

WELL-PAID PASTORS.

Large Salaries of Prominent New York Clergymen.

The Financial Status of Their Various Parishes.

The wealthiest single church organization on this side of the Atlantic is the Trinity corporation of the Protestant Episcopal Church, New York city. It embraces old Trinity, at the head of Wall street, and eight parish chapels—St. Paul's, St. John's, Trinity chapel, St. Augustine's, St. Cornelius's, Zion Church, Zion Chapel, and Trinity Church, Morristown. To support these churches there are ample funds. The income of the corporation is between $750,000 and $800,000 a year. Yet this amount does not adequately represent the corporation's capital. A large portion of its lands were leased long ago, when property was not as valuable as at present. The leases were to run ninety-nine years. When they expire the income of the Trinity corporation will be double what it is now.

Dr. Morgan Dix is the rector of old Trinity, and exercises a general supervision over the parish chapels. His salary is $15,000 per annum. The assistant rector of the same church receives $6000, while the assistants who have charge of the chapels receive $4000 a year each, excepting Dr. Swope of Trinity Chapel, who gets $8000.

These are pretty high salaries, but the Episcopalians of New York are renowned for generosity toward their pastors. The last rector of St. Thomas's was paid $18,000. Dr. Brown, who fills the pulpit at present, gets $15,000. Dr. Huntington of Grace Church, which Vice-President Morton attends when living in the city, has, perhaps, the most desirable parish of all. His salary is $15,000, and he occupies a beautiful parsonage, rent free, next to his church, which is architecturally one of the handsomest residences in the city, and is certainly worth an extra $5000 a year to the pastor. Another church that pays $19,000 to its rector is St. Bartholomew's. Dr. Greer is the fortunate clergyman. He possesses private means, and returns his entire salary to his church.

Dr. Rainsford of St. George's receives $10,000 a year. He also is possessed of a private fortune, and, like the rector of St. Bartholomew's, turns his salary over to his church. There are at least a dozen other Episcopal parishes in the metropolis which pay their rectors salaries ranging from $4000 to $8000 per annum. The bishop of the diocese of New York is paid $15,000.

In the Methodist Episcopal churches large salaries are not the general rule, but the ambitious minister can aspire to become one of the agents of the Book Concern established in the city or the secretary of one of the many branches of church work, or, for that matter, a Bishop. The Bishop of New York receives $5000. All the other Bishops receive $4500 annually, excepting the Bishops of Africa and India, who are paid $4000 and $3500 respectively. The agents of the Book Concern get $5000. The same sum is given to the various secretaries. The pastor of St. Paul's on Fourth avenue, the largest Methodist church in the city, gets $5000 and a large parsonage comfortably furnished to live in rent free. All the Methodist churches furnish their pastors with residences. The Madison Avenue Church also pays its pastor $5000.

The Presbyterian pulpit in New York is filled by some of the ablest preachers in America. Dr. John Hall of the Fifth avenue church draws a salary of $20,000. Dr. Paxton is said to receive $10,000. Dr. Parkhurst, $3000, and Dr. C. C. Thompson, $8000, while T. De Witt Talmage of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, whose influence is as great in New York as it is in Brooklyn, is paid $12,000. Apart from what they receive from their parishioners, Dr. John Hall makes a handsome sum each year by writing for the New York Ledger, and Dr. Talmage is paid a salary for editing Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine.

The Rev. Robert Collyer of the Park Avenue Unitarian Church receives $10,000. Dr. Wm. M. Taylor of the Broadway Tabernacle, a Congregational organization, is supposed to have a like salary. But, putting all monetary considerations aside, the reputation of a clergyman of talent is certain to achieve in New York, and the opportunities for doing efficient work for the cause of religion and humanity are so many, that most clergymen regard it as a very desirable field of activity.—New York Epoch.

The use of fine sawdust, which may be treated with medicaments or antiseptics, has been proposed as a clean and comfortable dressing for wounds.

Submarine Earthquakes.

In the midst of the Atlantic there is a region of mystery. It lies on the line of sailing from Maderia to Brazil. Only within a few years has it been sounded, and its strange phenomena reported. The author of "The Cruise of the Falcon" contributes some interesting notes of observation.

The sea about a mile from us became suddenly disturbed, boiling up violently, as from a subterranean spring. This lasted for about two minutes. Throughout the day we observed great patches of discolored water, having exactly the appearance of shoal water.

