Way. Finished Fight by Terrific Fall Swing on the Jaw, Which Dropped Chicagoan.

TONOPAH, Nev., Jan. 2.—Joe Gans fought true to the "dope," defeating Kid Herman as he pleased. After playing with Herman for eight rounds the champion landed a full swing on the point of Herman's jaw, and Chicago's favorite lightweight fighter went down and out.

It was apparent from the start that Herman had little chance of winning. Gans blocked his blows with ease, and at no time was Gans worried in the least.

Gans blocked Herman's leads with glove and elbow and when the opportunity presented itself planted right and left jolts on his opponent's face. It was plainly seen that Herman was the favorite with the crowd. When he landed the crowd cheered wildly. Gans only drew applause when he fought his cleverest.

In the fifth round Gans, having measured his man, slowed down. This was the only round where Herman made any showing. He waded in and swung hard rights and lefts at the champion. Gans appeared careless, and a number of the blows landed. The crowd cheered madly for the Chicago man. The sixth and seventh rounds were all Gans'.

In the eighth Gans started out by feinting and drawing Herman's fire. He dodged around the ring until Gans worked his opponent into a corner. Joe feinted with his left. Herman swung wildly with his left and gave an opening. Like a flash, Gans whipped left and then a swinging right flush on the point of the jaw. Herman dropped like a log, with his face buried in his hands. He lay motionless at the edge of the ring. Gans walked away. It was all over.

Nate Lewis ran around the ring to where the Kid lay and begged him to rise, but Herman was senseless. At the count of ten Lewis and Adam Ryan carried their protégé to his corner, where three minutes elapsed before he came to.

In the second round the men were milling fiercely when the gong sounded. Herman stepped back from a clinch. Gans, not hearing the bell, landed a hard right on the neck. The crowd hissed and hooted. Gans faced the crowd and made a public apology.

Not content with it, Gans went to Herman's corner and explained that he had not heard the gong. His face changed to a red as Gans returned to his seat.

After the fight Herman said: "There is no getting away from it, the best man won. I made the best fight that was in me against a superior man. I cannot deny that he is the best man, and I do not begrudge him his victory."

Gans bore his easily won honors with the best of grace. "It was just as I expected," said the champion. "I had Herman outclassed. He was game, but he never had a chance to win."

The two fighters shook hands cordially, and each wished the other a happy New Year.

Among the spectators were many well dressed women.

"Tex" Rickard bet $3,000 against $1,000 that Gans would win. He had $10,000 to wager, but could find no other takers.

Much excitement was created by the announcement that Gans' mother sent him a telegram requesting him "to bring home the bacon." Before he had a chance to read the telegram some one in the crowd yelled, "Does it say 'Bring home the muttons?'"

Manager Riley stated that he would offer a purse of $30,000 for a match between Jimmy Britt and the winner. Gans replied that he would accept the offer.

Herman was presented as the pride of Chicago and Gans introduced as the lightweight champion of the world.

"Tex" Rickard, through the announcer, gave notice that he would give a purse of $50,000 for the winner of the Gans-Herman fight and Battling Nelson.

quick as a flash Gans whipped right and left to the nose, bringing a thin stream of blood from that organ. Gans swung a terrific right to the face and walloped Herman with right to the ribs. Herman, just as the gong sounded, planted his left to the champion's face. The round was Gans', but Herman smiled in a confident manner as he took his corner.

Second Round.—Herman covered up, and they worked to close quarters. Herman landing right and left to the body. The men then mixed it, and a furious rally followed. Herman had the better of an exchange of body blows. Herman swung his left hard to the ribs, but Gans retaliated with two hard rights to the jaw that forced Herman to a clinch. Mixing it, Gans drove his right to the ribs and sent Herman staggering back with a right to the neck. As the gong rang Gans hit Herman on the face with a right and shook hands with Herman as an apology. Not content with this, Gans left his seat, stalked to Herman's corner and again shook hands with his opponent. The round favored Gans.

Third Round.—Herman, after a clinch, swung a hard left to the head, and then they exchanged right swings to the face. Gans nearly floored his man with a right to the neck. Herman was in quickly and tried with right and left for the body, but received a left to the face that would have sent him outside of the ring had the ropes not saved him. Gans followed the advantage with short arm right and left body blows. Gans then sent Herman to the floor with a left hook over the ribs. Herman, however, was off his balance, and the blow left no telling effects. Gans had far the better of the round, but Herman showed little distress.

