Flakes of snow were visible in the air, on Monday.

Our side walks should be repaired before snow falls.

The voters of the county are rallying to the support of Samuel Cole for Treasurer, his election is almost certain.

We issue many extra copies of the REPUBLICAN this week. Not because we credit our paper of being extra good, as did the Gazette last week, but to place before the people of the county, the likeness of our several candidates for county office.

A pleasant birthday surprise was given Mrs. Wm. A. Mason of LaPorte, on Tuesday evening Oct. 28, her 70th birthday. The many relatives and older citizens of LaPorte and vicinity, were present and enjoyed a sociable and pleasant evening.

ED. REPUBLICAN:—SIR, Please announce in your columns this week that I have withdrawn from the contest as an independent candidate for Member.

Yours Respectfully,
WM. H. DAVEY.
Bernice, Oct., 25, 1890.

The communication in the REPUBLICAN last week, dated at Eagles-Mere, and signed "A Farmer," was written by A. H. Marr, who is a farmer. Mr. Marr is a Prohibitionist and one of the most active supporters of the Prohibition State ticket, but he regards it as the duty of all temperance men to support Mr. Rinebold, as is fully ably set forth in his letter.

A young wife married to an aged groom, in looking over the wedding presents, said one present was lacking—a cemetery lot for her husband.

There will be exposed to public sale at the residence of Jos. B. Walborn in Cherry twp., on Saturday Nov. 8th, a large amount of personal property. Those wishing horses, cows or farming implements will do well to attend the above sale.

It is announced that three worsted mills at Bristol, Pa., that have been idle for months, will start up in a few days. They will employ about 2500 hands, which will greatly increase the population of that town. The McKinley bill is what brings this about.

The Wilkes-Barre & Western Railway Company have just closed a contract to extend their line a distance of about ten miles to a connection with the Bloomsburg & Sullivan Railroad. Their road runs at present to Millville, Columbia County, a distance of twenty-two miles. This extension will give them an eastern outlet to the coal regions. The connection will be made early in January.

When the leave begin to turn and the swallows homeward fly, it reminds us of the coming of the pancake and mince pie; then the frost is on the pumpkin and the harvest moon shines bright, though we have of days the shorter and the longer ones of night. When at eve the boys assemble with the girls in playful glee, and they huddle up together in an apple peering bee, how the old folks do enjoy it, things they used to do of yore, with the backlog in the fire-place, and the latch-string on the door.

The editor of this paper is the Republican candidate for County Commissioner. He was fairly nominated in a fully attended convention and he knows no good reason why he should not receive the support of the party for which, as is well known, he has spent time, money and labor. He has no complaints to make and nothing derogatory to say of the independent candidates. It is true however, that it would have been better had those who claim to be Republicans, come fairly before the convention, had they done so and been nominated, the editor would have taken pleasure in voting and working for either or both. It is also true that when a man has fairly received a nomination and is otherwise competent that a defeat by an Independent makes bad blood and dissensions for the future. A square defeat by the opposing party is one of the things any man may expect, but defection without just cause is not conducive to harmony and united work. However the editor is no kicker, he stands on his record as a worker as the regular nominee, and in his public pledges to do his best to serve the people well and if elected, to economically and conservatively administer the important duties of commissioner.

In one of his speeches in Philadelphia last week our candidate for Governor GEORGE W. DELAMATER said:

"This is as important a contest as any before the people since 1860. We feel that a full discussion should be had. The other side brush aside the question of protection—the question of a fair ballot through the Federal elections law and the question of providing for the soldier who fought for the Union, and they turn to slander. They say these questions are not now important. I say they are important. The great Republican State of Pennsylvania elects not only a Governor, a Lieutenant Governor, and Secretary of International Affairs, but Congressmen and members of the Legislature, who in turn will elect a United States Senator. The question is, will Pennsylvania continue the policy of protection, honest elections, and care for the old soldier? [Applause and cries of "We will!"]

I glory in the material welfare of the people, but I glory more in the American manhood and womanhood that I see around me everywhere. Its high standard is due two things: first, the system of education, and second, to the protective system, which enable laboring men to educate their children, live comfortably, and lay aside a little for a rainy day. Against these issues we have Grover Cleveland leading the Democracy. [Hisses.] The battle of 1888 was fought on these principles, and I thank God that I see no sign of falling in this contest."

Even the laziest of men can usually see some work that some other fellow ought to do.

Collector Cooper in a speech at West Chester the other night surprised his hearers by saying that he was no longer "red-headed and hopeful;" but he immediately reassures them by saying that he had become bald-headed and certain.

