ATHENS. THE LULU TYLER GATES CONCERT

Pleased a Large Audience at Athens Last Night.

Athens—The concert given by the Lulu Tyler Gates Company at high school hall last evening was one of the best we have listened to in a long time. Mrs. Gates is an inspiration in herself. Her charming personality, cheerful countenance, always lit up with bubbling ebullitions of soulful emotions, takes hold of an audience and holds them in its spell as long as she chooses to exert her powers. Her selections were varied, embracing gems from the classic, devotional, humorous and pathetic authors and in them all she was perfect in representation, vocabulary and expression, so that her characters were real and we saw them before us while we listened to their story. Such an evening is a delight and she commanded our admiration so well that we called her back five times after one number on the program. Ruth Anderson Roehr, the violinist, is a talented artist. Her first number was the Vivace and Finale from Mendelssohn's famous Concerto, a composition that has world wide celebrity and is one of the best productions that professional artists study for its grand effects. Mrs. Roehr gave it in perfect manner and showed a mastery over her instrument that was astonishing and she so enraptured the audience that she was obliged to respond with an encore. Mr. William Snyder, the pianist, was one of the best we have ever heard in Athens and we only regret that he did not often appear in the program. His Concert Paraphrase of Liszt's Rigoletto thrilled us with its harmonious effects, and he was obliged to respond to an encore. Mr. Smith, the basso cantatrice, has an exceptionally fine voice and his songs were enjoyed very much and he too was obliged to respond with an encore. Altogether, it was such an entertainment that produces pleasant and delightful impressions that will remain with us for many a day.

BLACK OBJECT MAY BE MRS. LUNDIE'S BODY.

It Was Seen Floating in the Chemung Yesterday Afternoon.

Athens—Yesterday afternoon as Perry Mingo was standing near the Chemung river bank back of C. Hunsicker's house he saw an object floating down the river just above the island and as it came nearer he was satisfied that it was a human form. It was dressed in black and some of the clothing had filled with water presenting the appearance of a bag and other garments trailed behind. It nearly lodged on the island but finally passed through the shore channel and as it came in front of him he was convinced that it was a human body. He had no boat and as it was about 300 feet out into the stream he could not reach it. So he followed down to the bridge and out upon it to a point about 20 feet beyond the first pier, looked down directly upon it as it passed under him. He was satisfied that his suspicions were correct and at once was convinced that it was the body of the Lundie woman who disappeared several weeks ago. He telephoned to Chief R. J. Mulligan who at once went to the spot but the body had passed down the river and so he telephoned to Milan, Ulster and Towanda to be on the lookout for the body. There is but little doubt but what this was the body of Mrs. Lundie and it is hoped that it may be recovered soon.

C. U. Wise went to Towanda today to spend Sunday with friends.

Michael Harrigan of Buffalo, was in Athens yesterday visiting his family.

Mrs. Florence Jones of Owego, is visiting friends in Athens over Sunday.

I. W. Collins went to Shesquin today to visit at the home of John Smith.

John Clark went to Herrickville today to spend Sunday with his sister Mrs. Peter Carr.

Isaac Turner, who has been working in the bridge shops, returned to his home in New Albany today.

Will accept a limited number of pupils on the mandolin. Address Edwin F. Loomis, Athens, Pa. 213-31

Mrs. Charles Esenwine has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Leon Parks, and returned to her home in Towanda today.

The Ithaca Conservatory Concert company will give a concert in Athens high school hall on the evening of February 6th. This is the regular concert company and not the student that have formerly appeared in this place.

THE TRUTH ABOUT STRADIVARIUS VIOLINS. Only 94 of Them Are in Existence and They Are All Registered—Fakes Come to Light Occasionally.

Athens—We are frequently amused when some fanatical violin dealer publishes a statement that he has a genuine old Stradivarius violin that has lately been found amongst the rubbish of some old garret where it has lain out of sight for years and just been brought to light by the fortunate discovery of one of the descendants of the family.

We had such a visitor recently, and he came luging an old cheap instrument that has been made by a mistake and has the label Antonius Stradivarius on the inside.

This great worker produced a revelation in violin manufacture and worked at his trade up to the day of his death December 18, 1737, when he was 94 years old. His best work was between the years 1690 to the date of his death when 94 instruments passed into the hands of his sons and all of these have been bought up by wealthy persons. There are not a dozen genuine Stradivarius instruments in America and all of these are registered and their owner's names are known, and no genuine Strad has been found in any old house or garret.

