LANDIS IS ARRESTED ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Dog Farm and Rendering Works Proprietor Alleged to Have Forged Notes to the Amount of Four Thousand Dollars.

KNOWN IN SAYRE AS "C. G. LLOYDT."

A Pinkerton Detective Took Landis to Reading Yesterday to Answer Forgery Charge—Is Said to Be Wanted in Several Places on Similar Charges.

The Dog Farm and Sayre Rendering Works came to a disastrous end Monday night when the proprietor C. G. Lloyd was taken away under the escort of a Pinkerton detective and a bank cashier from Reading, Pa. The story is a striking one and goes to show that C. G. Lloyd was an alias name for one C. L. B. Landis who has been much wanted in other places where he has carried on extensive business transactions and left many people to mourn his sudden departure. The man came to Athens about a year ago and moved into a house on Frederick street where he lived in a very quiet manner for a short time. He did not seem to care about making the acquaintance of any of his neighbors and not much was seen of him. About the first of April he moved over on to the Vangorder farm east of the Susquehanna river and fitted up some dog kennels and a rendering works. He advertised very freely and business soon assumed lively proportions. His mail order business grew so rapidly that he was obliged to employ a stenographer and two type writers to handle his correspondence. He bought up all of the dead animals he could and worked them into phosphate for which he found of the blooded kind that commanded big prices, and he shipped them far and near to fanciers. The first intimation any one had of his character came from a letter to Chief R. J. Mulligan received from the Pinkerton men stating that they had been on his track a year and a half and they believed him to be in this vicinity. He had been known under another name but enough had been learned to show that he was in this vicinity. Mulligan replied and asked for a photograph which was sent and he found that it tallied with his likeness and on Sunday he wrote that the man was here and could be captured. The detective Henry Marks and the cashier came at once and registered under assumed names as travelers from Wilkes-Barre. They kept out of sight and a warrant was issued for the man, charging him with cruelty to animals and Mr. McGovern went over and arrested him. He did not have any suspicious and came without any objections and was locked up in the town hall. There had been similar charges made against him once before and he had come forward and paid the fine. After he was secured the detective and cashier came in and confronted him but he pretended not to know them, at first. Finding that subterfuge was of no avail he was induced to talk, but with an injured air he stated that he had done nothing wrong and he could make everything plain as soon as he had a chance. The cashier had notes amounting to over $4,000 which had been declared forgeries. He wanted to go home and they refused to let him go. He then said if he could be allowed to telegraph to Allentown that he could satisfy them that the notes were all right. With this understanding he was taken away on the evening train and it was the intention to give him a chance to make his claim good when he arrived in Allentown. This is the reason we did not give this news to the public yesterday. The detective stated that they had been after the man a year and a half and had spent $700 trying to capture him. Their story is that he was doing business in Reading and had the confidence of everybody so that he could get any reasonable amount of credit whenever he wanted it. All at once he got in for about $15,000, and skinned out and that they had been following him up ever since. He first went west and was engaged in business when they got on his track and he eluded them. Next he was in Canada and from there he wrote a letter and made the effort to fix up things but was not successful, and when they went there to find him he had slipped away. They had not heard anything from him since until they reached him here. As soon as these facts became known the Farmers National bank issued on him for a claim they hold and Sheriff Griffin made a levy last night. There were about 150 dogs and the furniture and two typewriters and other property is held to satisfy that claim. He has been quite prompt in meeting his local obligations and he could obtain credit easily but we do not know whether he owes much in town or not.

FOOT CRUSHED IN LEHIGH VALLEY YARDS.

Lad Fell Beneath the Wheels While Attempting to Catch on Freight Car.

Winton E. Reynolds, the ten-year-old son of William Reynolds of Myersburg, who has been attending school at Towanda, went yesterday to catch on a Lehigh Valley train in the yards at Towanda. He attempted to catch a freight car and slipped. His foot fell across the rail and his left foot was horribly crushed. It was found necessary to amputate three of his toes.

FUNERAL FRIDAY.

The funeral of R. E. Whiting, whose death occurred yesterday at the home of his son, C. E. Whiting on North Elmer avenue, will be held Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock from the house. The remains will be taken to Spencer for interment.

FIRE BOARD ELECTED OFFICERS LAST NIGHT.

Committee of Three Was Also Appointed to Wait Upon Council With Reference to Shut-Off Nozzle.