These and similar phenomena are frequently observed in this part of the ocean. Often a ship reports that hereabouts she has experienced a violent shock, similar to that which is felt when a rock is struck. Sometimes a great rumbling is heard like that of a heavy chain running through the hawsepipes, and the vessel quivers like a leaf in the wind. Another time, in smooth water, a vessel has been known to heel over suddenly, as if she had run on a sand-bank, for this is a region of most uncanny apparitions for the mariner—a sort of haunted corner of the sea.

Before this ocean had been as thoroughly sounded and surveyed as it is now, these phenomena were attributed to the presence of unmarked sand-banks and rocky shoals, and the old charts were marked accordingly. But it must have astonished the mariner somewhat to find that he got no soundings with his deep-sea lead, immediately after experiencing one of these shocks.

It is now known that there is a depth of not less than two thousand fathoms throughout this neighborhood, and submarine earthquakes are recognized to be the true cause of these convulsions.

So frequent are these manifestations of suboceanic disturbance, that this is now known as the volcanic region of the Atlantic. Fearful, indeed, must be the forces that can transmit such violent action upward through three miles of water.

A Frontier Fort.

A fort on the frontier is no fort at all, simply a collection of houses and barracks thrown down on the prairie anywhere, and here soon begin to gather all the elements of humanity which sooner or later go to make up the typical Western town. A fort is usually laid out in diamond shape, with the officers' quarters occupying two sides of the angle, and the men's barracks the remaining half. The center is the parade ground, whereon are performed all military ceremonies, such as drills, parades, musters, inspections, etc. In one corner is a flag staff, and from this floats 365 days in the year, the Stars and Stripes of our country. Back of the officers' and men's quarters are the stables, warehouses, shops and stores.

The commanding officer, of course, occupies the choicest set of quarters in the garrison, and the other officers select their domiciles according to their rank. Suppose every set of quarters happens to be occupied and a new officer should come along to take station at the post. He cannot select to the prejudice of those above him, but he can step in exactly where he ranks, choose a house, and that officer must give way to him. It is not uncommon for the next one, who has "been bounced," so to speak, to take the best he is entitled to, and the result is all the junior officers go down like a row of bricks. The last in rank have to double up and share one house, or set of rooms between them. In my own experience, says a correspondent, I have seen seven families move in one day, and all caused by an officer coming along who had more rank than they had.

A Life in the Dark.

A touching incident was that of Mrs. William Nichols, a brilliant and much-admired lady of Bath Beach, who had been suffering for some time from an affection of the eyes, says the Brooklyn Citizen. She was led to fear a speedy change for the worst, and immediately consulted her physician. An examination discovered a sudden and fatal failing in the optic nerve, and the information was imparted as gently as possible that the patient could not retain her sight more than a few days at most, and was liable to be totally deprived of it at any moment. The afflicted mother quietly made such arrangements as would occur to one about to commence so dark a journey of life, and then had her two children, attired in their brightest and sweetest costumes, brought before her, and so, with their little faces lifted to hers, and tears gathering for some great misfortune they hardly realized, the light faded out of their mother's eyes, leaving an ineffaceable picture of those dearest to her on earth—a memory of the bright faces that will console her in many a dark hour.

The simple method of treating drunkenness practiced in Norway and Sweden is reported to be very effective. The inebriate is placed in confinement and fed only with bread soaked in wine, which in eight or ten days creates a positive loathing for strong drink.

A German authority affirms that oaks are more frequently struck by lightning than beeches, because the leaves of the beech are covered with a fine down, which is a better conductor than the smooth leaves of the oak. Experiments with electrical machines confirm the theory.

Dr. Dornil of Paris has discovered that ice is often a medium for transmitting infectious diseases, and particularly typhoid fever. He cautions people to use artificial ice, made from boiled or spring water, and condemns ice obtained from ponds or rivers liable to contamination.

The magnetic needle points in the same direction as to the magnetic poles in all parts of the earth. The magnetic poles do not correspond with the axis of the earth, which makes a variation of the needle at places not on a meridian which coincides with both poles. The needle is never inverted, but dips as it approaches the magnetic poles.

A substitute for whiskey as a remedy for rattlesnake bites has been discovered. A man in Clinton County, Mo., was bitten on the leg by a rattler while in the woods two miles from home a few days ago, wiped the blood off with a leaf, and taking a big cud of tobacco from his mouth bound it on the wound with a piece of bark. After reaching home he bathed his leg with ammonia, and has suffered no ill effect other than a slight swelling of the bitten spot.

A Horse's Memory.

