JOHN KELLEY DYING AT COUNTY FARM

Former Sayre Resident's Death is Momentarily Expected—Was a Victim of Misfortune.

A telephone message from the county farm at Burlington, received this morning, states that the death of John Kelley, formerly of this place, is momentarily expected. Mr. Kelley, who is nearly 70 years old, and his aged wife resided in Sayre for many years. He was employed for a long time as a stone mason by the Lehigh Valley. He was a first class workman and made big wages. Several years ago, he was seized by an attack of the rheumatism, which confined him to his home for a long time. He never fully recovered, though he was able to be about. His wife, came to the rescue and took in washings to support herself and husband. Another misfortune was in store for the aged couple, and a year ago last winter while she was carrying a basket of clothes up the back steps of the house in which they lived on South River street, she fell and broke both arms. Charitably inclined people came to the rescue and the couple were cared for during the next few months. Finally it was deemed advisable to send them both to the county farm.

REMAINS BROUGHT HERE FOR BURIAL

John K. Tichnor Was Killed in the Erie Yards at Buffalo, and Formerly Lived in Sayre.

The remains of John K. Tichnor, who was run down in the Erie yards at Buffalo on Thursday evening and instantly killed, were brought to the home of his half brother, Thomas Dunkley, No. 219 Spring street, this morning. The body was accompanied by John Rodgers, James Whalen, William Madigan, William Cronin, William Redding, F. Mallory and John O'Brien of Buffalo, who act as pall bearers at the funeral which will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock.

The deceased was employed by the Erie as a switchman and on Thursday evening while engaged at work he was run over by an engine. His head was badly crushed and his arm broken. He is survived by his wife and one child. He was 30 years old. The Rev. J. F. Warner, pastor of the M. E. church, will officiate at the funeral and the interment will take place at Tioga Point cemetery.

Tichnor had a half brother who was killed in the Sayre yards about two years ago.

ITALIAN PROBABLY FATALLY INJURED

Run Down By a Shift Engine in the Sayre Yards Last Night—Right Leg Crushed to the Hips.

Salvatore Caruso, an Italian laborer, who has been shoveling coal into the tenders of the Lehigh Valley engines since fire destroyed the coaling station, met with a frightful accident last night which will probably prove fatally. Caruso ceased work shortly after twelve o'clock last night to eat a lunch. He went into a little shanty near the place where he was working and after he had finished eating he stepped out of the shanty and onto a switch track directly in front of a shift engine. He was knocked down and the wheels of the locomotive passed over his right leg frightfully crushing it at a point near the hip. The unfortunate man was removed to the hospital, but the injury was of such a nature that amputation was deemed advisable. He was made as comfortable as possible, but the physicians say today that there is little chance for his recovery.

Caruso is the Italian who brought suit against the Lehigh recently to recover a sum of money which he claimed had been held out of his pay. The suit was withdrawn yesterday afternoon an amicable settlement having been made.

HARRIS ORDERED TO LEAVE TOWN.

Typographical Tourist, Fell Victim to the Drink Demon and Made a Nuisance of Himself.

William Harris, a traveling representative of the "art preservative of arts," who has been in town several days, yesterday afternoon fell a victim to the liquid that cheers and along toward evening it was necessary for the police to escort him to the borough bastle. Harris, who has a face that resembles William Jennings Bryan, spent the night in the lockup and this morning was arraigned before Justice Carey, charged with being drunk and disorderly. He said that he did not remember anything that he had done. He was told to get out of town without ceremony. He promised to migrate and was released.

Harris came to Sayre on Monday morning and he secured work at the Record office. He was a good printer and a gentleman when sober. But when Harris gets drunk he is quite a different fellow. He was relieved from duty yesterday afternoon about one o'clock. He received his pay and in two hours he was unfit to be seen in public places and was making a nuisance of himself generally. He was warned to leave the streets but he persisted in making it known that he was in town until the police landed him in a cell at the lockup. Immediately after his release from the lockup he steered for a booze emporium.

SPRING PRIMARIES.

Any Person May Become a Candidate By Presenting a Petition Signed By Certain Number of Voters Which Secures Name on Election Ballot.

All nominations for next Fall's election must be made according to the new uniform primaries act, unless the legislature now in session shall change the law. The act left it optional with each county whether the Winter nominations should be made in that way or the old fashion, but not so with the Spring primary.

The spring primaries must be held the first Saturday in June. On or before the ninth Saturday preceding that date the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the state chairmen of the different parties and the county chairmen must send to the county commissioners a list of such congressional, officers, state delegates and party officers, as are to be chosen under their respective rules. This list of offices or honorary stations is to be advertised for three weeks in two newspapers of different political policy, so that all may know what places are to be filled.

Any person may become a candidate for any one of these positions and may have his name printed upon the primary ballots by presenting a petition signed by the requisite number of voters, as follows: For member of congress, judge of state senator, 200 names; for representative in the legislature, 50 names; for all other offices, 10 names. Ballots for the different parties are to be printed in much the same form as the official ballots for regular elections are now printed. The primaries are to be held by the regular election officers at the customary election places, said officers to receive one-half as much pay as for a regular election. The cost of the primaries is to be paid out of the county treasury, but to the state treasurer, he will reimburse the county.

