AN AMERICAN WANTS DAMAGES. He Was Imprisoned in Austria and Asks Blaine to Fix Things.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Attorneys Moses and Pam have forwarded to Secretary of State Blaine the claim of Charles Pitzele, of 155 Ninety-second street, against the Austrian Government for damages. Pitzele renounced all allegiance to the Emperor of Austria upon emigrating to this country, and became a citizen October 15, 1888. In August, 1889, he, accompanied by his wife, made a trip to his native land to better his health. While traveling in Austria he claims to have been arrested for service in the Austrian army, despite the fact that he produced a paper showing his American citizenship. He was thrown into a dungeon and confined there for two weeks. All efforts to secure his release proved futile until the case was brought to the attention of the Minister to Austria, F. D. Grant, who secured his immediate release. Pitzele demands that the United States Government procure for him from the Austrian Government compensation for the outrage committed upon him, as also for the insult committed upon his rights as an American citizen.

O'SULLIVAN HAS NOT CONFESSED. He Has Not Told Anything About Dr. Cronin's Murder.

JOLIET, Ill., Nov. 23.—"I wanted to go upon the stand and testify in my own behalf, but they wouldn't let me," said P. O'Sullivan. The Lake View iceman twirled his convict cap in his hands and looked at the floor a moment. "Have, I confessed?" he said. "There is nothing to confess. The whole story of my alleged confession is a falsehood. Tom Whalen was here a few days ago and I have seen two newspaper men, but to no person have I said one word that could be construed into a confession. I have said and still say I wanted to go on the stand, but I don't suppose it would have made any difference. I thought it would be brought out that I had employed five doctors at different times, but it wasn't. I could not stay here one day if I would expose the real murderers of Dr. Cronin. I would not suffer for any other man if I could reveal the truth and thus place the guilt where it belongs. I had nothing against Dr. Cronin and am an innocent man."

O'Sullivan has changed wonderfully. That wan and worried look he wore during the famous trial has disappeared. He is fat, his complexion is clear, and he seems to be in almost perfect health. Instead of "breaking down" or "going into a decline," he seems to be growing stronger every day. Martin Burke is also much improved, but Dan Caughlin is undoubtedly failing. The big detective is the only one of the Crown convicts who gives the slightest indications of mental suffering or physical weakness. Those familiar with the routine of the penitentiary, and who often see the three convicts, say: "If a confession is ever made Dan Caughlin will be the one to tell the story."

GRAND ARMY MATTERS. Circular Letters No. 2, Issued by the Commander-in-Chief.

COMRADES:—Since being elected Commander-in-Chief I have visited ten Departments, six of which are west of the Missouri River, and have been more than gratified to observe the hearty spirit of command-ership everywhere prevailing, and the growing pride in and devotion to our noble order. The thought seemed to be in every mind and the words on every lip that the Grand Army of the Republic should be made to round up one half million comrades this year. The inspiration of this thought was not mere pride in numbers, but the advantage of membership to individual character, and the advantage of numbers in increasing the potency of the Order in its lofty work of Fraternity, Charity and Loyalty. It is the ground of individual and public benefit that it becomes our duty to increase our membership. There are yet several hundred thousand worthy veterans who served bravely with us on land or sea, not yet with us in this organization. If we do not bring in fifty thousand or more of them this year the fault will be our own. This means an addition of about ten to every hundred. Who doubts but this can be easily done? What comrade will fail to do his part? What Post will hold back? Let all Department Commanders at once take the leadership and direction in this work in their respective Departments. I have seen enough to know that they will find cordial and enthusiastic response both from individuals and Posts. This is the best season of the year for the recruiting service to be made effective and successful. It should not pass without our achieving results as grand as our possibilities are great.

Yours in F., C. and L., W. G. VEAZEY, Commander-in-Chief.

SHOT BY A CRANK. John T. Davis Attempts to Kill Miss Price, a Church Organist.

ALSO EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND Davis Imagined That Miss Price was His Wife and That Mr. Cieve and was Following Her—Insane Jealously.

It is believed that Ex-President Cleveland was unaware that his life has for sometime been in danger. But on Tuesday evening he undoubtedly was gratified to learn that the man who has been looking for him with a gun was safe behind the bars.

The scene of the tragic shooting by a crank, whose name is John T. Davis, was New York. Until recently Davis was an assistant purser on one of the National Line steamships. He has attended the Mariner's church, at Madison and Catherine streets, at different times, but never received particular attention until Tuesday evening, when he deliberately shot down Miss Gladys Price, the organist of the church. She never spoke a word to Davis, nor had he ever addressed her. She was leaving the chapel after services when she heard a pistol shot and felt a sharp pain in her back. Turning she saw Davis approaching her with a revolver leveled full at her. She ran screaming into the street, pursued by Davis, who made efforts to fire again. He was overpowered and turned over to the police. His hallucinations are of the wildest variety. When pressed for his object in attempting to kill Miss Price, he said that the woman was his wife.

