Local Teachers' Institute.

Athens—The local teachers' institute that is to assemble at high school hall tomorrow should claim the attention of all who have the interest of the higher education of our youth at heart. The best teachers from this vicinity are to take part and the subjects that will receive their attention are such as will be of interest to all. The sessions will open at nine o'clock to-morrow forenoon when the subjects will be on the Grammar school grades; the Rural school system and Primary school section. In the afternoon the exercises will commence at 1:30 o'clock and will be general in its scope. Mrs. Murray will give an interesting account of the Connecticut claims in this region in early times. This was the disturbing cause of the Penamite and Connecticut war and is of deep interest to all who would understand the conditions that the pioneer settlers had to contend with. It is the desire of the principal of our schools that every one should attend if possible.

Talada secured the services of lawyer Schrier and Mitchell employed I. N. Evans to attend to his case. The hearing was then postponed until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Remarkable Austrian Church.

A small watering place in Austria, named Eichwald, can boast of possessing a remarkable church. It was first built by an Italian architect at Venice at the expense of Prince Carlos Clary-Aldringen, who is a great admirer of Italian architecture. When it was finished the church was taken to pieces and packed in thousands of numbered cases for transportation to Eichwald. At that place it was eventually rebuilt and then made over to its inhabitants as a gift from the prince.

"It Suits to a T."

The clause, "It Suits to a T," meaning it fits exactly, is as old as the familiar instrument, the T-square, or T-rule (so-called from its resemblance to the letter T), used by mechanics and draftsmen for making angles true and for obtaining perpendiculars. The expression was in common use in the time of Dr. Johnson, who is quoted by Boswell as saying of Wharburton, "You see they'd have fitted him to a T."—Sunday Magazine.

Honesty in Norway.

As an example of Norwegian honesty, Lord Edward Spencer-Churchill, in a lecture, told a story of how he and his friends left a silver spoon in one of the little station houses by mistake. Two years afterward, when they passed by the house again, the silver spoon was brought to them.

Here is a Great Truth.

London's lord mayor gave the members of the Savage club, at their annual dinner not long ago, a sentence which, he informed them, he proposes to inscribe in letters of gold over the entrance to the Guildhall and in the Egyptian hall of the Mansion House. It ran: "Nobody likes long speeches except those who make them."

Rats Gnawed Through Beer Pipe.

Finding it impossible to draw beer from a barrel a barman in a Birmingham, England, restaurant went into the cellar and discovered that a hole had been eaten in the pipe by rodents. The floor was covered with beer, in which 20 rats were either lying senseless or crawling clumsily about.

Mounted House on Wheels.

Gypsy Smith has written his autobiography. Among the stories told is one of his father, who married a woman not a gypsy, and feeling compelled to provide a house for her instead of a tent, had it mounted upon wheels, so that the family could still move about.

German Land Mellow.

"It is to be remembered," writes Conant Harris, from Mannheim, "that German lands, having been worked for centuries and made as mellow as gardens, are generally sowed shallow, and do not require so perfect a plow."