"Say, friend, you're on my horse," said one gentleman to another as he reined his horse before the door. "Your horse! Oh, no; why I bought this horse two years ago!" "You did?" answered the other; "well, I lost my horse—it was stolen—just two years ago."

This conversation took place under the far-spreading oaks of an old-time plantation home. A planter was surprised to see his horse return home after two years, and ridden by a gentleman who evidently had bought the horse in good faith. After some conversation the old owner of the horse, with much earnestness, said: "Well, sir, if you will dismount, unsaddle the horse, and he don't go to the fence, take the bars down, walk to the well, and if he don't find water in the bucket let it down the well, and then walk off to his old stable, I will give you and that horse isn't mine!" "At your word," the horse is yours if he does all that," cried the visitor, and leaping from the horse, unsaddled it. What was his astonishment when the horse went straight to the fence, let down the bars, crossed over, went to the well, and finding no water let the bucket down and then, as though he had left home but yesterday, walked to the old stable! The animal remembered the trick and the owner recovered his horse. There are those living now who can attest to the truth of this story, though it happened years ago.

The People of Siam.

The Siamese are very jovial and light hearted, and greatly addicted to public shows as well as the gambling houses. They have their fill of spectacles whenever a member of the royal family dies. It cost $500,000 to duly cremate one of the king's children a while ago. A special temple for the cremation services is built for each defunct royal highness. The temple is a very gorgeous affair, but it is pulled down as soon as the royal clay is reduced to ashes. The ceremonies include processions, music, the king in his golden chair, an immense display of royal banners and mourning, and all the pomp and circumstance needed to impress the event deeply upon the people. Of course the nobles cannot afford funerals on such a lavish scale, but they spend all the money they can on them. The masses flock to see the show as our people do to a circus, while it will probably be their own fate to be burned at the cost of a few cents, or flung to the vultures and dogs.—New York Sun.

Ancient Egyptian Flora.

The National Museum of Egyptian Antiquities at Bulak contains a very interesting collection of plants which have been found in the catacombs and sepulchral monuments of the country. Dr. Schweinfurth was the first to study this ancient flora, which contains no example of a plant that does not grow to-day in the Nile Valley. Nor does the most minute examination show the least difference between the vegetation which flourished fifty centuries ago and that of the present time. In some cases the color of the flowers can be clearly distinguished, as, for instance, the purple larkspur, the red poppy, the reddish-brown saffron and the blue lotus.

The leaves of the watermelon contain grains of chlorophyll perfectly visible in the microscope. All these were found in great numbers in the burial places of the fifteenth dynasty, 3000 years B. C., and in one tomb of the same time some ears of barley. In later monuments were discovered mustard, flax, cucumbers, lentils, pine cones, juniper berries, dates, hollyhocks, chrysanthemums, figs, olives, onions and grapes. Around the necks and upon the breasts of the mummies of 1100 B. C. were garlands of celery leaves and blue lotus flowers. In regard to the various specimens of grain discovered, it may be added that no attempt to make them grow has ever succeeded, the plants having been subjected to great heat at the time of the embalming and burial, which, while it preserved them, destroyed their germinating power. The cases in which mummy wheat is said to have been raised are due simply to the fraudulent mixture of modern with the ancient grains.

$100 Reward. $100. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. There are over 350,000 beggars in the Empire of Russia. This sad to see a woman growing old before her time. All broken-down and hopeless when life should hold its prime. She feels herself a burden when blessing she should be. And longs for death to bring her release from misery.

If these poor, discouraged women who suffer from diseases peculiar to women could only know that health could be regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, how eagerly they would hasten to avail themselves of it. They ought to know it, and try it. Every woman who is still healthy ought to be told about the wonderful virtue in this medicine, and urged to use it, as it is a safeguard against the terrible diseases common to her sex. It is guaranteed to give satisfaction or money paid for it will be refunded.

Cleanse the liver, stomach, bowels and whole system by using Dr. Pierce's Peppermint.

The Plain Truth

It is that Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured thousands of people who suffered severely with rheumatism. It neutralizes the lactic acid in the blood, which causes these terrible pains and aches, and also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus preventing the recurrence of the disease. These facts warrant us in urging you, if you suffer with rheumatism, to give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial.

"Having been troubled with inflammatory rheumatism for many years, my favorable attention was called to Hood's Sarsaparilla by an advertisement of cures it had effected. I have now used three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and can testify to beneficial results. I highly recommend it as a great blood purifier."—J. C. AYERS, West Blocton, Ala. Try it right away.
