DELMAS SCORCHES LITTLE LAWYER

New York Attorney, State Witness, Shown to Be Convicted Criminal and Liable to Imprisonment. Alibi Sure Thaw is Same.

NEW YORK, March 16.—At the opening of the Thaw trial District Attorney Jerome consented to a request from Mr. Delmas of the defense that he be allowed to defer the cross examination of Dr. Austin Flint, who, in answer to two hypothetical questions, had declared the opinion that Thaw, at the time he shot and killed Stanford White, was sane and knew the nature and quality of his act. Dr. Flint accordingly was excused, and Mr. Jerome put five alibis upon the stand one after the other. Asserting their familiarity with the hypothetical question put to the experts for the defense and also Mr. Jerome's 15,000 word exposition of the evidence, they declared their opinion that at the time he shot and killed Stanford White Thaw knew the nature and quality of his act and knew that the act was wrong.

Just after lunch Evelyn Thaw was recalled by Mr. Delmas, who sought to prevent the introduction of further testimony by Abraham Hummel. He asked her if she visited Hummel's office in the capacity of a client at the time she is alleged to have made the now famous affidavit declaring that the charges against Stanford White were false.

After strenuous objections by Jerome had been overruled she replied decidedly, "I did." Delmas' victory was short lived, however, for Justice Fitzgerald ruled that the defense could not now plead the professional privilege in bar of Hummel's testimony, for the privilege was involuntarily waived when young Mrs. Thaw herself took the stand and told of the occurrences in Hummel's office.

Late in the session, after Justice Fitzgerald had ruled that Evelyn Thaw could not plead the privileged relation of client and counsel in regard to her interviews with Abe Hummel, Mr. Jerome promptly summoned Hummel to the stand.

"When Evelyn Nesbit called upon you at your office," asked Mr. Jerome, "did she not tell you that Thaw had begged her time and again to sign and swear to documents he had prepared charging Stanford White with her betrayal and that when she had told Thaw it was not so Thaw had beaten her?"

Mr. Delmas promptly objected, but Justice Fitzgerald overruled the objection. "Yes," said Hummel.

"What next fact do you recollect in connection with this matter?" asked Mr. Jerome.

"I received the statement typewritten from the stenographer," Mr. Jerome here handed to Hummel a copy of the affidavit Evelyn Nesbit is said to have made in his office.

"Did you ever see it before?" asked the prosecutor.

"Yes, sir, in my office," Mr. Delmas said he objected to the whole line of examination. His objections were overruled, and he noted exceptions.

Mr. Hummel said that the paper handed him was a carbon copy of the statement he had dictated in the presence of Miss Nesbit.

BRYAN THE LEADER

Nebraskan at Boston Hailed as Democratic Chief.

"BARRING ROOSEVELT, HE CAN WIN"

Claims He Was Beaten in 1896 by Fraud and Corruption Campaign Funds—Practices President's Use of "Our Ideas."

BOSTON, March 16.—George Fred Williams, welcoming William Jennings Bryan at a dinner here, referred to Mr. Bryan as the "acknowledged leader of the national Democratic party," saying also:

"No ten years of our history have brought to a public man a surer vindication of his principles and policies, saving perhaps the first ten years of the last century when the Democratic party took the place of the Federalist party in our national politics."

Turning to Mr. Bryan, the speaker said: "I have no right, sir, to place you in the position of a candidate for office until you have authorized it, but I take no undue advantage of my position and believe I represent the sentiment of the Massachusetts Democracy when I say that the success of our party rests upon your shoulders whether you will or not."

"If President Roosevelt abides by his refusal to become a candidate, so Republican, unless he be more radical than the president, can prevent the election of William Jennings Bryan to the presidency."

Mr. Bryan was given a grand demonstration, all those present standing and cheering repeatedly. Chairman Feeley introduced him as "the foremost figure in American statesmanship" and expressed his doubt if any office which Mr. Bryan might hold would make him any dearer to the American people.

After acknowledging the greeting Mr. Bryan referred to the fact that some people had termed him "an emotional orator." He then remarked, "But I err at all I err on the side of conservatism."

Taking up the accusation that he was the author of the Democratic platform of 1896, Mr. Bryan declared that he wrote but little of that platform and deserved little of the credit for it, but that he had more to do with the platform of 1900.

"I think," asserted Mr. Bryan, "that if we had had a vote unpurchased and unutilized in 1896 I would have been elected by an overwhelming majority."

He went on: "I shall not discuss the amount of fraud that was perpetrated in 1896, but we had against us the largest corporation fund that was ever used in a campaign. If a man voted our ticket he did so because he believed in it and because he had the moral courage to do so. I would a thousand times rather be a defeated candidate with the following I had than hold an office and have to thank corporation and intimidation. It is better to have run and lost than never to have run at all."

No one rejoiced more than he in the vindication that has come to Democratic ideas, for dearer to him than any office was the triumph of the things for which they had been fighting.

"And I rejoice so much," said Mr. Bryan, "that I never lose an opportunity to thank the president for what he has done. The president was one of my opponents. No one ever used harsher language than he toward our cause. Yet I want the man in the community to anticipate me in hearty commendation of anything he does that I believe is right. I do not know what the president's attitude will be in the coming campaign, but it is certain that he cannot take back what he has said about our ideas."

"Ten years ago they called our ideas insanity, yet on no question that we ever discussed have we been more vindicated than on our idea that more money would make higher prices and better times."

"The Republican party has been in power for ten years, with undisturbed rule. If it has not done anything that ought to have been done it is its own fault. What is the result? We find the Republican party not so popular today. The party has gone on the to-boggan slide, so that now it has just one man whom I regard as a popular enough to be the candidate for president. Why is it that the president alone has escaped the paralysis that has fallen upon all the rest? There is only one explanation, and that is that his popularity is due to his following the Democratic doctrine."

Mr. Bryan charged that the slump in stocks of which the men in high finance complained was caused by the very men who are now complaining.

"If I may venture a prediction," he added, "I would say that in the light that's coming the Democratic party will be looked upon as the protector of the small investor against the manipulation of the sharks that have obtained power in Wall street."

Mr. Bryan was given a second ovation when he concluded his address. He left soon for Providence, R. I.

Negroes Lynched at Monroe.
MONROE, La., March 15.—Fifteen Williams and Henry Gardner, two young negroes, were taken from the city jail about 1 o'clock and hanged in the courthouse square by a party of about fifty men. Both negroes confessed to having, with a third negro, shot and robbed two Italians on Monday night. Gardner also confessed to having entered the room of Miss Jessie Bumpus about 1 o'clock Tuesday morning.

American Visitor Dropped Dead.
HAVANA, March 15.—George Stewart, an American visitor from Cedar Rapids, Ia., dropped dead at the Trocha hotel in a suburb of this city. He arrived in Havana Feb. 14 and had been suffering from Bright's disease.
