A very interesting chase took place on Lake Mokoma Friday afternoon. A number of the young people of town were enjoying a skate when by chance they saw a mink on the ice some distance from them. The boys all joined in the chase and from all account must have scared the little fellow badly, as he attempted to play opossum when they got within a few feet of him. F. H. Ingham was the first on the spot and crushed the animal's head with his skate.

The little two-year old son of Lazzelle Barley saw his mother fix some medicine for his father last Saturday evening, and cried for some also. Not having his wish granted, he climbed up to the third shelf in the cupboard, got a bottle of laudanum, helped himself to its contents and then told his mother what he had done. Every exertion was made by the frightened parents to save the child, but without avail, as the little one yielded up his life the next day at noon.—Canton Herald.

The Best Way to Advertise.

The Pennsylvania railway company, after experimenting several years has decided to abandon all kinds of advertising except through regular newspapers. Experiments have shown that posters, hangers, etc., bring smaller return by far than does newspaper advertising.

Two judges salary bills are now before the Legislature—one to increase the salary $1000 a year, the other to pension all judges who have served twenty-five years with the regular salary; the latter was introduced by Senator Penrose, of Philadelphia, the former by Representative Fow of the same city.

Now that Judge Metzger has dismissed the exceptions to the report of the Master in the case of the Williamsport & North Branch railroad vs. the Philadelphia and Erie it is reasonable to suppose that the new line into Williamsport will be built without any more delay. However, inasmuch as the Philadelphia and Erie asserts that it wants the land in dispute on which to build tracks for a new route it is likely that the case will go to the Supreme Court for consideration.—Williamsport Republican.

The fusionists of Bradford county have voted to hold their party in organization. The Republican party has done all in their power to make harmony in the party, but we imagine that there are a couple of sore-heads or office seekers in the Independent rank who want office and see no other way of getting it. We trust and hope they will get left. They claim that they are offended because Mial L. Lilley of Canton, was appointed chairman of the Republican committee. The Republicans have the same right to cry fraud because—now lets see, what is his name? Well, I will look at a Bradford county paper and see, it is hardly worth our time, but then some people might be curious to know. Here it is—C. F. Heverly was appointed chairman of the "Kick Club" without consulting the Republican party.

WILKES-BARRE, Feb. 9.—Intense joy and excitement prevails in the little hamlet of Grand Tunnel this morning over the rescue of the three entombed miners who were imprisoned by water rushing into the gangways and breasts of the Susquehanna Coal Company colliery at that place on Wednesday of last week after the firing of a blast. Since the men were lost experienced miners declared their rescue alive an impossibility, and they were practically given up. The whole community was in mourning over their supposed sad fate. The names of the men are Michael Shelank, William Cragel and John Rineer, all well known miners.

WHERE THEY WERE FOUND.

They were found alive in the upper workings near the outcrop, the water being unable to reach them, after they managed to get out of its swirl when it was rushing through the mine. The company's employes have exerted every effort to get the water out, by pressing into service the mammoth pumps, were able to lower the water sufficiently to let a rescuing party in this morning. The men were found in an almost exhausted condition from their 175 hours imprisonment and it will require care to bring them through. Their sufferings have been intense, but they were buoyed by the hope of being rescued, and the working being fairly well ventilated they were enabled to secure enough pure air to keep them alive.

WHAT THE MEN SAY.

When the men were brought out they were wrapped up in blankets having first been given some milk in light quantities as nourishment. The men said they had spent their time almost continuously in prayer; that neither of them stopped a moment, but all were hoping and watching for help from the outside, and when they heard the first pounding against the brattice they began to call aloud. "Where they were they suffered very little from hunger pangs, but very much for something to drink, quenching their thirst as best they could by pressing against the rib of the crossheading and licking the water as it would drip down the sides.

HAMILTON CERTAINLY DEAD.

Young Green Furnishes Satisfactory Evidence of That Fact.

PARIS, Feb. 8.—The question of the fate of Robert Ray Hamilton, of New York, and the identity of his body with that found last August hidden beneath the overhanging branches of a tree on the bank of Snake River near his ranch home in Idaho, have been settled by an affidavit just obtained from Mr. J. O. Green, at Pau by Mr. Hamilton's brother, who was commissioned for the purpose by the Surrogate's Court at New York.

Commissioner Hamilton was in this city on Thursday, and will return to New York shortly with evidence in his possession which establishes the identity of his brother's body. Mr. Green states that he discovered the body in the river; that he was personally acquainted with Robert Ray Hamilton, and that he has no doubt that the body which he saw was that of the unfortunate young gentleman, who lost his life while attempting to ford the river on his return from a brief hunt.

Yes, Newell did it. He did it. Did what? Why, he built the new school house established the new bank and was the cause of all other improvements made in Dushore, for the past few years, and built up the best newspaper in the county. Or, at least, he would like to make his readers believe as much. Of course, we do not think he would publish a—or say anything which was not true, we mean—but we have heard so many others of our citizens make remarks in regards to his bestowing all the credit upon himself, that we think the sentiment of so large an element of our people should be heard. In the last issue of the Review he says editorially: "We were the first to boldly and persistently advocate these necessities of an enterprising town. Can any one blame us if we feel just a little elated with the success that has crowned our efforts? It shows how much a live energetic newspaper can do for a town." In no way does he say a word giving the least credit to anyone but the editor of the Review. The fact is that the questions of a bank and a new school house have been persistently agitated for nearly a decade and because the fanatical and egotistical editor of the Review happened to "chin in" a short time before the desired end was accomplished, must be given all the credit? Some of our people have not yet forgotten, either the article published in the Review a couple of years ago condemning the school board for levying a school building tax, of 10 mills because a complaining citizen, who pays a very small tax, told him it was not legal to levy a heavier building tax than school tax. He then claimed credit for informing the public that it was not legal, when, in fact, it was mutually agreed by most of the tax-payers to pay 10 mills and commence the erection of a new building at once. And only for Newell and one or two others the new school house would have been built one year sooner than it was. The fact that the Review is not the best newspaper in the county is too well known to need any comment. It usually contains not much else than self praise, while the REPUBLICAN though small in size, is filled with good live news very week.
