LIKE WAR CONGRESS Gaines and Mahon Nearly Come to Blows in House. WHOLE ASSEMBLY IN AN UPROAR.

Representatives From Tennessee and Pennsylvania in Hot Dispute Over Charge and Countercharge of Falsifying Facts.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Congressman Gaines (Tenn.) attempted to assault Mr. Mahon (Pa.) on the floor of the house during the session.

Mahon had declared that a statement Gaines had made was not true, and Gaines had to be forced into his seat and held there, while congress was in an uproar.

The house for a time took on the appearance of the closing days of the Fifty-fifth congress, commonly known as the "war congress."

Mr. Gaines and Mr. Mahon were only prevented from meeting in a personal encounter by the intervention of members. Mr. Gaines was making a speech on his bill to "dock" members' pay for absence from the house.

Mr. Mahon remained silent throughout Mr. Gaines' speech, with the exception of interjecting a remark or two at the beginning. When Mr. Gaines had concluded Mr. Mahon rose.

Mr. Mahon rushed down the aisle toward Mr. Mahon and was grabbed in front of the speaker's desk by Mr. James (Ky.) and others, who pulled him back into his seat and held him there while he struggled to get free.

Everything was in confusion, the chairman of the committee of the whole, Mr. Mann, pounding his gavel so hard that the head flew off on to the floor.

Until order was restored Mr. Mahon continued his charge that what Mr. Gaines had said was absolutely untrue.

Mr. Mahon finally rose to a question of personal privilege. He stated that he did not desire to impugn the motives which prompted Mr. Gaines to utter what was an untruth about his absence from the house.

THE MISSING PONCE. Governor Winthrop Cables of Dis-masted Derelict Sighted.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The Red D line steamer Caracas, which has arrived at Ponce, Porto Rico, reports having sighted a dismasted derelict within forty miles of the place where the missing Porto Rico steamer Ponce was last sighted by the Shenandoah.

Information of the location of the derelict was received by Captain Hunt at the United States hydrographic office in this city in a message from Governor Beckman Winthrop of Porto Rico. He says:

"Steamer Caracas, Red D line, reports a dismasted derelict about 150 feet long, two or three feet above water, in route of vessels between New York and Porto Rico, passed on Jan. 7 in latitude 23.27, longitude 70.01."

The longer the Trinidad line steamer Caracas is overdue in her trip from Port of Spain the more sanguine become the members of the maritime exchange that she is aiding the overdue Ponce.

The Ponce, which left Ponce at 2 p. m. Dec. 25, is now eleven days late. The Caracas, which left Port of Spain Dec. 29, is five days behind time.

Providing the Ponce broke her machinery and started to drift, there is strong probability in the minds of shipping men that the Caracas met her and is bringing her in.

POOR INDEED! Attorney General's Department Had to Borrow Postage Stamps.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 11.—Attorney General Jackson made the statement that his department had been conducted at his own personal expense since he took office.

When informed that the bill introduced in the assembly providing for an emergency appropriation of $70,000 to carry on the work of his department would not in ordinary circumstances get to the governor for several weeks, he said:

"Why, we've got to have money before that. We have nothing here but debts. I haven't got the money to run this department much longer."

WONDERFUL WOMAN Husband of Mrs. Reader Tells Marvelous Tales.

SWAYS JUDGES AND PRESS, HE SAYS Her Cleverness and Beauty Fascinated Two Princes, Sir Thomas Lipton and Senator Clark—A Napoleon of Finance.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—That Mrs. Ella Rawls Reader is about the cleverest and most fascinating woman in the world there is no doubt, at least in the mind of Athole B. Reader, her husband.

New York in particular and the world in general had heard a great many marvelous things about this female Napoleon of finance before, but it develops that the half had never been told.

That she could, according to her devoted husband, manipulate vast financial operations and become involved in diplomatic relations between the world powers, became a matter of history some time ago, but it was not supposed.

Mrs. Ella Rawls Reader. ed until Athole B. divulged a few more chapters of family detail in connection with his arraignment before United States Commissioner Shields on a charge of perjury.

The indictment of Reader is the outcome of the trial of a suit brought by him against James B. Haggin for $250,000 commissions.

A letter which Athole B. wrote to his friend and confere in the Haggin mine deal, Juan Garland, a Peruvian, admitted as evidence in the examination of Reader describes Ella Rawls as follows:

"My Querido Juan—When you meet my seniors, as you will do one of these days, Juan, you will find her the cleverest woman you ever struck. She is acknowledged to be the cleverest and most successful business woman in New York. She knows everybody in Wall street, and her great personal friends and backers are the principal bankers in New York."

"Sir Thomas Lipton, John Dewar, M. P., and a dozen other rich and prominent men in England have asked her to marry them, and she practically had agreed to marry Dewar, the whisky millionaire of Scotland and a member of parliament, when she met me. She knows the best and richest people in London, Scotland, Ireland and all over America."

"Has had offers of marriage from a German prince, an Indian prince and Senator Clark, the richest copper man in Montana; bankers, brokers and millionaires in Wall street."

Frank Sakolowsky and Patrick Dolan were burned about the face and body by the hot metal which flew over them, and Lindsay, who was standing near, was so frightened that he collapsed. He was picked up unconscious and when taken to a hospital with the injured men was dead. He was forty-eight years old.

Asks President About Letter. WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Representative Robinson of Arkansas introduced a resolution asking that the president of the United States be requested to inform the house whether he wrote a communication to Thomas C. Drake, superintendent of insurance for the District of Columbia, "condemning as invalid and improper legislation limiting the amount of salaries which life insurance companies may pay their officers and if he wrote such a letter that he furnish the house with a copy of the same."
