LOCAL BREVITIES

Physicians were never busier than at present.
Nice apples for eating and cooking at W. S. Wright's. 218-3
The present severe cold weather is booming the coal trade.
The ice harvest goes merrily on, and all fears of a famine have vanished.
All the bars in Sayre are closed this afternoon, in compliance with the provisions of the new primary law.
A new assortment of chinaware with Sunny Slope Coffee. Save your coupons and get an extra prize. W. S. Wright. 218-3
Empty coal cars are again becoming scarce. Along with other difficulties the present siege of cold weather retards their transportation and dumping.
An exchange says that the new style of spring hats to be worn by the women will be smaller in size than they were last year. The price, however, will be as large as usual.
Best grade Lehigh Valley and Berne coal, well screened, prompt delivery, hard and soft wood. Both phones at yard and office at Raymond & Haupt's. D. Clarey Coal Co.
The ground is covered with about five inches of snow, the most of which fell last night, and owners of cutters are delighted with the prospects for a run of good sleighing.
Shamokin township residents have applied to court to abolish the system of working out road taxes, claiming better roads would result if everybody paid cash taxes.
Since the discontinuance of the time tables in the newspapers, the only way for the public is to use the telephone more freely calling up the operator to learn of the departure of trains.
The Chicago Stock Company closes a successful engagement at the Loomis this evening. "Sergeant James" will be presented, using the entire strength of the company. The company has given excellent satisfaction and theatregoers will regret the close of the engagement.
The Lehigh Valley Railroad Co. has a gang of men at work at West Danby, straightening the road bed. To do this will necessitate a deep cut through the high bank and is now being done, steam shovels used in the operation. This will make a great improvement to the road as all trains had to be slackened in speed and time lost in making these sharp curves.
It is asserted that it is impossible to deliver pure milk at the doors of city dwellings for less than 15 cents a quart, and that a rigid enforcement of the pure food law means that prices will advance to that figure. It seems to us that people might just as well pay the advanced price and water their own milk. Then they will only have to buy half as much as before.

DEBATE LISTENED TO BY BIG CROWD

Prof. Kirkpatrick and Coleman Hassler Discussed the Merits and Demerits of Socialism at the Howard Elmer Hose Rooms Last Night.

Last evening the Howard Elmer hose company's hall was filled by the crowd that gathered to hear the debate between Prof. George Kirkpatrick and Coleman Hassler of this place on Socialism. By agreement of the parties Prof. Kirkpatrick first delivered a regular address, entitled, "The Class Struggle" and at the conclusion of the speech Mr. Hassler stated his objections to the plans of the Socialists.

In the lecture Mr. Kirkpatrick said that one of the most important functions of society was the production and distribution of wealth, and it was with the present method of performing that function that the Socialist found fault. He said that the working class did not know its own history, and then traced the growth of the working classes from slavery, through serfdom, up to the present capitalist system.

He stated that in this country from 1783 to 1793 the man who was a mere wage earner was not allowed to vote, and how as late as 1820 in a state convention in Massachusetts, John Adams and Daniel Webster spoke against allowing him to take any part in the government. He then went on to state that the remedy for this system of one man owning another man's job was the public or collective ownership of the chief material means of production.

Mr. Hassler then spoke and said that man was naturally selfish and vicious and that Socialism would not make a better man, but that he would remain vicious. He said that if wealth was divided that it would be only a little time before it would be in the hands of a few again. He claimed that Socialism had been often tried and failed. He said that the streets of this borough were publicly owned and that they were badly kept and that everything would be the same way if it were so owned. He said that no one liked to work, that he didn't like to do so, and that he wouldn't if he could help it.

He said that the great principle at the present time was to get ahead of the other fellow and to do him before he did you. He maintained that a profit was necessary, and wanted to know what would be done with the man who did work in which there was no perceptible profit, viz the school teacher.

Mr. Kirkpatrick replied that admitting that man was vicious as Mr. Hassler had said, then it would be good for one man not to be in position when he could control the other man's living, as he now does when he owns his job.

He said that if man was intelligent enough to elect his servants who would serve him politically, that he was sufficiently intelligent to choose a man to be foreman of a shop. He said that the only way that had ever been successfully used to curb another's power was the distribution of the power among the people who had been controlled.

