

J. V. RETTENBURY, WATCHMAKER AND JEWELER, DUSHORE, PA.

The platform adopted by the Republican State convention is one that cannot but meet the approval of right thinking and progressive people. The endorsement of the administration of President Harrison and Governor Beaver will be approved by everyone, while the declaration in favor of a high protective tariff shows the party to have the best interests of the State at heart.

Henry Kline Boyer who was nominated for State Treasurer by the Republican State Convention was born in Evansburg, Montgomery county, seven miles northwest of Norristown, on November 19th, 1850. His father, Ephraim D. Boyer, and his mother, Rebecca Kline, are living. They are descendants of Pennsylvania Germans.

SULLIVAN'S SENTENCE. A Year in the County Jail—His Case Appealed to the Supreme Court—Sullivan Makes a Speech.

PURVIS, Miss., Aug. 17.—Judge Calhoun having made remarks for clemency, there was a painful anxiety to learn what the sentence would be. The silence was broken by the defendant Sullivan himself, who rose in stately grandeur and addressed the Court as follows:

"Your Honor I desire to make a few remarks. I can only ask your clemency in the matter. No doubt I have done something, but, as my counsel told you, I was ignorant of the law. I am not as oratorically expert as the distinguished District Attorney, or as my counsel on my right, who have addressed you, and therefore beg to remain your humble servant, John L. Sullivan."

Then he took his seat. At this action and appeal by the defendant the excitement became more intense. The Judge seemed loth to relieve the anxious suspense, for he sat a long time contemplating the matter before him. The tension of feeling at this stage was strong until at length it was relieved by the Judge, who proceeded to say:

Gentlemen, passing sentence has always been of considerable trouble and concern to me even in small cases, except where the law has one absolute punishment. It seems to me that the prize fight at Richburg, of which this defendant stands convicted, was a gross affront to the laws of the State whose authorities personally forbade it.

A fatal affray occurred in town on Monday last between Jessie Phelps, of this place, and Wm. Root, of Eaton, resulting in the death of the latter; the particulars of which are as follows, as near as we could get them.

It seems both men had been drinking, but Root was said to be most under the influence of liquor at the time of the rencontre, which occurred at about half past seven p. m., in the alley leading to S. D. Steven's barn or down at the side of the barn.

Mr. Root and another young man were in a one horse wagon of Mr. Root's preparatory to starting for home, when Mr. Phelps came up to the wagon and with many harsh epithets and oaths challenged Mr. Root to get out of his wagon and fight him. Not getting out, upon such urgent invitation, Mr. Phelps got hold of him and pulled him out, Mr. Root's feet becoming tangled in the lines meanwhile and nearly, if not quite, throwing him down.

The jurors say upon their oaths that Jesse Phelps, not in his sober better senses, on the 12th day of August, A. D. 1889, at the hour of 7 1/2 o'clock in the afternoon, with force, at the Boro of Tunkhannock, in and upon the aforesaid Wm. Root, then and there being in the peace of God and the Commonwealth, feloniously, violently and of his malice aforethought made an assault; and the aforesaid Jesse Phelps then and there did violently strike, beat, feloniously, voluntarily, and of his malice, struck, beat in face, neck and head, the said Wm. Root, who instantly died then and there by such beating, together with other causes not known to this inquisition.