Their Little Scheme. Orville Touffon—How did those guys manage to raise all that disturbance without getting pinched? Muggsy—Dat was a cinch. Whenever we seen a cop comin' de gang would give a college yell. Den de cop would tink we was students, an' go away.—Cleveland Leader.

Put Them All to Sleep. First Comedian—Did you score a hit with your new specialty? Second Comedian—Did I? Why, the audience gazed with open-mouthed wonder before I was half through. First Comedian—Wonderful! It is seldom that an entire audience yawns at once.

Heavy Bombardment. "Was your wife angry when you got home so late last night?" "Angry? Why, my boy, the dear woman pelted me with flowers!" "But how did you get that black eye?" "Well, you see, she neglected to take the flowers out of the pots before she threw them."—Cleveland Leader.

The Value of Speech. "Why don't you cultivate the art of oratory?" "My friend," answered Senator Borghum, "oratory soothes the gallery to slumber and reads well in the newspapers, but the kind of talk that counts is that which you pour into a man's ear with your hand grasping his coat lapel."—Washington Star.

Wanted Something Easy. Business Man—What do you want? Applicant—I came to inquire if you were in want of an assistant. Business Man—Very sorry. I do all the work myself. Applicant—Ah! That would just suit me.—Tit Bits.

Hitting Back. Housemaid—I'm going to leave you, mum. I'm going to work for Mrs. Monk, an' would you give me a good reference, mum? Mistress—To work for Mrs. Monk? Certainly, I'll give you a glowing reference. I hate that woman.—Cassell's.

Temporarily Silenced. "Why did you insist on sending that young man to congress?" "Got tired of his speech-makin'," answered Farmer Cornsloss. "We thought we'd put him where the speaker would keep him quiet for a few years."—Washington Star.

Good Time for Will. Patience—Will proposed last night. Patrice—I expected as much. "Why so?" "There was a bargain sale in engagement rings advertised yesterday."—Yonkers Statesman.

It Depends. "Do you think a man can afford to marry on $1,000 a year?" "Well, of course, a good deal must depend on the girl's ability to support him in the style to which he has been accustomed."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Ambition. Now, this is my ambition; I'll say it, frank and blunt— A nice long row of figures With a dollar mark in front. Washington Star.

A SIMPLE SOLUTION.

"How fresh the air is here in the country! In the city it's intolerable!" "Yes, sir, I've often wondered why they don't build the big cities out in the country, where there's better air and more room!"—Lustige Blaetter.

COMES TO AID THAW

Countess of Yarmouth Will Stand by Her Brother.

MUST ANSWER FOR WHITE'S DEATH

Slayer of Prominent New York Architect Will Be Brought Into Court on Monday to Plead in Sensational Murder Case.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—The Countess of Yarmouth, sister of Harry Thaw, who is now awaiting trial for the killing of Stanford White, arrived from Europe on the steamship Kaiseria Augusta yesterday.

The countess was accompanied by her cousin, Miss Mary Copley. She was met at the Hoboken dock by Mrs. William Thaw, her mother. The party was driven directly to the Hotel Lorraine, where Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is staying with her husband's mother and where apartments had been reserved for the visitors.

The countess denied herself to all newspaper interviewers, but through her brother, Edward Thaw, who went down the bay to meet here, made the following statement: "I have crossed the ocean to give every aid in my power to my brother when he faces trial next week and to set at rest all the absurd stories to the effect that the family is divided."

To this statement Edward Thaw himself added: "You may say for my sister that she comes here to show that we will all work for Harry and that we all have Harry's interests at heart. I can make a statement which will not do any harm, and that is that my brother's case is at present at such a stage that there are many things that it would not now do to talk about.

"But no member of my family has advised Harry to go against the wishes of his counsel. There are other features of this case that are of such vital importance that they have not even been told to me. I am in ignorance of much that is material, but the things are of such great importance that they have not yet been brought out publicly, and they will not be until the trial.

"My sister has greater influence with my brother than any one else in the family. There has always been a strong affection between them. She is here to set at rest forever the stories that there has been a division in the attitude of the family in regard to Harry in his trouble."

Thaw will be brought into court to answer for the murder of Stanford White on Monday, as his trial has been set for that day, but the case may have to be adjourned.
