

J. V. RETTENBURY, WATCHMAKER AND JEWELER, DUSHORE, PA.

For a Postal Telegraph.

The report of Postmaster General Wanamaker shows much good work accomplished during his administration of his important department. By doing the greatly increased work that he reports at a great diminution, instead of increase, of expenses, he has proved himself master of the business and therefore able to speak with the authority of an expert in recommending further improvements.

One of these, the greatest, and the one he is most intent on pushing at present, is the postal telegraph scheme. He argues that since the swiftest mail is not fast enough in these days for all the needs of commercial and social correspondence, the postoffice should do more than to employ fast trains and stage coaches; that the people who pay in postage rates the cost of the postal system have a right to the use of the postal plants as a means of reducing the cost of telegraph correspondence and for the instant transmission of postal money orders, and that the Postoffice Department can supply telegraphic facilities more cheaply than any corporation—all of which is undoubtedly true.

Mr. Wanamaker thinks it worth while to reply to the arguments of those who say it is not the business of the government to operate the telegraph; but really this was not necessary. If the English Government had the right to do this, so has ours, and even those who make the assertion do not support it by any legal argument. The only laudible objection that has been made to a postal telegraph comes from a telegraph company, which is interested in defeating the scheme because its own profits would be cut thereby. This company asserts that the government cannot operate a postal telegraph pay. Mr. Wanamaker says the government has the advantage of being already supplied with offices free of rent or expense for light, fuel, clerks, messengers, because all these things are already paid for by the postal dividends and no interest on capital and no interest on debt. If it cannot accommodate the public more cheaply than a corporation, when all these advantages are considered, there must be some much more extravagant Postoffice Department statistics of the year's work go to show. In point of fact, this matter of using telegraph is one of the popular demand pretty soon. The people are already anxious for it; they need for their own correspondence, and they have the experience of the mails to convince them that the government will save them cheaper and better than any corporation. Mr. Wanamaker has simply expressed the teaching of his business experience in formulating his recommendation.

A New York lawyer in the interest of the Hamilton family of New York, is in the county looking up Eva Ray Hamilton's record. W. Steel, the father of Mrs. Hamilton lives in Dallas, this county. He does not bear a very good reputation. A year ago he was arrested for shooting at a man through a window. When Mrs. Hamilton lived in this county she was a gay country lass and had many admirers among the country boys. The lawyer drove over to Dallas and inspected a hotel register which may throw some light on the relations existing between a man named Josh Mann and Eva. It is understood that the Hamiltons will contest the right of the woman to any share in her husband's property.—White Haven Journal.

OBITUARY.

The subject of this sketch Henry Williams was born in the township of Caroline Seneca county, N. Y., May 27th A. D. 1817, and died at Shunk Sullivan county, Pa., Nov. 9th 1890 of complicated disease of the heart and liver. He was the third son of Daniel and Mary Williams, one of a family of nine children all of whom died before him.

In early life Mr. Williams married Christena Rightmire of Ridgbury, Bradford county, who died leaving five children, Sanford, Henrietta, Matilda, Mortimer and Samantha. He then married Ann M. Sadduck who became the mother of four children, Rosetta, Evert Homer, Covert and Mary, all of whom are living excepting Sanford who gave his life for his country in the hour of peril, and Henrietta, wife of Charles N. Porter.

The early years of his manhood were spent in Ridgbury, but early in the history of Fox township Mr. Williams came to Shunk and purchased the farm where he lived so many years and where his last days were spent enduring the hardships of the early settlers of the then almost unbroken wilderness he built his home and reared his family.

Actively engaged in business and public affairs he became acquainted with and formed the friendship of a large portion of the residents of the county. Always ready to help the needy he gave largely and generously to those who asked of him, until sickness and losses robbed him of the favor to do more.

During his illness, which was long and severe he was always patient seeming to have no care to be surrounded by his children and friends. The last weeks of his life were full of the most intense suffering and at times his mind was terribly weakened. At such times he seemed to live in the past and would talk to and speak of friends long dead, as though they were present, he, however, knew each member of his family calling them by name and always recognized friends that called to see him.

He was treated during his illness by Dr. B. E. Gamble who did all in his power to help him and for whom he formed a strong attachment. He was attended by all of his children excepting Evert who resides in Michigan. There were present at his funeral his children, Mrs. Frank A. Boyle and husband of Estella, Mrs. J. P. Kilmer and husband of Shunk, Mrs. R. Fuller and daughter, of Canton, H. K. Williams and wife, of Jameson and Mrs. J. H. Bohn and husband of Dushore, also his grandsons, Jimmie Williams and Farris D. Fuller, of Auburn, N. Y. The children of J. P. Kilmer, and his grand-daughter Mrs. Morris Morgan of Fox twp., beside a large concourse of neighbors and friends. Rev. P. R. Pittman of Forksville, delivered the funeral sermon.

He has left us at home, there is a vacant chair. The books that were his daily companions he silently left with unturned pages. His children have lost not only a father, but a friend and companion, but we know, for he told us, that he is at home, safe in the bosom of Christ. Silently fall our tears yet we weep not as those without hope, and feel in sorrow that beautiful angles have carried him home.