He maintained that because a thing was legal it was not for that reason right, and quoted legal slavery, and absolute kingship as example.

The discussion was prolonged until nearly midnight. Everyone was interested and nearly all stayed throughout. The talk was good natured, enlivened by wit and enjoyable.

Death of Infant.

PUPILS GAVE A FINE CONCERT

Miss Evelyn Rathbun's Class Entertained a Large Audience at Waverly Last Night.

Miss Evelyn Rathbun, Sayre's well known teacher of vocal and instrumental music, gave a most delightful and highly successful concert in the Masonic Temple at Waverly last night, over 350 people from the three towns being present. Many were compelled to stand on account of inadequate seating capacity. The pupils rendered an excellent program, which demonstrated that they have been under skillful training. Miss Rathbun sang two solos which were well received and greatly appreciated. After the first song she was the recipient of two beautiful bouquets. Edwin F. Loomis, accompanied by Miss Rathbun, played two mandolin solos, which were heartily applauded and he responded to an encore.

The entire concert was a most flattering success in every detail, and reflects much credit upon Miss Rathbun and her large class of pupils.

BRUNDAGE HOUSE TO CHANGE HANDS.

M. J. Farrell Has Rented the Hotel and Will Refurnish it Thoroughly.

M. J. Farrell, who for the past five years has been employed as a machinist by the Lehigh Valley railroad company in the Sayre shops, and who is one of the most widely known and popular young men in the town, yesterday entered into a contract whereby he leases the Brundage house on Thomas avenue, and will become proprietor of the same as soon as the license can be transferred. Mr. Farrell will refurnish the hotel throughout, and make of it an up-to-date hostelry in every respect. He expects to take possession about the first of the month.

Mr. Farrell's many friends will be pleased to learn that he is to enter business life in Sayre. During his residence here he has gained a wide acquaintance and acquired a host of friends. He will conduct a first-class hotel in every particular and one which will be a credit to Sayre.

HE DESERVES A VOTE OF THANKS.

That Red Snow Plough Driven by Bert Hayden is a Public Benefaction.

That red snow plough, drawn by the bay colt and owned by Bert Hayden, is certainly a public benefaction. Most of us who work late and rise early look with anything but a friendly eye upon the fall of snow that covers the sidewalk after an evening's storm, for then it is a case of individual "dig." But as one resignedly hunts up the snow shovel and opens the door to begin work, imagine the pleasant thoughts that course through his brain when he sees the sidewalk cleaned of snow and the dim shape of Mr. Hayden's outfit receding in the distance. The Record really believes that Mr. Hayden enjoys driving his plough these crisp winter mornings. At any rate this paper is going to extend him a vote of thanks for his unselfish efforts, if no one else does.

ANOTHER OLD COIN COMES TO LIGHT.

Henry Honold Possesses One That Varies Somewhat From Others Presented.

Henry Honold has an old coin in his possession that is somewhat different from any that has yet been presented at this office here. It is not as old as some, but is not exactly young. It is dated 1787. It is a copper piece. One side bears the inscription common to most American coins, the familiar "E. Pluribus Unum" and on the other side is Nova Caesarea.

THREATENED TO BLOW UP BRIDGE

A Quarter Apece, However, Prevented Two Hoboes Committing a Crime Which Would Have Resulted in a Horrible Calamity.

For the past three days the Lehigh Valley officers have been investigating what was at first believed to have been an attempt to blow up the Athens bridge, but which subsequent developments proved to be nothing more or less than a scheme on the part of a couple of hoboes to secure money with which to purchase the liquid that cheers and that paints landscapes on the brain of man.

On Monday last the officials received a letter from a man who resides in Waverly, but who works in the high shops at Sayre, in which the writer stated that on Sunday last while walking across the bridge at Athens he saw two men on the bridge and one of them carried a can under his arm. He said that the men were acting in a suspicious manner and he asked them what they were doing there. One of them replied that they were about to blow up the bridge and that the job would be pulled off at the moment when the Black Diamond, the pride of the Lehigh, would be dashing across the structure with its load of human freight. Horrified at the very thoughts of an impending disaster, the man, whose name is withheld, began to plead to the men to abandon the horrible project. They insisted, however, that they had the plans all made and that they would blow the bridge, Black Diamond and all, sky-high. The man alternately pleaded and threatened, and finally the men agreed not to execute the terrible deed if they were provided with a quarter of a dollar apiece with which to visit some booze emporium and slake their thirst. Diving deep down in his pockets the man pulled forth two shining quarters, which the two hoboes grabbed eagerly and departed.