At a meeting of the fire board held last night the business of the year was settled up, and officers were chosen for the ensuing year. J. J. Hammond was chosen vice president, M. J. Farrell, treasurer, and James Lyon secretary. The selection of a president will be made by the new council which will organize directly after the spring election. A committee of three was appointed to wait upon the council and discuss the matter of purchasing the Larkin nozzle and shut-off valve. The members of the board believe that the nozzle is needed by the department and will probably request the council to make the purchase.

FREIGHT CARS WERE SET ON FIRE

Detectives in the Employ of the Company Believe They Have Enough Evidence to Convict the Guilty Party.

Yesterday afternoon the Lehigh Valley special officers went to East Waverly to conduct an investigation into the burning of the three freight cars near that place on Monday evening. The fire had all the earmarks of incendiarism, and in this the suspicions of the detectives proved correct. It appears that on the night of the fire one of the inmates of the box cars awoke shortly before twelve o'clock and the car in which he was sleeping was completely filled with smoke. He tried to get out the side door but failed. Then he went to the end door and just as he was nearly overcome by the smoke he succeeded in getting the door opened. He awoke the inmates of the next car and they all escaped. Peter Frazbee had several hundred dollars' worth of goods stored in one of the cars, and the goods were totally destroyed. Fred Mussa, a clerk and store keeper for Frazbee says that he believes the cars were set on fire. On the 9th of January Mussa says an Italian by the name of Angelo who lives at Milltown came to him and wanted to go to work on the work train. He asked for a piece of paper which would permit him to go to work, but Mussa told him that he could do nothing for him. Angelo is alleged to have replied, "Then by God, I will set these cars on fire." Mussa says that he knows Angelo and that the latter is a desperate character. He also says that he can identify the man, and it is quite likely that an arrest will be made in a few days.

ENGINEERS OBJECT TO SUNDAY WORK.

Valley Throttlemen Have a Grievance Which Threatens to Assume Serious Proportions.

The mine run engineers on the Lehigh Valley have a grievance which threatens to assume serious proportions. These engineers object to working on Sunday and recently agreed to refuse to report for duty on the Sabbath day. A few, however, weakened at the critical time and reported for work. The others stood by their solemn promise and would not report. Now it is said that the company will dismiss the engineers who stood by their promise, and there-in will probably lie the cause for the trouble, as the company will have the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers to contend with. It is claimed, that the company accomplishes a great deal more work on the Sabbath day than on a week day, and for that reason the engineers are ordered out. The engineers, on the other hand, believe that they work hard enough and subject themselves to enough peril during the six week days without being compelled to toil on the Sabbath. They claim that if the company must have work done on Sunday they should employ more engineers, and not overwork the few they have.

"LET 'ER GO FLYNN" RETURNS TO TOWN.

Says That "Mrs. Flynn" Has Married a Man Worth $10,000.

"Let 'er Go Flynn," whose fame in this section of the country is wide spread, and whose police record would fill volumes, has returned to Sayre after an absence of several months. When "Let 'er Go" greeted his old acquaintances and friends in Sayre last night he was carrying his usual load, and was also rather depressed. His wife, the pride of his heart, is not with him at the present time. Mrs. Flynn, according to the story told by "Let 'er Go," is now the dutiful better half of a man who resides in the vicinity of Smithboro. "Let 'er Go" says that his wife has married a man worth in the neighborhood of $10,000, and that unless he "coughs up" liberally there is going to be something doing. "About how much do you think your wife worth?" "Let 'er Go" was asked. "Well," said he, "that feller that's got her now, has got to come down with about $200; she ought to be worth that, anyway."

Since his arrival in Sayre "Let 'er Go" succeeded in steering clear of the police, and this fact is the most remarkable part of his visit.

OPPOSED TO THE PRESENT SYSTEM

Candidate for Council in the Fourth Ward Does Not Believe in Benefits for the Few at the Expense of the Whole.