THE B. K. JAMISON FAILURE. State Treasurer Boyer Brings Suit For the States Deposits—What Mr. Jamison Says.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—The failure of B. K. Jamison & Company has caused but little additional trouble in the financial world. Mr. Jamison yesterday received many assurances of friendship and offers of assistance from moneyed institutions and friends. It is generally understood that the firm will be able to resume if the creditors will be lenient and consent to an extension to permit the various securities to be disposed of to the best advantage. Colonel Jamison yesterday expressed himself as well satisfied with his treatment by his friends and creditors. "Many people have called to-day, he said, "and offered to assist the house, but everything is now in the hands of the assignee. "I would like to deny the report that we paid Brown Brothers & Company $1,000 for the use of $100,000 from Saturday until Monday. On the contrary, we paid that firm on the day the loan was said to have been made $25,000. Neither am I a director in the West Philadelphia Bank, and our firm does not owe that institution a cent. It is in a strong financial condition, and there is no reason whatever to couple my name or the firm's name with it."

Amos R. Little one of the directors of the Edison Electric Light Company, said yesterday, that the failure would not affect that company in the slightest. He said: "Mr. Jamison has $25,000 worth of stock in our company, and that is all. Some time ago we had an account with the firm, but we closed it out about a year ago.

At the time of the assignment B. K. Jamison & Company were merely stockholders in the St. Paul and Minneapolis Mortgage, Loan and Trust Company. They originally placed $225,000 of the company's stock, but the accounts have been closed and all the money turned over to the company. The assigned firm is also understood to have been heavily interested in the Fairmount Coal Company, which was organized last year, and the National Illuminating Company.

Many of the county banks represented by B. K. Jamison & Company, have withdrawn their accounts, but the failure will probably cause some trouble among those that didn't get their money out in time. One of the latter, Johnston, Buck & Company, of Ebensburg, Cambria county, was compelled to suspend.

State Treasurer Boyer, through his attorney, J. Quincy Hunsicker, yesterday entered up his bond for $100,000 against the firm, and began two suits against B. K. Jamison W. M. Stewart, J. Henry Kershaw, Phillip F. Kelly and A. C. Plumer, trading as B. K. Jamison & Company, on that bond. The bond is dated in June last, and is for $100,000 to secure the payment of $50,000. In an affidavit filed with the bond it is averred that the amount due on the bond filed in the action and the judgment thereon is $25,000. The suit is entered against the firm and its individual members to hold them responsible for the amount due both as a firm debt and an individual debt.

DUSHORE ITEMS.

The shortest days of the year are near at hand. H. M. Kellogg, of Lopez, spent Sunday in town.

A. Walsh, of LaPorte, was in town, Monday.

"The Turn of the Tide" in Garey's hall next Friday night by home talent.

The usual number of Dushore people are preparing to attend court next week.

Miss Emma Tinklepaugh, of LaPorte, visited friends in Dushore the first of this week.

John G. Scouten is dealing in fast horses. He claims his nag traveled ten miles in 33 minutes.

The union Thanksgiving services in Garey's hall were well attended and appreciated. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Geo. H. Miller.

Prof. Dayton's spiritualistic entertainment in the hall on Wednesday and Thursday nights of last week caused quite a sensation in town.

Mrs. John P. McGee, of Cherry Flats, died last Friday after an illness of several weeks, of typhoid fever. Deceased was a pleasant old lady of some fifty years and leaves many relatives and hosts of friends to mourn her loss. The funeral took place Monday; interment at the Catholic cemetery at this place. There were more than one hundred carriages in the procession.

Poor Editor Streby! we feel sorry for him that he saw imaginary snakes in such a public place as on the stage in the opera house during the show Thursday night; but our sympathy does not amend the fact. We are sure he was not under the influence of intoxicants when he went on the stage and certainly drank nothing while there, neither do we imagine that he would. The only way we can account for his actions is that he must have been under the influence of the mesmeric powers of Prof. Dayton, though the editor says not.

A meeting of the stock holders of the First National Bank of Dushore was held Monday, and the organization perfected. Geo. H. Welles, of Wyalusing, was elected president and M. D. Swarts of Dushore, cashier. F. B. Pomeroy, Wm. Lawrence, A. H. Zaner, B. M. Sylvara, of Dushore, Geo. H. Welles, of Wyalusing; S. D. Steregare, of New Albany; A. Walsh, of LaPorte; B. W. Jennings, of Lopez; and W. C. Rogers, of Forksville; directors. The bank will be doing business in a very short time.

Pianos Organs.

The improved method of fastening strings, Pianos, invented by us, is one of the most important improvements ever made, making instrument more richly musical in tone, durable, and less liable to get out of tune. Both the Mason & Hamlin Organs & Pianos excel chiefly in that which is the excellence in any musical instrument, quality of tone. Other things, though important, are much less so than this. An instrument with unmusical tones cannot be good. Illustrations of new styles, introduced this season free.