The following day the man who had been so generous with his coin, wrote a letter to the Lehigh officials, and the detectives went to Waverly yesterday and interviewed him. The detectives are satisfied that it was simply a scheme on the part of the hoboes to secure money with which to purchase booze.

The man whose generosity "saved" the bridge and Black Diamond from annihilation, is believed to be mentally deficient.

EXCELLENT CONCERT COMING FEBRUARY 4.

Ithaca Conservatory of Music Trio Will Appear Here for Benefit of the Baptist Church.

What will prove to be one of the most interesting entertainments to be given this season in Sayre will be the concert given by the Ithaca Conservatory of Music Trio on Tuesday evening, February 5th in the Sayre Baptist church. The company is composed of a quartette of talented and pleasing young lady artists and this concert will offer to the music loving public a rare opportunity of spending an enjoyable evening. The program will consist of piano, violin and vocal solos, duets, etc., and will be interspersed with readings. The company comes highly recommended by the public press and no one can very well miss the opportunity of hearing them. The Daily Herald of New Castle, Pa., says:

"The concert given by the members of the Ithaca Conservatory of Music Company at the Y. M. C. A. under the auspices of that institution Saturday night was one of the most pleasing musical events heard in New Castle in months. Each number was one of such quality that the large crowd present demanded encores. The work of the company was first class and a great delight to all who attended."

EVANGELICAL SERVICES AT CHURCH OF CHRIST.

They Will Begin on Tuesday Evening and Will Continue Indefinitely.

Regular services will be held at the Church of Christ in West Sayre tomorrow, in charge of T. B. Shaffer, the well-known Lehigh Valley officer. Mr. Shaffer has been conducting the services in this church for the past six weeks and is doing good work. He is a lay preacher of ability and the congregation are indeed fortunate in securing his services. Next week, beginning with Tuesday night, evangelical services will begin at the church. A noted Ohio evangelist has been secured to conduct the services and everybody is extended a cordial welcome.

Entertained at Whist.

Mrs. H. M. Bowman entertained a number of her lady friends at whist at her pleasant home, 218 South Desmond street yesterday afternoon. Four tables were played. First prize won by Mrs. E. J. Haverly; Mrs. Chas. Morgan received second prize. Elegant refreshments were served and all spent a pleasant afternoon.

BIG ADVANCE IN PRINTING MATERIAL

Therefore The Record is Compelled to Announce an Advance in the Price of Job Printing.

The advance in price on all grades of paper still continues, and in almost every mail printers are receiving notifications from paper houses that quotations are subject to change overnight. One of the largest wholesale paper firms in the East sends out a temporary price list which reads in part:

"Owing to the continued advance in all classes of paper, we quote temporarily the following prices, subject to change without notice."

"Ruled papers—Advanced same amount as advance named on flats (plain writing papers) of same brand."

"Envelopes—Average advance 10 per cent."

"Wrapping papers—Average advance one-fourth cent a pound."

"Almost all grades of cardboards, bristol, etc., have also advanced and customers are requested to ask for quotations if figuring on any large quantity of any grade of paper."

Examination of the temporary price list sent out by this large Eastern house shows that the finer grades of papers such as bonds, ledgers and ledgers, have advanced about 20 per cent in the last six weeks. Plain book paper and newspaper are also way up.

All other materials that the printing office uses have also taken an upward price turn. Type, brass rules, wood goods, inks and machinery are selling at higher prices than ever known in the history of the business.

Then, too, printers are working fewer hours per day and receiving more money for their labor than they did a year or so ago. All these factors will either force the employing printer to raise the price he gets for his completed work or go into the hands of the sheriff. While The Record proposes to furnish printed matter as cheaply as conditions allow, yet the proprietor also proposes to steer clear of the sheriff, and we herewith announce an advance in price on job printing that will be sufficient to meet the extra cost imposed by advanced prices on raw materials and labor.

Orders now booked will be filled at the old price, but from this date all orders will be subject to an increased price.

BIG DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST R. R. CO.