Fifth Round.—After half a minute's sparring Herman swung left to the body, following it with a right to the same place, and then rushed Gans into a corner, landing right and left high on the body. Gans then shot out his right, and it landed on Herman's jaw. The latter, however, sent the crowd into paroxysms by driving Gans to the ropes with left and right swings to the jaw and face. Herman sent straight left to the face, but Gans countered with two hard rights to the jaw, and in a mixup Gans outpointed his man, landing right and left short arm blows to the jaw. The gong ended an even round. Herman's showing thus far had been excellent.

Sixth Round.—Gans cleverly blocked various leads by Herman and peppered the latter's face and body with rights and lefts at close range. Both men were cool, but Gans bore a determined look. Herman was on the aggressive and received a right hook to the jaw that sent his head back a foot. "Cover and fall in!" came the injunction from Herman's seconds as Gans at long range drove his right again to the kidneys and the face. Gans almost sent Herman through the ropes with right hooks. Gans had a big lead in this round, and Herman lost his jaunty air as he sought his seat.

Seventh Round.—Herman opened the round with left swing to the ribs, but Gans more than got even with two rights and a left to the stomach. Herman rallied and landed his left and then a right over the ribs and they went to a clinch. Gans forced the fighting and, getting Herman against the ropes, planted right and left to the face. Herman fought back wildly, and as he closed in Gans met him with a terrific right uppercut to the face that left its mark over the Hebrew's eye. Gans followed his man to a corner and they exchanged kidney blows. The bell clanged as the men were sparring. It was Gans' round and he looked like the winner.

Herman's First Paper Served. ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 2.—The first paper served on Attorney General Jackson was an application for a reargument of the petition of William R. Hearst for leave to begin quo warranto proceedings to test the title of George B. McClellan to the office of mayor of New York, of which Mr. Hearst claims to have been defrauded by crookedness and violence in the election of 1905.

Hourglass Waists For 1907. LONDON, Jan. 2.—The introduction of the wasp waist for women is threatened in 1907. Those professing to know say that dressmakers have for a long time been making zealous efforts to reintroduce the hourglass pattern of feminine humanity. Full, round skirts and hourglass waists will, it is said, be the features of the coming season.

Mea. Sage Gave Five Dollar Bills. NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Mrs. Russell Sage made glad the hearts of 223 park employees by giving each a five dollar bill, a total of $1,115. Last year on New Year's day Mrs. Sage made a similar distribution, but not so many of the men.

TRUTH IN ALL LABELS

Pure Food Law In Force With Advent of 1907.

CANS TO HAVE REAL NAME AND DATE

Dealers In Edibles and Liquors Must Call a Spade a Spade in Describing Goods Offered to Public For Sale.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—A schweitzer cheese by any other name may taste as good—mit mustard—but was henceforth unto the man who gives it the other name when the purchaser essays to purchase; likewise all through the several strata of delicatessen and into the realm of all things eatable and drinkable, everything must be called by its right name. The pure food law is responsible, for it went into full force and effect just as little 1907 trotted into the arena of the years.

What a change will be wrought in the next few days in the stores and retail alleviating hopscicks. Scotch whisky, that used to read on its label, "rare old stuff from the days of Wallace and Bruce," will now be set before the bibulous with a legend something like this:

Distilled alcohol, one pint. Smoked wood and charcoal, one bunch. Stewed prunes, one-fourth pound. Peach juice, one still. Water, quantity sufficient.

All this will be topped off with a legend something like this: "Almost whisky—that's about all."

All through the list of other fire waters a spade will be called a spade and beer will be beer only when it is rightly brewed and certified.

Then in both food and drink the dates will be necessary. The vintage of December, 1906, cannot be set down as "guaranteed twenty years old." Neither can shoulder of swine be vended as ham—save at the butcher's risk. Breakfast foods with sawdust as a base will have to be so described. A sample label for these may read:

"The Famous Uggie Google Health Food, made at Combat River, Ill., contains the following ingredients: Excelsior, five parts; curled hair, one part; flour, one-eighth part; selected mud (very choice), two parts; sugar (a wee bit); steel filings, quantity sufficient."

The loud noise heard all over town is the combined wail of the frankfurter men. It wasn't that they didn't want to comply with the law—not a bit of it—they just yearned to obey, but they were up against it good and hard. The president of the Amalgamated and United Order of Frankfurter Vendors, with tears coursing down his furrowed cheeks, said sobbingly:

"By golly, vot ye do? Vot ye do? Der law says der label must say vot is in mit der sausage. Now, how in der name uv der kaiser can an human being tell vot is in a frankfurter? By golly, ve are ruht!"

The drug men are affected likewise, and with each glass of pineapple or raspberry soda will be handed out a card telling just how much cochineal there is in it and just how much chemical combination there is in the other. Why anybody wants to know this has not been explained, but the law's the law for a' that.

