

We Must Meet Insults.

The Republican victory of 1888 has placed great and urgent responsibilities on the party. With the Executive, the Senate and the House Republican, the party must take the entire responsibility for what is done and what is not done during the coming sessions of Congress. Whatever blunders or sins it has committed in the past, says the Chester Evening News, they have chiefly been those of omission rather than of commission, or to put it another way, a lack of that stalwartism that characterized the party during the early days of its existence. Parties like individuals, must have character, and they must be brave in maintaining what they believe. The success of the Republican party has been mainly due to the fact that it has been outspoken in its creed, and aggressive in its character.

But it has had its periods of doubts, and it has sometimes faltered when it should have been resolute. Whenever it did so, it lost prestige and power, and strengthened the opposing forces. The Democracy came into power not on its own strength but because the Republican party became too conservative, too cowardly, too willing to compromise, where compromise was construed as a surrender. Had Republicanism been as stalwart since 1876 as it was before that time, James G. Blaine would have been elected President in 1884. We lost the victory because he wanted our stalwartism, and instead of being aggressive placed ourselves on the defensive. We may as well confess that the two last administrations of the Republicans were not of that war kind, but that they were tinctured with muggumpism. Had we thrown those dangerous parties overboard we would not have gone into the contest of 1884 with treason in our ranks and sentimentality impairing the vigor of true party loyalty.

The Democracy won through the dissensions and divisions caused by such a policy, but the Republicans saw their mistake and renewing their fealty to their creed and keeping in sight the old land marks they regained the powers they had lost, and are now entrenched in both the Executive and legislative branches of the government. Whether we will remain there, or be driven out at the end of four years will depend on whether we have a strong, stalwart administration. If we have we will remain; if not, we may have to walk the gang plank. The responsibility rests wholly with us, and we should be brave in accepting it.

There are live issues to be met, and our party must meet them with wisdom and courage. What we need is an out and out Republican administration—an administration that will surprise no principle nor policy, but will stand on its platform first, last, and all the time. The duty of the President and Congress may be summed up in a sentence; to place Republicans in office, and to carry out in legislation a thorough Republican Policy. We believe the President will do his part, and it only remains for the Senate and House to perform theirs. Every principle incorporated in the national platform should be put in practice. Faith without words is as dead as a door nail. We want no more of such still born theories.

Some of the important issues to be met, are the tariff question, the international revenue taxes, the protection of the colored people and Republicans of the South in their private and political rights, and others of a minor nature. On the tariff issue our party is pledged, and it must act promptly and fearlessly according to promise. It should lighten or entirely remove the burden of revenue taxation, and if it wishes to remain in power it must see that all citizens have practically equal political rights. There must be no equivocating, no hedging, no deserting. The people expect this, nay they demand it, and we must obey.

The people decided that they did not wish a continuance of a Democratic administration, and hence they placed the Republicans in power. They ask for a return of the old time stalwartism and noting short of that will satisfy them.

A Bible in the Flood.

The Pittsburg Dispatch relates the following remarkable incident: Three young men strolling along the river bank in Millvale borough, the other evening, saw lying in the sand a Bible, all tattered and torn. One gave the book a kick, the second man did the same thing, but the third reproved his companions for such a lack of respect toward the Bible, at the same time picking it up, meaning to preserve it as a relic. After he had examined it he found it was a family Bible with a complete history of a Mrs. Catharine Davis of Johnstown, Pa.

That evening while he was speaking about the finding of the Bible to a friend, the question was asked what name the Bible contained, and to the inquirer's utter amazement he found the Bible to belong to his wife's mother, who was drowned in the flood. This gentleman was Mr. John Wood, of Lawrenceville. His wife is the daughter of the late Mrs. Davis, of Johnstown, and the Bible had floated down from the wrecked city. On the same evening Mrs. Wood identified the book and it was received by her as a legacy from her dead mother, coming to her in a most providential way.

Eaglesmere Church.

In a recent issue we noticed at some length the general plan of the proposed chapel of St. John's in the wilderness at Eaglesmere, and noted the change of site to the more eligible and larger lot at the corner of Jones Street and the Muncy Valley road. Matters have now taken a definite shape and the work will be pushed to completion. On Saturday last the Rev. Samuel P. Kelly, the indefatigable Diocesan Missionary visited the Lake, spent the whole day in calling upon the people, and in the evening gathered the Building Committee together at the residence of Mr. Harry C. Clay, where it was ascertained that there was on hand in bank subject to the Cheque of the Treasurer $1886.41, in addition to this there is $100 or in the hands of a gentleman in Bethlehem $750.00 were subscribed during the day, making a present total of $2736.41. The general plan presented by Architect Jones of New York, (a water color sketch of which is hanging in the Hotel Eaglesmere) was adopted, substituting a wood for a stone tower. A committee was appointed to secure plans and specifications and obtain bids and push matters, so that work may be begun during the present month.

Mr. Jones is the Architect who designed "Wyno" the elegant summer residence of C. LaRue Munson, just completed. The building committee consists of Messrs C. LaRue Munson of Williamsport, Mrs. Harry C. Clay of Philadelphia, George Smith, of Eaglesmere, and Lewis S. Smith, of Muncy.

Banker Jamison's Syndicate.

The Phila. Record of last Saturday says that a $4,000,000 syndicate to develop coal, iron and lumber land in Eastern Pennsylvania is one of the results of Banker B. J. Jamison's recent trip to Europe. The company, which is largely backed by English capital, is to develop 100 square miles of land in Sullivan county. Morton McMichael, of the First National Bank, is interested in the scheme.

