The Wyoming Democrat thinks favorable of the resolution made by the present office holders of Sullivan in giving the legal advertising to the political papers of the county. It says: "This is as it should be. Papers that have no political convictions are not entitled to the patronage of officers elected by either party."

It will soon be time to prepare for the February election. Both LaPorte borough and township should use the best of judgment in securing good men to fill the various offices to be ballotted for at this time. Supervisors are perhaps more essential to the public than any one office and should receive a little more than the ordinary attention by our people in selecting officers to fill this responsible position.

The post-office was removed from the Flynn store room into the building known as the Meat Market, first door West, on Saturday.

Newell of the Dushore Review in speaking last week of The Inquirer, a small paper recently established at Canton, says: "Tall oaks from little OCEANS grow." He continues: "and perhaps some day the Inquirer will some day deserve some day other title than amateur."

Great scott this is tough! tough! tough!!! and the former is equally as wonderful.

The Supreme Court of the State has decided that the Pennsylvania game laws were only meant to prohibit the killing of game within the State during the closed season and do not apply to game brought into this State from another, thereby nullifying the effect of the provision in the law which makes the having of game in possession during a closed season prima facie evidence of a violation of the law.

"Tippy" is the latest society word for anything stylish. This word is used considerable among horse jockeys. In speaking of their horse they say he is quite tippy, meaning that he is altogether a good looking horse. Jockey and society agree on the meaning of the word and the latter undoubtedly gives it its right meaning while it would be more appropriate for the jockey to term it "tumbleover."

The following is a very truthful remark: The man who grows up in his own town is apt to be regarded as a boy by his elders until he is well started down the declivity. The stranger who comes into a place is more often pushed to the front than the young man who has grown up with the town. This is often times the reason young men become dissatisfied with their home surroundings and long to cast their lot in other quarters.

The present excellent sleighting affords the business men of our county who deal in bark and logs ample opportunities of stocking their tanneries and mill yards to their fullest capacity. James McFarlane & Co. are taking advantage of the same in the extreme and have already delivered at the LaPorte Tannery nearly four thousand cords of bark during the past six weeks. They have a large number of teams in their employ besides their own, numbering twenty-five or thirty.

Jacob Lorah ex-county treasurer has appealed from the county audit and will have the statement examined by the court at this Feb. term. This is the first time in the history of Sullivan where the figures of the county auditors has been appealed and undoubtedly the rulings of the court upon this document will prove beneficial to our county officials in the future. It perhaps may turn out for the best, so far as examination is concerned.

This will not interfere with the publication of the figures of the statement as presented by our county auditors, the first week in February.

Chas. Sergeant of Thornedale who recently purchased a team of mules and an entire outfit for doing heavy hauling of James Walsh of this place is having pretty hard luck. During the latter part of December one of the mules unfortunately calked itself and has since that time been unable to work and at this writing Mr. Sergeant has about made up his mind to put an end to the animal. The leg is swollen very large and the hoof is most apt to come off which will render the mule worthless for many months. Mr. S. feels very badly over his ill-fated luck.

Judge Mayer, of Clinton county, has refused to grant a liquor license to a woman. He says that women have no business behind a bar dealing out liquor to men, and that running saloons is not their mission. There is a great deal of truth in that statement, and Judge Mayer's action will be generally commended. A woman who goes into the saloon business is minus all the traits that go to make up womanly character, and a saloon run by a woman would be likely to do more harm than half a dozen establishments with men behind the bar. The Judge, in rejecting the application, said that he did not relish the idea of having a woman brought into court for violating the liquor laws, because he would be obliged to deal with her with the same severity that he would deal with a man. Women should not be encouraged to seek an opening in such a business, and this ruling will go a great ways toward preventing it.

A Wonderful Telephone Feat.

Sunday morning Jan. 11th the Rev. T. K. Beecher, pastor of the Elmira, N. Y., Park church, delivered a sermon prepared with especial reference to the religious life and character of the late Mrs. Olivia Langdon. The daughter of Mrs. Langdon, Mrs. Samuel L. Clemens of Hartford, Conn., was unable to be present and therefore arrangements were made for her and the members of her family to hear the sermon by telephone. The long-distance apparatus was placed in Mr. Clemens' home in Hartford and Manager Eastbrook placed it also on the pulpit of the Park church, where it was concealed by flowers. The line went by way of Syracuse, Albany and Springfield to Hartford, a distance of 450 miles. The experiment was completely successful the entire service being heard distinctly by the friends in Hartford, and, at the same time, by friends in Buffalo.
