Man Who Draws Salary of $15,000 Per Year Paid $3.00 Fine For Being Drunk in Sayre.

A man who gave his name as William Moore, but who failed to tell where he resides, was arrested by Officer Vogel last night, charged with being drunk and disorderly. Moore was consigned to one of the cells in the borough lockup, and he is probably the best dressed man that has ever occupied that asylum for bugs and insects. Moore when arraigned before Justice Nelson stated that he was employed by a firm which paid him $15,000 per year for his services. He also stated that he had enough coin of the realm in his valise to purchase the whole of Sayre. While this statement was doubted the man's clothes verified the fact that he was accustomed to handling and spending large amounts of money. He wore an expensive suit of clothes and an overcoat of the finest broadcloth, trimmed with a collar of astrakhan. He contributed three dollars to the borough fund, and this morning said that he thought he had been treated unfairly. He admitted having stopped in Sayre for the purpose of having a quiet little time. He fell in with a number of young fellows, and one of them accused him of not being what he stated. In other words the young fellow says "Moore, you're trying to be what you ain't." Moore didn't relish this sort of an accusation and it is alleged that he let go his right which landed on the young fellow's jaw and put him out of business. Later Officer Vogel was notified and Moore was introduced to Sayre's palatial lockup.

WITEROUSLY INJURED AT HAY'S CORNERS.

John Lyman Found Lying Along Lehigh Tracks Suffering From Numerous Bruises.

Suffering from a badly sprained ankle and numerous body bruises, John Lyman, 29 years old, a resident of Romulus, N. Y., was found lying along the Lehigh Valley tracks at Hay's Corners yesterday afternoon by the train crew on an eastbound local. How Lyman met with the injuries is a mystery. He is thought to have boarded the local at his home in Romulus, as before the train pulled out of the station he asked the engineer for a ride. The engineer noted that Lyman was drunk and refused to allow him to ride. When the train reached Hay's Corners the engineer saw lying along side the track what at first appeared to be a large Newfoundland dog. A closer investigation however, revealed the form of a man, it was Lyman, but he was too intoxicated to tell how he had been injured. The engine was uncoupled from the train and Lyman was taken to his home in Romulus where he was given medical attendance. His injuries are not likely to prove serious.

Pleasantly Entertained.

Miss Edna Turner entertained her Sunday school class and their parents at her home on South Elmer avenue last evening. About twenty were present and the evening was very pleasantly spent with games and music. At the close of her short program Miss Ethel West as treasurer, announced that about $40.00 was in the treasury to apply on the pledge of the class toward the proposed new Presbyterian church with several of the members yet to hear from. This amount has been raised in about six weeks, and as the average age of the members is only about twelve years they seem to have set an excellent example for their elders. Refreshments were served after the treasurer's report and the company broke up voting themselves a success as financiers.

Police Notes.

Jack Buck, an unfortunate fellow, whose mental condition is considerably unbalanced, was cared for by the police last night. Jack was found wandering about the street and the police took charge of him for his own protection. He was liberated this morning upon promising to go home and stay off the streets.

John Rose, an east side resident, imbibed freely of the cup that cheers and as his conduct on the street was unbecoming a gentleman he was given a berth in one of the cells. Justice Nelson suspended sentence.

Spring Is Here.

Spring, gentle spring, is here at last, having arrived yesterday with the advent of the first organ grinder. Let the spring poet come forth and the season will be here in all its glory and grandeur.

Interest in the Thaw case appears to be waning. The New York newspapers are commencing to print the stuff on the back pages of their papers instead of the first page.

IMPORTANT TO POSTOFFICE PATRONS.

The Last Street Collection Will Be Made at Four O'clock in the Afternoon.

For several years, in fact ever since the free delivery service has been established it has been the practice of the local postoffice people to make a collection of the four boxes on the main square of the town and also at the Railroad station at seven-thirty and nine o'clock every evening, detailing one of the postoffice clerks for this duty.

It has recently developed that this matter of detailing a clerk to collect mails is contrary to the departmental regulations and in consequence of the regulations, notice is given that there will be no street collections from the letter boxes, following the last trip of the carriers who leave the postoffice at four (4) p. m.; and parties having important mail for forwarding will expediate its delivery by placing in the postoffice, for forwarding via the night and early morning mails.

HOPES ARE FADING.

Haviland States That He Will Pay Back No Money.

James T. Haviland, the New York stock specialist, continues to occupy a cell in the Scranton jail, but instead of being downcast and dejected, he appears to be cheerful, and hopeful that a settlement will yet be reached. He was seen at the jail Thursday, and was greatly surprised to learn of the failure of Aquila Rich. He could give no explanation for it, except that his bank account might have been attached by Kaufman & Company for the creditors.

"I have no reason to offer to settle," said Haviland, "for the reason that I never handled a cent of these people's money. It was sent to Mr. Rich with a copy of the contract that appears in the Sun today, directing that it be disposed of under my order. Since I did not handle the money and had nothing to do with it I could not and would not make any offer to settle anything that I was not responsible for. I did say that my lawyer was going to New York and that if they wanted him to see Mr. Rich to try to get him to make a settlement that it was agreeable to me."

Haviland admitted that so far as he knew the money of the Scranton people was wiped out and that he was making no effort to pay it back, nor would he, for the reason that he was not responsible.

Requisition papers will be asked of Governor Stuart, at Harrisburg, to bring to Scranton Rich and the other men whom it is claimed, are in the conspiracy.

If the effort is successful, and it is likely to be, the men who are wanted will be asked to furnish bail similar in amount to that required of Haviland, which is now about $50,000.

Troy Churches In Luck.