The corporation is known as the Central Pennsylvania Land and Railroad Company, and is capitalized at over $2,000,000 and bonds will be issued amounting to over $1,000,000. A number of saw-mills are to be erected, and the coal and iron which it is believed exists will be worked immediately. The Bloomsburg and Sullivan Railroad has already been acquired, and will be extended northward to the Bernice coal fields. The Reading Railroad has recently built a link from Rupert to Bloomsburg, giving it a connection with the new developments. A large business will be thrown over the Reading Railroad.

Now then, should this move prove successful it would necessitate the running of a great many cars, and as stated above, would throw a large business to the Reading R. R. In consequence thereof car shops would be needed at some point in this section and as Bloomsburg is the most convenient and centrally located town of any importance along the division, it is quite probable that with a little work on the part of our citizens and board of trade such shops might be located here.—Ex.

The woman in Jersey City who was convicted of being a common scold was condemned to pay a fine of $25 with costs. Will our friends, the Muggumps, kindly take warning?

A Decision of Interest.

At the last session of the legislature a bill was passed appropriating $50,000 to defray the expenses of the soldiers to and from Gettysburg on the occasion of the dedication of the monument September 11 and 12. A doubt existed as to who would come under the provisions of this act and attorney-general Kilpatrick was called upon to decide the matter. He has decided that to be entitled to transportation the soldier's name must have been on the roll, not only prior to but at the time of battle. The requirements are that he must have been honorably discharged; that he must have been a resident of Pennsylvania at the date of the passage of this act and that his organization must have been participated in the battle.

Good News for Grand Army Men.

It is now positively known that the reunion of old soldiers to be held in Milwaukee, on the occasion of the Twenty-third G. A. R. Encampment, during the last week in August, will be a magnificent success.

Notwithstanding the ill advised circulars issued by a few department commanders, requesting comrades to refrain from going to Milwaukee on account of their failure to hulloze the railroad companies into making excursion rates below the actual cost of transportation, the rank and file of the Grand Army are going to the reunion in overwhelming numbers. The advice of Commander-in-Chief Warner to "go, if possible," seems to meet the inclination of a large majority of the veterans who fought to save the Union, and who now, that the war is over, refuse to be "ordered" by individuals possessed of a little brief authority.

The City of Milwaukee has renewed its invitation to all to come; its Common Council has appropriated $40,000 to pay for tents and barracks; $10,000 will be spent in arranging for a Naval Battle to be fought on Lake Michigan in full view of a quarter of a million of spectators, and other thousands of dollars will be contributed by public spirited citizens for the entertainment of the city's guests.

The railroad companies terminating at Milwaukee have heartily cooperated with the Citizens' Committee and have demonstrated that their tendencies are liberal in many ways.

Private residence will be thrown open, hotels will be reasonable in charges for board, schools, churches and halls will furnish abundant facilities for lodging those who have not made previous preparation for places to lay their heads.

There will be plenty to eat and drink, and the only thing to remember is: "Leave your trunk at home and bring only such baggage as can be carried in a satchel in your hand." Don't forget this particular injunction.

Milwaukee extends a hearty greeting to the boys in blue and their families and their friends, and expects to see in the grand parade a larger concourse of veterans keeping step to the music of the Union than has been gathered together since the close of the war of the rebel lion.

EAGLESMEERE NOTES.

On Monday afternoon the Grand Tennis Tournament, which lasted for three days was commenced on the court back of Hotel Eaglesmere, and was attended by a large gathering of the fair sex and many tennis experts. Mr. Herbert Smith of Muncy acted umpire. The score was not complete upon going to press.

Among the distinguished arrivals last week were Senator Peale of Clinton. The Rev. J. B. Sebastian Hodgess. D. D. Rector of St. Pauls Baltimore the eminent musical composer, and the Rev. Dr. McKnight Rector of Trinity church Elmira New York.

SONESTOWN ITEMS.

Miss Mamie Keise of our place started on Monday for York, Pa., where she will make her home with Rev. Maurice Thomas. Hope she will be pleased with the place and we know the people will be pleased with her. Sonestown's loss is York's gain.

We hear that Squire Simmons performed a marriage ceremony last week. We do not know how true it is, but Squire is never behind the times.

Harry Phillips has taken the position as brakeman on the freight train on the W. & N. B. Mind your fingers old man for you have none to spare.

Jacob Lorah has been running his mill the last week. The blow of the whistle and the puff of the engine seems to live up the town as if we were blessed with a good manufacturing town. He expects his excelsior machine soon.

Prof. Black of Forksville visited our town and kindly informed us that he would hold the fall term of Institute at our place beginning in about three weeks and lasting over a month. We are pleased to be favored with this and if the Prof. comes out for the second term his kindness will be remembered by our school directors. Success to free education and High Tariff.

The festival on Saturday evening passed off very quiet, there being a good crowd and the weather fine every one seemed to enjoy themselves. The proceeds was for Rev. Mr. Cares.

Dora, youngest daughter of Geo. Houseknecht and wife, died on Monday afternoon at 5:15. Interred Wednesday at Ebenezer church. The death was caused by whooping cough and dysentery. They have the sympathy of the community.

PUZZLE.

I am composed of only twelve letters
My 10-11-4-5, grows from the ground.
My 2-1-4-9 is foudid about man or beast.
My 6-7-4-8 is of use to us all.
My 12-3-4-4 is of value before it is mixed.
My whole stands above all in the land we now live.

Mr. editor I expect to send three of the above this year, and the one that sends the correct answers to you first with ten cent stamps, I will give a silver pocket cup.

Mr. Geo. Hazzen's baby is very sick with the dysentery. Hope by next issue I may report it well.

Where is Abraham's water-melon.

They say Harvey quit the freight on Monday, but I say no.

They claim that Ralph and Jake has a new brother-in-law.