Sayre, Jan. 24, 1907.
To the Voters of the Fourth Ward: I hereby announce myself as a candidate for councilman from the fourth ward. I do that at the request of a number of citizens and voters of this ward. I have also been asked to state my position on the management of our municipal affairs. I will state my position briefly that I am strictly opposed to the present system and methods of certain members of our present council to force upon the people a system of sewerage for the benefit of a certain few at the expense of the whole people who do not get any direct benefit at all. Certain members of our council seem to think that the taxpayers of the town have not anything to say in regard to how their money should be spent but to keep their mouths shut and foot the bill. Put the sewer question to a vote of the taxpayers of the town who have to foot the bill and they will decide the question right without a doubt. I am opposed to ring rule by any set of men at the expense of the public of whatever political faith they may do with our borough affairs. Pick out the man that will work for the interest of citizens of the town and you will have better borough government than you will have if you elect men who are controlled and picked out by men who are in politics for what there is in it at the expense of the taxpayers. Taxes have reached such a point in our borough that they are a burden to a majority of the people and what have we got for it? are your streets any better lighted than they were five years ago, is your police department any better, are the conditions of our streets improved any? We have no town hall for our honorable council to hold their meetings in, but still our taxes increase. Where does it go I ask? Do not ask a majority of the citizens of the town to pay for something that they do not receive. If my views meet the approval of the voters of the fourth ward, I assure them that I will carefully to the best of my judgement guard their interest. Attend the primaries from 2 till 8 o'clock this Saturday afternoon, January 26. Respectfully yours, J. A. KILMER.

Not True Bills.

Arthur Mann, maliciously felling timber, county for costs; Fred Beers, burglary, Mart Boston, fornication; prosecutor, Peter Hopler for costs; Jennie Slocum, assault and battery; James Burns, larceny and receiving.

TRUTH ABOUT THE ASYLUM.

Danville Morning News Takes Modern Annals to Task.

Concerning the wild and woolly tales appearing in the Philadelphia papers about the recent investigation of the Danville Asylum, the Danville Morning News takes occasion to tell a few truths. It claims that there was hardly a shred of truth to the articles printed under glaring headlines and that outside of alterations and enlarged quarters the asylum needs nothing. In speaking of the representatives of the metropolitan papers, the News says they were not looking for facts, and paid absolutely no attention to the necessities of the asylum, but simply cooked up the brutal treatment and murder tales out of whole cloth. Concerning these alleged stories, which were evidently based on insignificant occurrences the paper says that they were all most thoroughly investigated at the time they happened.

THE LOCAL PAPER.
An Influence for Uplifting a Town That Should Receive Warm Support of Home People.
The editors of the village papers take a great interest in and do more for the locality in which they live than any other class of business men, yet they are no more directly benefited by the results than the merchants and property owners who, perhaps, neglect to have their names on the editor's subscription list, or fail to advertise in his paper. In attracting trade to the town in which it is published the immense power a local paper possesses can hardly be estimated. He who will impartially consider this assertion will be convinced of the truth of it, biased in favor of the place of its publication, and if given a fair living patronage by home business men it will guard their interests just as the merchant guards the interests of his individual customers. But if a niggardly support is doled out to it and it is compelled to solicit custom from neighboring cities and towns, it cannot in justice to those patrons exert itself in behalf of its home town as it otherwise would. Try a system of liberality in the matter of advertising expenditures and mark the result—Greenwich (Conn.) News.

PLEADED GUILTY TO ASSAULT AND BATTERY.
And Was Thereupon Fined Two Dollars and the Costs of Prosecution.
Robert Eike, charged with simple assault by Willis Worden, was fined two dollars and the costs of prosecution by Justice Carey this forenoon. Eike pleaded guilty to the charge, having with drawn his plea of not guilty. He admitted having struck Worden without provocation other than that he alleged Worden was talking about him in an indirect manner. He was given until tomorrow forenoon at noon to raise the fine and costs.

BRIDGE WORKERS' ARM CRUSHED.
Was Caught Between the Bumpers at Towanda Yesterday Afternoon.
E. B. Peters, a bridge worker employed on the Lehigh's new construction work at Towanda, met with a painful accident last night about 4:50 o'clock. Peters attempted to pass between engine 512 and a freight car. The engine at that moment backed into the car and Peters' right arm was caught between the bumpers. The member was crushed just below the elbow.

Commencing on the efforts to lessen the ravages of tuberculosis, as well as other prevalent diseases, the Hazleton Daily Standard truthfully says: "A clean city more than a city situated in a section noted for a healthful climate, means a healthful city and the fight against tuberculosis and the lesser diseases of the respiratory system should be undertaken in behalf of persons who have not yet become the prey of disease, as well as in behalf of those who have already become victims of conditions which should not be allowed to exist." An ounce of preventive is worth a pound of cure all the time.