The Republican situation to-day is entirely satisfactory, and this is as well known to the Democratic managers, if not to their deluded followers, as it is to the Republicans themselves. We no longer find any loud Democratic boasting; a week hence they will be confessing their defeat.

THE REPUBLICAN TICKET.
Ezra S. Rinebold, For Member,
Samuel Cole, For Treasurer,
W. M. Cheney, For Commissioner,
Ulysses Bird, For Auditor.

Hints Worth Heeding.

When a man has his business in perfect working order, and knows that, just then, a little more or a little less effort on his part will be answered by increased or decreased profits, it is hard for him to believe it wise for him to leave his duties for an hour, even though he is over-worked. But one of the highest duties a man owes himself is to give his brain an occasional rest. There is a good deal more in life than simply adding to one's bank account. There is more honor in being a good citizen than in simply growing rich. It is poor policy to be thoroughly posted in all that concerns your business and be out of all knowledge of the great world. A man wants to forget his business occasionally—ought never to carry his cares beyond his store door. A night's reprieve from business cares will send you back to them with renewed strength and a clearer head. Do not imagine that your business will go to the dogs if you leave it for a day or two. If you have been thorough with your men—if you have faithful and interested employees—the machine will jog along smoothly enough until you return. We are all apt to flatter ourselves that we are doing what no other person could do; but, not frequently, something happens to show us that we are not nearly as indispensable as we imagined—in fact, that a division of labor in our business would be vastly to its advantage. Our subordinates, if left in charge, occasionally will have a chance to carry out some ideas of their own, and these, in a majority of cases, are decided improvements. The man who repulses suggestions from those under him—gives his men no credit for knowing anything beyond the steady routine of their employment loses much that would be of assistance to him, falls into a rut and stays there, much to his detriment. The man who cannot learn something from contact with contact with other men, whether employes or outsiders, is not a healthy man. Business is a master that soon makes abject slaves of us if we will, but, with a well established trade, one should be master of his business. With probity, industry, and economy, almost any man, by well directed effort, may be prosperous. Whatever progress is made without this foundation is deceptive.

Ezra S. Rinebold is one of the best business men in the county and if elected to the office of Member, will do the people of Sullivan county credit at Harrisburg.

BOLD ROBBERIES.
Who Enter Stores and Remove Goods With a Team.

Two bold robberies were committed at Bloomsburg, Tuesday night on the main thoroughfare, by burglars who used a wagon. While many people were still on the streets two men driving a team stopped in front of J. K. Pennsylv's store, on Main street. One entered it without exciting suspicion. One of the men sat on the wagon while the other went through the store. When he was about ready to come out the second man got down from the wagon and assisted his companion to put several large bundles in the wagon, after which they drove off, leaving the door open. When Mr. Pennsylv arrived he found his place minus a large quantity of shoes and clothing, amounting to several hundred dollars. The robbers then drove to Catawissa, where they entered the store of Martin Swank in a similar manner and carried off a large quantity of merchandise, besides tapping the till, which contained about $25. Not being suspected they were not noticed closely enough for identification, so there is no clue.

DUSHORE ITEMS.

W. H. Kennedy is again at home after an absence of several weeks.

S. Y. Richards, of Towanda, was in town looking after the business interests of his photograph gallery at this place on Monday.

Election is near at hand and politics is discussed to a considerable extent, but it is hardly as warm as it has been for a few preceding campaigns.

A new literary society has been organized. A name has not yet been decided on. The object is to improve the talent of the members and as well to raise funds to purchase a library. We wish it success.

Two of our miserable street "bummers" committed another of their malicious acts on Saturday night by assaulting a young man who was passing along the street about his business. Dushore has several young men whose riddance would be a blessing to the community and they should be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

With this issue "N'importe" will resign his position as correspondent to the REPUBLICAN. We find that our time for the work is to limited to do justice to the position and would therefore recommend a successor who will probably give you a communication next week. He is qualified for the calling and his writings will undoubtedly meet with approval.

The corner stone of the new Zion's Lutheran church was laid with appropriate solemnity on Sunday. Notwithstanding the weather was very disagreeable a very large congregation assembled to witness the ceremonies. Services were held in the Evangelical church and Rev. J. W. Mayene, of Catsanqua and another reverend gentleman from abroad assisted the pastor, Rev. S. Wenrich.

J. V. Rettenbury has opened a branch jewelry store at Lopez which will be conducted by H. M. Kellogg, who has been in the employ of Mr. Rettenbury at this place for the past four years. H. T. Lawrence who recently closed his jewelry store at that place on account of poor health was doing a good business and we see no reason why a store under the management of Mr. Kellogg will not be a payable investment.
