> A dispatch from Captain W. P. Forward, the Hamburg-American agent at Kingston, says:

"Prinz Waldemar stranded at 2 this morning near Plum point. Merritt-Chapman wrecking steamer Premier gone to her rescue."

Beibach's Plum point is a lighthouse point about ten miles east of Klugston, whither the steamer was bound when she struck. The Prinz Waldemar left Port Limon the day of the earthquake. The shocks having destroyed the lights, the steamer presumably lost her way.

It is stated by the Hamburg-American officials that the passenger list is probably not large, as the steamer expecied to take on most of her passengers at Kingston. The vessel was to