Three Troy churches have been liberally remembered in the last few years in the wills of members, and one very recently by an endowment by the living. The latest to be a beneficiary is the First Baptist church, of which the late Mrs. Azor Rockwell was for many years a devoted member. In her will, which has not yet been probated, Mrs. Rockwell is understood to have given the church $1,000. The amount, or the annual proceeds of it, will be a welcome addition to the income of the society. —Troy Gazette.

Box Car Door Missing.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad company has lost a box car door, and if the missing article is found it should be returned to the superintendent of the Buffalo division. When Conductor Cunningham of No. 605 westbound extra freight inspected his train this morning he found that a door on one of the freight cars was gone. It had jumped from its place and is probably lying along the tracks somewhere between this place and Buffalo.

Entertained Her Friends.

Miss Kathryn Carey, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Carey, entertained about a dozen of her little friends at her parents' home No. 107 South Elmer avenue, this afternoon, the occasion being her fifth birthday. Games were played and refreshments were served and the little ones report a fine time.

Index Finger Amputated.

While walking between two cars in the Milltown yards yesterday afternoon M. J. Hoffman, a Lehigh brakeman, got his hand caught between the bumpers crushing the member so badly that at the hospital it was necessary to amputate the index finger. The second finger was also badly bruised and lacerated but the physicians hope to save it.

Joseph Juck's, aged 32 years, a resident of Chestnut street, Wilkes-Barre, started for Brookside yesterday to get his pay. He decided to take the Valley tracks as a shorter route and was walking along when he was struck by a train and instantly killed. His body was removed to his boarding house.

ICE MOVES OUT OF THE SUSQUEHANNA

Passed Down Stream This Morning and Fears of a Big Flood Have Been Dispelled.

The ice in the Susquehanna river at this point moved quietly and peacefully last night, and as the snow has almost entirely disappeared there is but little fear of a flood. The river has been frozen up since the first of February. At different times considerable alarm has been felt as to the probability of a big flood but the manner in which the ice went out has dispelled these fears and there is no longer any cause for worry.

The great flood of 1865 occurred just forty-two years ago tomorrow. The older inhabitants remember this flood and say that all others are just mere freshets in comparison.

FREIGHT CAR THIEVES STILL DOING BUSINESS.

Unidentified Miscreants Are Giving the Lehigh Officers No End of Trouble.

Freight car thieves and car seal breakers are giving the Lehigh Valley officers no end of trouble and despite the fact that several arrests have been made the depredations continue and they have become so numerous of late that the officers confess that they are up against a disagreeable proposition. At Towanda yesterday afternoon a pickup train gathered up five freight cars, and the seals on all of them had been broken open. The interior of the cars showed that the contents had been disturbed but it is not known whether or not anything of value was taken.

This morning a number of cars at VanEtten Junction were also found with seals broken and boxes of merchandise in one of the cars had been broken open and the contents pilfered. The special officers are making an effort to apprehend the miscreants but thus far they have met with but little success.

Dedicative Services.

Dedicative services will be held at the Lutheran church tomorrow at 10:30 o'clock in the morning and at 7:30 in the evening. The Rev. J. F. C. Flick of Philadelphia, will preach both morning and evening.

On Monday and Tuesday evenings special services will be held at 8 o'clock p. m. Monday evening the Rev. J. F. Beates of Wilkes-Barre, will preach, while on Tuesday evening the pulpit will be occupied by the Rev. J. C. Schlenker of Hazleton.

The church has recently been remodeled and the congregation now have a fine edifice in which to hold religious worship.

Entertained Her Class.

Mrs. N. J. Rice entertained her Sunday school class of twelve boys at her home, corner of Frederick street last evening. The dining room decorations were of shag, rock green, in honor of St. Patrick's day, and for souvenirs each boy was presented with a St. Patrick's hat filled with candy.

Each of the boys brought a package containing eatables or clothing, and when the party was assembled they went to the home of a needy family in West Sayre, and gave them a happy surprise. On their return refreshments were served and the evening was spent playing games and guessing conundrums.

Conductor Killed.

Henry J. Eichler of Hazleton, a conductor on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, while assisting the trainmen at Hazleton on Wednesday in coupling two cars of the train on which he was conductor, was caught between the bumpers and received injuries which resulted in his death at the State Hospital at Hazleton at an early hour yesterday morning. He was 44 years of age and was one of Hazleton's best known residents. He is survived by his wife and seven children, ranging in age from 2 to 16 years. Deceased was a railroadier all his life and was in the employ of the Lehigh Valley for many years.

Birthday Surprise.

The members of the Methodist church choir accompanied by a number of friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Thompson of Spring street, in honor of Mrs. L. M. Smiley, the occasion being her birthday. The gathering was in the nature of a surprise and a most delightful evening was enjoyed by the thirty or more who were present.

COMMUNICATED

As Others See It.

In the issue of the Evening News of the 15th inst. appears an article which is founded not only upon the least semblance of truth but which does an injustice to the Wilbur House, its patrons and also the community. The article states that Mr. Wood entertained a gang of strikebreakers of Farley's worst pickings, that he regrettably the courteous hospitality he extended to them, that he took the precaution to stand spy over his patrons and to call to his aid the Chief of Police. The article confesses that Mr. Wood denied that any property of his was carried away, therefore the article seems to have been written in response to a cheap desire for notoriety. In the first place the writer had no interview with Mr. Wood; second, it is the avowed policy of the Wilbur House to be no respecter of persons and to treat all its patrons with equal justice; that although these patrons were working men for the most part they did not overstep the bounds of good behavior in any respect whatever.

A newspaper should safeguard the chief interests of the community which supports it and when, for the sake of filling its columns, it must resort to articles which distort the truth and cast criticisms upon those chief institutions which express the highest and best interests of the community, it is both a confession of the paucity of its ability to gather news and its power to be a creative element in the community.