STATION BURGLARS HEADED THIS WAY.

Men Who Entered D. L. & W. Station Early This Morning Boarded West Bound Freight in Coxton Yards.

The D. L. & W. station at Pittston was entered by burglars at an early hour this morning and two men who are suspected of having done the job are believed to be headed toward Sayre. One man is described as wearing a light hat and long black overcoat, while his companion is dressed in a black suit of clothes and wore a black derby hat. The special officers of the Lehigh have been notified. The men were seen to board a west bound Lehigh freight train in the Coxton yards just before daylight, and it is thought that they may reach Sayre some time this afternoon.

The man who SEEKS experience may seek it anywhere. The man who HEEDS experience takes a policy in EX-CONVICT SCORES WARDEN.

Says Illegal Proportion of Prisoners at Work Was Hidden.

Pittsburg—Serious charges to the effect that the convict labor law is being flagrantly violated in the Western Penitentiary and that the members of the Legislative Investigating Committee which recently visited the institution were deliberately deceived by the officials of the prison, were made Thursday by Harry Brovsky a discharged prisoner.

Brovsky served eight years in the prison for burglary. After being released this morning he said:

The day before the inspectors from the Legislature made their calls the warden locked 130 prisoners up in their cells, because there were too many men at work in the shops.

The law only allows 20 per cent of the inmates to work in the matting shops, 10 per cent in the stocking shop and 5 per cent in the broom shop. These percentages were exceeded by the prison officials at all times.

Two days after the committee from the Legislature left the place the men were released from their cells and again sent back to the shops to work, although it was against the law to do so.

Colonel Harry Corbett, deputy warden of the prison, denies the charges of Brovsky. He says that because of the small number of convicts in the hospital the day the committee went through the prison more prisoners were working than have been employed in the shops for some time before or since.

SHOT LITTLE BROTHER WITH GUN NOT LOADED.

Twelve-Year-Old Girl, to Prove What She Said, Pulled Trigger.

Chester, Pa.—"Oh, it isn't loaded!" declared Mamie Cooper, aged 12 years when warned by one of her playmates to use more care in handling a revolver, which she picked up from a table in her home, at 1428 West Second street, Thursday night.

Mamie didn't know, as subsequent events proved she pulled the trigger just to show her friends that the weapon was perfectly harmless, instantly there was a report, and Mamie's 8-year-old brother Allen fell to the floor, screaming with pain and with blood flowing from a wound in his face.

The little boy was hurried to the Chester Hospital, where it was found that the wound was not serious, but at the time the victim of Sister Mamie's excitation had a close call. Two of his front teeth were shot out and his mouth was somewhat damaged, but the doctors say the wound will soon heal. What is puzzling the physicians and parents of the boy is what has become of the bullet from the revolver. Young Allen says he spotted it out of his mouth, but a search failed to reveal the whereabouts of the leaden pellet.

Allen declares he didn't eat the bullet.

Let the Children In.

The Grand Jury of Philadelphia, very properly has directed public attention to the hardship imposed upon the school children who arrive at the schools in advance of the present regulation hour for opening the doors. What ever the weather, the doors are not opened until the appointed time, and the pupils must perforce stand huddled about until the agent of Rule and Discipline—usually the janitor—says they may enter. We do not know to what extent this utterly inconsiderate practice obtains, but it must be very generally to have occasioned action by a Grand Jury. The moment a child arrives at school it should be permitted to go in. To exclude it in inclement weather "because the hour has not come," is cruelty. Open the doors!

Monsters on Wheels.

Other railroad companies will no doubt follow the example of the Erie in providing larger pushing engines. The Erie has built a trio of Mallet articulated locomotives, which are the largest in the world. Each locomotive has sixteen driving wheels, four cylinders. The boiler is almost nine feet in diameter and contains 468 tubes 21 feet long. The engine weighs 410,000 pounds. The tender carries 8,500 gallons of water and 16 tons of coal.

Clinton D. Wheeler of Lestershire, Thursday evening, by the jury in the Brome county court at Binghamton, was found guilty of violating the state insurance laws in that he aided in securing insurance in New York state for the Keystone Guard, a fraternal insurance society of Athens, Pa., which has not designated the Superintendent of Insurance of New York state as its attorney and for that reason is not allowed to do business in the state.

Willes-Barre, Pa.—The jail-breaking record for 12-year-old boys is held by John Rominsky, of this city, who Thursday morning escaped from the third time within two months from the custody of the United Charities, where he was held to be sent to the Glen Mills Reformatory, to which he had been sentenced by the Juvenile Court.

The first two times he escaped, he was accompanied by John Buckwitz, aged 15. Thursday, however, he was alone in the cell and managed to get out some time before daybreak.

The "reds" won and the "gold" by the terms of the contest were compelled to serve the members of the league with a supper. An entertainment was provided in connection with the supper and all present report a most enjoyable time.
