JAMES McCABE DIED YESTERDAY
Well-Known Resident Expired After an Illness of Four Weeks.

James McCabe, one of Sayre's well known and highly respected residents, died last night at 5:45 o'clock at his home, No. 328 Chemung street, after an illness of four weeks. Death was due to kidney trouble.
The deceased came to Sayre eight years ago, having been formerly employed by the Lehigh to watch the crossing at Athens. When the new tower was installed Mr. McCabe came to Sayre and was given employment in the Sayre shops. He was well liked by every one and his death will be regretted by a large number of friends.
He was born in Ireland 66 years ago and came to this country in 1864. He settled in New York city for a time and later came to this section of the country where he has since resided.

He is survived by three sons, James, Jr., of Homets Ferry; D. J. of Sayre, and M. H. McCabe of Hatties, Miss. Three daughters, Mrs. M. H. Buck of Sayre, Mrs. James McDonald of Port Jervis, and Margaret, who resides at home.

BREACH OF CONTRACT CASE SETTLED.
M. Procas and John Sacona Adjust Their Differences in an Amicable Manner.

The suit brought by John Sacona of Ithaca, against M. Procas of this place, for one hundred dollars for breach of contract, was settled out of court yesterday, the defendant paying the plaintiff the sum of $50 and the costs of the action. The plaintiff in case alleges that he had a contract with Procas to buy the confectionery store which the latter has been operating on Desmond street for the past year, but that before the deal was made Procas sold out to the Greek-American Confectionery company. Procas, however, denies this contention and says that there was no bargain to sell to Sacona. Procas was about to sail for Greece yesterday and rather than defer the trip he settled with Sacona and paid the costs, thereby ending what would have proved an interesting case.

Owen—Baker.
Clarence J. Owen of Baltimore, and Phoebe Baker of this place, were married at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Knapp of Church street, Athens, on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock by the Rev. The newly married couple left for Baltimore last night where they will reside in the future.

Gates—Williams.
Announcement is made of the marriage of Harry Clark Gates and Miss Anna Frances Williams, which occurred at Canton on Wednesday last. The groom was a former Sayre business man, having been engaged in the shoe business here as a member of the firm of Gates & Biddle. He was at one time a noted foot ball player and athlete and has a host of friends in this place. His bride is one of Canton's best and most favorably known young women.

Lookout for Them.
Newspaper readers are warned to be on the lookout for two smooth young swindlers whose game is to take orders for five tons of coal which is to be delivered to you direct from the mines. They claim to sell the coal at the rate of five tons for $15, and after receiving the sum of $2 to "bind" the bargain they decamp. That is the last heard of them or the coal either.

PROMINENT CITIZEN WILL DEBATE WITH SOCIALIST LECTURER.
Will Be at the West Sayre Hose House and All Are Invited to Attend.

Last evening Prof. Kirkpatrick delivered a lecture at the Howard Elmer hose house on Socialism, and despite the inclement weather there was a good crowd present. He was a very interesting and entertaining speaker, keeping the attention of the audience throughout. He said that the private ownership of the tool made one man another man's master and kept him dependent upon him for bread. That we lived in a political despotism, but under an industrial despotism. He showed how at the present time it was impossible for a man with his two hands to enter the employing class as it was 200 years ago. He maintained that the remedy for this was the collective or public ownership of the means of production. He said that while this was sometimes looked upon as anarchy, it was no more anarchy than the public ownership of the public parks and school houses which was merely regarded as common sense. This evening a prominent and well known business man will debate with Mr. Kirkpatrick. A very interesting meeting is assured, and as the meetings are free a general invitation to attend is extended to all.

SECTION MEN RAISED.
But Underpaid Rate Tenders Are Entirely Ignored.

It was announced yesterday that section foreman on the main line of the Lehigh Valley railroad have been granted an increase of $10 a month from January 1st and foreman on the divisions $5 a month.
The section foreman on the D. S. & S., who were paid less than the Valley men, were raised $7.50 a month, so that their wages are now uniform with the others.
The mine and cut watchmen were also given an increase of $5 per month. The gate tenders, however were entirely ignored. These men work fourteen hours per day, and for this receive the meager sum of $1.10 per day; and yet we hear so much about prosperity the workmen are enjoying.

NEW MASTER MECHANIC.
Round House Foreman Receives Big Promotion.

Railroad corporations are certainly concerns that do things, and funny things at that. The Lehigh Valley is no exception to this rule, for yesterday they appointed Isaac McKeeter, round house foreman at Lehighton, to the position of Master Mechanic of the Weatherly shops to succeed the late Master Mechanic Coyia.
The men who are in line for promotion at the shops, many of whom are expert mechanics, are wondering just what qualifications a round house must possess to secure so elevated a position.

Installed New Planer.
Norbert E. Dorente as James Clarence in "The Royal Box" Tonight.

Thomas E. Gaumer, the well known Sayre mechanic and automobile man, has just installed a fine planer in his machine shop on Cross street. Mr. Gaumer has a very complete shop for the repairing of gas engines, automobiles and light machinery, and is doing a rushing business. He has the reputation of being the best all round mechanic in this valley, and can make and repair almost anything in the line of machinery.

"The Volunteer Organist."
Modern stage realism it is admitted has reached the acme of perfection. There is not an invention known to the art of the stage carpenter that has not been introduced at our playhouses, and in these days of scenic production, anything novel in the way of effects is certain to command immediate attention. When William B. Gray, the well-known playwright, wrote the new pastoral drama "The Volunteer Organist," which is to be produced at the Loomis opera house next Monday night he had one ambition in view outside of making his play appeal to all classes of theatre-goers, and that was to have the scenic end of it as up to date as possible. In the third act of Mr. Gray's play, there is a church scene which has been pronounced by able critics as being the most absorbing part of an exceptionally interesting play. In order to give this scene a strictly religious atmosphere, Manager W. W. Newcomer, has built real pews, a real altar, real collection boxes and a genuine organ. The latter, a very tuneful instrument, was built by Mason & Hamlin of New York, at a cost of one thousand dollars. The windows of the church are fitted with real stained glass, which as most everyone is aware, costs quite a sum of money. In fact, this scene has been made so true and real, that as soon as the curtain rises on it one is immediately transferred into the realms of all that is holy. No temple or edifice of worship can boast of better equipments than this scene. Not a detail has been overlooked even to the immortal cross.

PROCAS' CHECKS WERE NO GOOD
Greek Confectioner Gave Checks in Settlement of Bills and the Bank Says "No Funds"—Procas Departs for Greece Yesterday.

M. Procas, the Greek confectioner, who recently disposed of the store which he conducted on Desmond street for several months past, left town yesterday morning and it is expected that he will sail for Greece, his native country tomorrow. Creditors of Procas are mourning his departure, and if he returns to this country, as he declared he would before leaving, he will be called upon to settle several checks which have been presented to the bank for payment and returned to the holder with the endorsement "no funds". The checks for the most part are not large ones and were given in settlement of accounts which were in most owed to business men. Many of them did not reach the bank until this morning, and in the meantime Procas had withdrawn his amount and departed. Before he went he stated that he had children in Greece and that he would return with them to this country where he desired to educate them. It is believed, however, that if Procas should conclude to return to America he will settle in some place other than Sayre.