M. E. McDonald Sues S. L. & S. R. R. Co. to Recover a Large Sum for Breach of Contract.

Hon. E. M. Dunham was in Dushore yesterday consulting his clients in relation to the case of M. E. McDonald versus The State Line and Sullivan Railroad company. McDonald brings suit against the company to recover the sum of $1,500,000 for breach of contract on the part of the company to sell to him certain coal lands. Mr. Dunham has been retained by the railroad company and the case promises to be a most interesting one, involving as it does a large amount of money.

BREVITIES

"Sergeant James" at the Loomis this evening.
The man with the snow shovel had an opportunity to get plenty of exercise this morning.
Mrs. D. J. Kendig leaves today for New York city, where she will visit friends for a few days.
Lutheran church—Holy communion at 10:30; Sunday school at 11:40; evening service at 7:30.
The funeral of James McCabe, whose death occurred at his home on Chemung street on Thursday evening, was held this morning at 9:30 o'clock from the Church of the Epiphany, the Rev. J. L. Shanley officiating. The remains were taken to the Catholic cemetery for interment.

Lehigh's New Link.

At Buffalo the work of constructing the new $1,500,000 link of the Lehigh Valley is going on rapidly despite the cold weather. Already two miles of track have been laid, and it is expected that by the time warm weather sets in this work will be nearly completed.
The company has decided to make the link a four track line, thus insuring quick dispatch or traffic between the road's main line and the Lehigh and Lake Erie at Ridge Road. This work will increase the cost of construction about one-third according to officials. Several bridges have already been built and more will be built as occasion demands.
Gorge Crawford, a lumberman of Potter county, almost paralyzed the officials of the United States Court at Williamsport last week. Judgment in a large sum had been given against him and pending an appeal he was directed to furnish $10,000 bail. He pulled a roll of bills from his pocket and proceeded to skin off hundreds, five hundreds and thousands until the required amount was on the table. He passed it over to the clerk and asked for a receipt.
Primaries Today.
The first primaries under the new primary act are being held in Sayre through this afternoon. The method of placing in nomination officers for the spring election appears to be working satisfactorily and but little difficulty is experienced among the voters in becoming familiar with the provisions of the new law. The indications are that a light vote is being polled.

If you wish a table or a chair, or a picture, or anything in our line come here and get it. It will pay you to do so. You will secure good, strong, serviceable furniture at a surprisingly low price considering the value. We have a splendid line, the kind that is large in variety and with a big price range, suitable to every class of buyer.

MICHAEL O'HARA DIED YESTERDAY

Expired at a Hotel in South Bethlehem After a Two Months Illness.

Michael O'Hara, who has resided on South Elmer avenue in Sayre for the past four years, died yesterday at a hotel in South Bethlehem, after an illness of two months.

The deceased had been in the employ of the Lehigh Valley railroad company for about thirty years, and during nearly all of this time had been engaged in operating steam shovels. Last fall he went to Eighneville, near South Bethlehem, to do a job of excavating. One day about two months ago he was taken suddenly ill. He was removed to a hotel at South Bethlehem, and a physician called who pronounced diabetes to be the malady from which he was suffering.

He was born in Auburn, N. Y., where he spent his boyhood days. He lived at Ithaca for a time where he secured employment with the Lehigh Valley. About four years ago he came to Sayre where he has since resided. He was 55 years old and leaves a wife and a niece to mourn their loss. The remains were brought to Sayre today. The arrangements for the funeral are not yet complete.

Stetson's Uncle Tom.

"Stetson's great $35,000 production of 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' is booked for two performances at the Loomis next Wednesday, January 30. There is something about 'Uncle Tom' that appeals to all, both young and old, refined or coarse, the educated or the uneducated. It is the savor of the soil, the approved of nature which attracts, and it must be admitted, even by the blasé amusement seeker that 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' when produced in the grand manner in which the Stetson performances are always launched, possesses a charm to be found in no other form of theatrical entertainment. Yet, like everything else in this progressive age, Stetson's 'Uncle Tom' has improved with time, and each year brings out fresh novelties, new features, pleasing effects. With such an elegant and complete organization as the Stetson Company—with almost unlimited capital at its back—there is nothing which is really good omitted and even the old drama which has been seen much of late years is enhanced with new ideas to give the air of novelty.