Whines Desert From Standard Ship. NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Twenty-two thousand dollars in penalties was saved the Standard Oil company through the activity of the police of Bayonne, N. J.

At one of the piers of the company at Constable Hook lies the steamship Dosona loading with oil for China ports. The crew consists largely of Chinese coolies, and for some reason these have been restless for several days. Just before dusk twenty-two of the coolies gathered up their clothing and deserted the steamship. Their going was discovered almost at once, and Captain William Winslow notified the police, who found the long file of Chinamen hurrying toward Bayonne.

Poverty Causes Desertion. NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Confessing that they were the couple who abandoned their dead infant in a baby carriage here on the night of Dec. 1, Charles A. Gassert and his wife were arraigned in court and remanded. When the child's body was examined black and blue marks were found on its neck, and foul play was surmised.

The autopsy, however, showed death was due to pneumonia. "I didn't have a cent in the house," Gassert said. "I had lost my work as a sanitary engineer and did not know how I could bury the baby."

"Indels Are Worse Than Pagans." PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 2.—A new year's reception here to Archbishop Ryan was made notable by a scathing arraignment by the archbishop of the French government's treatment of the Catholics of the present government as infidels whom he considered worse than pagans. The archbishop expressed the hope that a religious awakening in France would soon overthrow the oppressors of the Christian religion.

Apache Chief Burned to Death. LAWTON, Okla., Jan. 2.—Everett Tino, one of Geronimo's lieutenants in the Apache war with Mexican and United States soldiers in Arizona, was burned to death in his teepee on the Fort Sill reservation. When Tino retired he forgot to put his candle, and the flame ignited the bed clothing.

Wreck Near Richmond, Ky. LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 2.—Eight people were seriously injured and twenty-four others badly hurt in a wreck on the Louisville and Nashville railroad forty miles west of Richmond.

A NEW YEAR SUICIDE.

Demented Woman Choked Herself to Death In Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Choked to death by her own hand, the body of Mrs. Elizabeth Richter, of Brooklyn was found last night by her stepson, Frederick Richter, Jr. She had taken a discarded leather belt and wound it three times tightly around her throat and then, slipping the end through the buckle, pulled and fastened it. A note in the handwriting of the suicide was found, reading as follows: "Goodbye to you all. I hope you will all be happy when I am gone. My hand did this deadly deed. I am very lonely. The new year contains no prospects for me."

Mrs. Richter was forty-eight years old and lived with her husband, Frederick Richter, Sr., and three stepchildren. Her home life was happy, but recently her mind became affected through illness, and to this is attributed her suicide.

RACING AT NEW ORLEANS.

New Year's Handicap Taken by El-fall, at 15 to 1.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 2.—The new crop of two-year-olds started alk for the first time in the third race of a high class card here. Of course the event was not one that would draw a record breaking crowd to the course, and there was little or no betting on it, but there was just a chance that a colt or filly of championship caliber might be shown, and for that reason much interest was shown in the race.

The feature was the New Year's handicap, at a mile and seventy yards, which called out some of the best three-year-olds at the track. In this the Burlew & O'Neil entry, Judge Post, Gild and Sir Toddington, the latter an added starter, seemed to be the best liked. The winners:

First Race—Woodsaw, first; Lady Henrietta, second; Pity, third. Second Race—Toboggan, first; Alencos, second; Meadow Breeze, third. Third Race—Whisk Broom, first; Genise, second; Hazel M., third. Fourth Race—Elfall, first; Gild, second; Pompadour, third. Fifth Race—Phil Finch, first; Henry Watterson, second; Besterling, third. Sixth Race—Quinn Brady, first; Gause, second; Henry Bosworth, third.

Wrestlers Divide Honors.

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—Carl Pons, the French champion heavyweight wrestler, and William Demetral of Chicago divided honors in a match here. Demetral won the first fall in twenty-seven minutes, with a reverse half Nelson and head lock. Pons took the second fall in nineteen minutes, using the same hold. The third bout was declared a draw after thirty-five minutes of wrestling.

A Present For Proper.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—A field of five faced the starter at Oakland for the New Year's handicap purse of $2,000. The bulk of the public money went on Proper and Logistilla. It was a poor start, and Logistilla was so badly left that the purse was a present for Proper. In the opening event Lord Nelson kept the barrier.

French Expert Beat Moore.

TUXEDO PARK, N. Y., Jan. 2.—Ferdinand Garcia, professional court tennis champion of France, played his farewell match on the courts of the Tuxedo Tennis and Racket club, defeating Robert Moore, Jr., of the Tuxedo Tennis club two sets love at 8-6, 6-7.