"Grover Cleveland is following her all the time," he said, excitedly, "and I want to kill him. This afternoon I met him in a lodging house, and challenged him to fight a duel. This is a clear case of premeditated murder. I was angry when I went to the church to-night and saw Cleveland sitting at her side as she played the organ. I wanted to kill him then, but thought I would see him again. I would be justified in killing him. I was told to-day by the kings of France and Spain."

The bullet from the crank's pistol passed through Miss Price's body and out through the throat, after breaking a rib. She may recover. She says she had no acquaintance with Davis and never saw him before he visited Mariner's church. Davis is a man forty-five years of age, and was a bookkeeper before he took to seafaring. He was always of an erratic disposition, and lately has given evidences of violent lunacy. For several weeks he has been frequenting the reading rooms in the basement of the church. When captured Davis was searched and a murderous-looking revolver of large caliber and a number of cartridges were found on him. When locked up in a cell he raved and swore and demanded his freedom until he had accomplished his object, which he declared was to first kill Miss Price, and then murder Mr. Cleveland, who, he persisted, had taken her away from. The only regret he felt, he declared, was that he had not killed Mr. Cleveland. "But," he exclaimed, "you can't keep me here, and I will kill him yet."—Ex.

DUSHORE ITEMS.

F. E. Sands spent Sunday at Elmira. A show on Wednesday and Thursday nights of this week.

H. M. Kellogg, of Lopez, was in town on business Saturday.

A. L. Fawcett, of New Albany, called on friends in Dushore Friday evening.

One of Denslow's steam and hot air heaters are being placed in the new school house.

John O'Brien has gone to New Albany to run a barber shop for Leroy Heverly in connection with his hotel.

If "Madam Rumor" don't tell a fib the firm of Finan & Keete, general merchants, of this place will suspend business in the near future.

J. B. Ormsby, station agent at this place is taking a short vacation on account of poor health. Sherman Richart, of Monroeton, holds his position during his absence.

"Turn of the Tide" will be presented in Garey's hall by the A. F. I. Club on Friday evening of next week. It is a good play and the prospects are that it will be well executed.

We erred two weeks ago in stating that Barth & Kester had the contract for building the new Lutheran church. It was expected they would accept it and our statement was made on the authority of one who pretended to know, but we learn that the contract was awarded last week to H. G. Huffmaster, of Cherry, who is already preparing to begin work on it. He will have the building completed early next summer.

FACARACUS.

Miss Mary C. Wolverton, daughter of Congressman-elect Simon P. Wolverton of Sunbury, was married on Wednesday evening of last week to Biddle Arthurs of Pittsburg.

Mr. E. Hess of Sonestown, is erecting a new dwelling at said place and has the foundation for the same about completed. When the building is finished will be numbered among the finest in the valley town.

Charles Cleary, the unfortunate youth who was once convicted of the murder of Policeman Paul, at Renovo, over a year ago, and who was granted a new trial by the Supreme Court, is to be tried again in January. It is generally believed that a second degree verdict will be the result of the new trial.

Minister Lincoln, who will return to England within a few weeks, goes back alone. His family will not follow him until the latter part of the winter. Mr. Lincoln will, in all probability, remain in London the full limit of his term. It was widely published that the Minister intended to resign this fall, and that his home-coming meant his retirement. The reason given was his lack of interest in his duties abroad following the death of his only son. He said the other day that his son had lived he would have resigned this fall. It was his intention to have brought home his son for the purpose of having his education completed here, with a view to his future establishment in Chicago. Mr. Isham, his law partner, has also a son. It was the plan of the two fathers to build up a business to leave to their two boys so that the firm of Lincoln & Isham would have been continued after their retirement. Since the death of his son, Mr. Lincoln has an additional reason for remaining away.

Pianos Organs.

The improved method of fastening strings of Pianos, invented by us, is one of the most important improvements ever made, making the instrument more richly musical in tone, more durable, and less liable to get out of tune. Both the Mason & Hamlin Organs and Pianos excel chiefly in that which is the chief excellence in any musical instrument, quality of tone. Other things, though important, are much less so than this. An instrument with unharmonical tones cannot be good. Illustrated catalogues of new styles, introduced this season sent free. MASON & HAMLIN. ORGANS AND PIANO CO., BOSTON. NEW YORK. CHICAGO
