WILL ERECT A NEW CHURCH EDIFICE

Presbyterian Congregation Practically Complete Plans For a Handsome Building.

Last night the members of the Presbyterian church at a congregational meeting perfected plans by which a new church edifice will probably be erected some time during the coming summer. The project, which is practically assured, will call for the expenditure of about $12,000, and the new edifice will be located directly in front of the old one on South Elmer avenue. The old church building will be attached to the proposed new one in such a manner as to make the former available for chapel purposes. The site is without doubt one of the finest in town, and while it is not the purpose of the church people to be extravagant in the matter, they at the same time intend erecting a church which will in every way meet their needs and be a credit to Sayre.

A few months ago at a congregational meeting a committee of twenty-four was appointed to consider the advisability of building a new church. The committee has held several meetings and in the meantime has gone over all the details. Last night the committee reported to the congregation, and the report was accepted. The committee recommended that if $5,000 could be secured either in cash or pledges between now and the first of the coming July a new church can then be erected. Immediately after the report of the committee was adopted those present at the meeting were canvassed and the sum of $2,100 was pledged. This sum is exclusive of the amount now in the hands of the various women's societies of the church. It is believed that there will be no trouble in raising the necessary $6,000, and that the work of erecting the new church will therefore begin shortly after July first.

The church has a membership of 150, besides a large congregation which contributes to the support of the pastor and other necessary expenses. The church in which the services are held at the present time is altogether too small to accommodate those who desire to attend, and the building of a new edifice is almost an indispensable necessity.

In an interview this morning Mr. Petrie, the pastor of the church, stated that a new church was practically assured as he was of the opinion that the first $5,000 could be raised with but little difficulty. All friends of the congregation in their undertaking and many of the former will contribute to this success in a substantial way.

"FANTANA" AT THE LOOMIS TOMORROW.

Delightful Music, Sparkling Comedy, and An All Clean Company. The most attractive thing about "Fantana" is its delightful music, next to the sparkling and clever comedy of the principal roles, added to those of a large chorus of handsome young women, and giving an offering of a degree setting that is elaborate to a degree and the result is an entertainment that cannot fail to please.

"Fantana" comes to the Loomis from a triumphal run in New York of six hundred nights and three hundred in Chicago. Naturally with the original cast intact, and the beauties and grandeur of its stage settings and mechanical effects will no doubt be one of the theatrical treats of the season.

The book was written by Sam S. Shuber and Robert Smith. The music is by Raymond Hubble, and the entire production under the supervision of R. H. Burnside. The story of the comedy is both amusing and interesting.

A California wine grower calls both his property and his beautiful daughter "Fantana." The girl's real name is Fanny, but it is never used. An American Naval officer is in love with "Fantana" and a French water posing as a count also has matrimonial designs on the heiress. The vineyard owner, who aspires to nobility invites a Japanese Ambassador to visit him on his steam yacht. At the last moment it transpires that he will be unable to accept the invitation, and one of the house servants of the Commodore is persuaded to assume the role of Ambassador in his stead, fooling the Commodore, and the entire party goes to Nagasaki, Japan, which is the locale of the second act. While in Japan a magic mirror is found which compels obedience of all who look into it, to the holder of the mirror. The scene of the third act is on board the Commodore's yacht homeward bound.

Towanda citizens expect to enjoy a building boom. It is expected that several hundred large dwellings will be erected there within the next few months. They are to be occupied by Sayre workmen, who will work in the Lehigh Valley shops in this place and reside at Towanda because it is cheaper to live in that place.

Elmer Dunn, Clarence Bennett, William E. Casey and William Bell, all of Newark, N. J., were killed last night by a Lehigh Valley train at South Plainfield, N. J. The boys were stepping a ride on a freight train and stepped from the train directly in front of the Chicago westbound flyer.

There were two sections of Lehigh Valley train No. 5 this morning. The second section carried a large number of Cornell students on their way to the university to resume their studies. When the first section of the train reached Sayre it waited for the second section. The students in the second section were transferred to the first section, and those in the latter were transferred to the second.

"The Arrival of Kitty."

This well known and successful comedy is to be seen in this city and lovers of fun, music and melody will have their expectations filled to the utmost. "The Arrival of Kitty" contains a laugh in every line and at every performance of this rattling comedy success, goes off with a snap and a pang and is as joyous and inspiring as a fourth of July celebration. No musical production in recent years has obtained such immense popularity, and it is the only one among the few really brilliant comedy successes to receive the unanimous critical approbation of the New York press. The cast is a large one and among the principal members may be found such well known stagehand favorites as Eveleen Dunmore, Eddie P. Bower, Vinnie Bradcome, Hal Johnson, Edy the Bower, Keaton Huel, Edie Pearson, Jas. Jas. J. Byrne, Jr., Fred A. Peer, William Heantges. The production is most magnificently staged and gorgeously gowned. Music that is tuneful, songs that are catchy and original, and unique dancing specialties may be looked for. The sale of seats is now in progress.

OLD MAN KILLED NEAR OWEGO MONDAY.

Remains So Badly Mangled That It Was Necessary to Gather Them Up in a Wash tub.

Matthew Sharp, an aged man and very deaf, was walking on the Lehigh tracks near Smithboro on Monday afternoon and was run down and killed by the Lehigh Valley milk train. He was so terribly mangled that the remains were gathered up in a wash tub. His funeral was held at Barton yesterday. Twice previous the engineer of the same train had stopped in order to avoid striking the old man.

Slight Wreck.

There was a slight wreck on the Lehigh Valley Cutoff one mile west of Oliver's Mills yesterday morning at 5 o'clock. Five cars were derailed and the company's estimate of the damage done was $150. It is thought that the wreck was caused by a broken wheel. The train was proceeding down the mountain, when the derailment occurred. No one was hurt, although a brakeman had a narrow escape. It required four hours' work before the road was opened and an additional couple of hours was required to clear up the wreckage.

ROGERS CHARGED WITH LARCENY

But He Confiscated His Own Property and Therein Lies the Cause For a Law Suit.

Dell Rogers, owner and operator of a saw mill in East Waverly, was arraigned this morning before Justice Carey on a charge of feloniously stealing, and taking and carrying away and appropriating to his own use a quantity of logs valued at $29 the property of Goodwin Bristol. The warrant was issued on December 8, 1906, but was not served until this morning. The facts in the case will prove interesting from a legal standpoint, and the outcome will be watched with interest. Mr. Bristol in making his complaint says that he caught several logs floating in Shepard's creek, which were unmarked and which he hauled ashore and claimed as his own. Later Mr. Rogers and a gang of men came along with teams and confiscated the logs which had been caught by Bristol. Mr. Rogers says that he had an indisputable right to take them wherever he could locate or find them. Mr. Rogers states that he is the only person who is floating the logs in Shepard's creek and that on account of his boom breaking he had been compelled to go along the banks of the creek and reclaim logs that have landed ashore. The case will open up a nice legal question in certain sections of Pennsylvania there is local legislation which permits a person to go on a stream or river and confiscate logs which are unmarked and which are designated floaters. Mr. Rogers' attorney, however, will claim that the legislation referred to is purely of a local nature and that it does not affect this section, and that his client was acting in a perfectly legitimate manner when he took possession of his logs wherever he could find them. Through his attorney J. F. Shoemaker of Waverly, he entered a plea of not guilty and the case will be heard by Justice Carey one week from tomorrow evening. Bristol has retained Paul E. Maynard.

On one side is a wreath which encircles the words "one cent," while on the reverse side is a woman's head, above which is the word "liberty." The coin is highly prized by Mr. Douglass.