Balloon Bells From St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 2.—The balloon orient, in the presence of a distinguished gathering here yesterday, was cut loose and sailed away, bearing Alan R. Hawley and J. C. McCoy, both members of the Aero club. No tidings have been heard from the balloon.

Milwaukee Fight a Draw.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 2.—Dave Desbler of Cambridge, Mass., and Charlie Neary of Milwaukee fought a round draw before the Hadger Athletic club here at 133 pounds.

A Muskoday, at 10 to 1.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 2.—A Muskoday, a 10 to 1 shot, won the Rose stakes, at a mile and a sixteenth, the principal event at Ascot. Only two favorites finished in front.

New York Manager Drops Dead.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Arthur Mills, vice president and general manager of the Merchants' Dispatch and Transportation company, dropped dead from heart failure in Fifth avenue. He had just left the University club and paused to wish A. G. Hapgood, a classmate at Harvard, a happy New Year. As he grasped his friend's hand he sank to the sidewalk dead.

Lion Tamer Clawed In Cage.

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 2.—While performing an act called the "Lion Hunt" here Trainer Harry Ray of the Hoscock annual circus was attacked by one of the animals and while he lay upon the floor had both his side, shoulder and breast lacerated.

Naval Veteran Shot Himself.

BATH, N. Y., Jan. 2.—John Anderson, a naval veteran, sixty-five years old, shot himself in the mouth at the Soldiers' home here last night. Death was instantaneous. Anderson was admitted to the home March 5, 1903, from Brooklyn.

Three Killed by Explosion.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 2.—Three men were killed and three fatally injured last night by the explosion of a steam boiler in the Schoen Pressed Steel Car Works at McKee's Rocks, a suburb of Pittsburgh.

TO SERVE THE PEOPLE

Governor Hughes Announces His Policy at Albany.

STERN LAW FOR BOSSISM AND GRAFT

Warns Evildoers That Corruption of the Past Will Not Be Tolerated Under His Regime in New York State.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 2.—Governor Hughes in his inaugural address gave unmistakable warning to the bosses that the government is to be run for the people and by the people.

He made it plain that grafting was not to play the part it had in the past in legislation, the governor declaring that the quality and not quantity of laws would be the consideration at all times. He said:

"I assume the office of governor without other ambition than to serve the people of the state. I have not coveted its powers, nor do I permit myself to shrink from its responsibilities. Sensible of its magnitude and of my own limitations, I undertake the task of administration without illusion. But you do not require the impossible. You have bound me to earnest and honest endeavor in the interest of all the people according to the best of my ability, and that obligation, with the help of God, I shall discharge.

"We have reason to congratulate ourselves that coincident with our prosperity there is an emphatic assertion of popular rights and a keen resentment of public wrongs. There is no paucity in executive or legislative action for all the ills of society which spring from the frailties and defects of the human nature of its members. But this furnishes no excuse for complacent inactivity and no reason for the toleration of wrongs made possible by defective or inadequate legislation or by administrative partiality or inefficiency.

"It is sometimes said that we have laws enough and that the need is not of more law, but of better enforcement of the law. There is abundant occasion for caution against hasty legislation. Whether or not we have laws enough, we certainly have enough of ill considered legislation, and the question is not as to the quantity, but as to the quality of our present and of our proposed enactments.

"Each measure proposed must ultimately be tested by critical analysis of the particular problem—the precise mischief raised and the adequacy of the proposed remedy.

"It must freely be recognized that many of the evils of which we complain have their source in the law itself, in privileges carelessly granted, in opportunities for private aggrandizement at the expense of the people recklessly created, in failure to safeguard our public interests by providing means for just regulation of these enterprises which depend upon the use of public franchises.

"Wherever the law gives unjust advantage, wherever it fails by suitable prohibition or regulation to protect the interests of the people, wherever the power derived from the state is turned against the state, there is not only room but urgent necessity for the assertion of the authority of the state to enforce the common right.

"The security of our government, despite its constitutional guarantees, is found in the intelligence and public spirit of its citizens and in its ability to call to the work of administration men of single minded devotion to the public interests, who make unselfish service to the state a point of knightly honor."

There were two interesting developments in the legislative caucus. Most significant politically was the victory of John C. Marriott of Richmond, supported for the position of stenographer of the senate by President Herbert Parsons of the New York county Republican committee, over George Shotwell, who was understood to be favored by Republican State Chairman Woodruff. Much interest was also evoked by the selection of Senator Patrick H. McCarren of Brooklyn as chairman of the Democratic caucus committee in the senate, giving him a commanding position in his party in that body. In the assembly Democratic caucus Assemblyman James Oliver of New York was made the candidate for speaker, which carries with it the minority leadership long held by Assemblyman George M. Palmer of Schoharie, who failed of re-election this year.
