Pattison is in the Field.

The discussion of Governor Pattison's Presidential and of the Democratic situation generally in the State, in a Harrisburg dispatch printed to-day, will be interesting, not only in Pennsylvania, but elsewhere. The facts given are fully sustained by information from the best sources, and their presentation at this time only offers to the public what is daily discussed by leading and well-informed Democrats in private.

Whatever anybody else may think, Governor Pattison is undoubtedly his own candidate for President, and is very much in earnest about it. He has organized his present Administration for a very different purpose from that which inspired him when he held the office before. The way in which the lines have been thrown out has made it impossible to conceal the ambition to which the patronage and influence must be made to bend. The active and influential Democrats—those who control something in the machinery of the party—are being enlisted without regard to their former personal predilections.

In forcing this issue, the Governor will not only ruffle things some, but he will make it very trying for a good many Democrats in the State who are naturally for Cleveland. If the ex-President remains anything like a factor in the field, it is not difficult to see that we shall very soon have a distinct division of the party in Pennsylvania into Cleveland Democrats and Pattison Democrats, in which event, should it be possible for Cleveland to again succeed, he will find the circle of his obligations greatly narrowed. Should Cleveland lose ground as rapidly in the next few months as he has in the last two, the Governor won't find it very difficult to get the Pennsylvania delegation.

It is apparent that the Democratic victories of last November are not going to prove an advantage to Mr. Cleveland. It threw to the surface a number of Democrats who can fairly claim the support of their respective States in the National Convention, and the present attitude of the Democrats of the West and South toward the ex-President on the silver question makes it easier for the States to present their favorites. This will break up what six months ago promised to be a nearly solid Cleveland convention and encourage combinations which may make the nomination of Cleveland impossible. For the first time since the election of 1884 the Democrats feel that they have more than one man who might be able to run for President.

Meantime, it can be taken for granted that Governor Pattison will neglect no clap-net effects which may seem designed to serve his scheme. He has made no obtrusive declarations on the tariff and silver questions, and he is not likely to make any as long as it shall seem wise to keep still. But the interesting fact that the Pennsylvania Democrats must soon choose partners for the Presidential dance is forcing itself forward.

RIOT IN THE COKE REGION.

Three Thousand Men Raid the Moorwood Works Before Daylight.

Mr. PLEASANT, Westmoreland County, Pa., March 30.—Three thousand men, blood thirsty and dangerous, armed with deadly weapons of every kind, raided the Moorwood Coke Works just before daylight this morning. No one was hurt, considerable property was destroyed, and lives were saved only by the prudence of Sheriff Closson, who withdrew his handful of deputies when the infuriated strikers, like a boundless herd of Texas cattle on a wild stampede, rushed madly on the works.

There was no rebellion. It was a mighty uproar, a riot that swept like a cyclone through the valley in which Moorwood is situated. Four brass bands, from four different points in the region, leading four different crowds descended at the same time from the four knolls surrounding the works, and as they united in the valley the discordant noise, joined with the desperate yells of the reckless mob, swelled out like a general alarm of disaster. The army of rioters came together at the extreme southern end of the great works where they halted for a time.

While the bands endeavored to play the Marsellais hymn the work of destruction went madly on. Everything in reach was destroyed. Barrows, forks, shovels, picks and carts were wrecked and consumed. The 200 ovens which had been charged on Thursday, and were ready for drawing, were broken open and were left to burn to ashes. The long tract on the top of nearly a mile, of ovens was torn up and thrown into the yard. A barrow-load of flaming coals was dumped into a pile of kindling at the shaft. The company store at the extreme north end of the plant was stoned and looted, and the high white-washed fence surrounding the great works was totally demolished.

Then the mob broke. The alleged music closed, and they escaped like thieves in the night. MAKING THE ARRESTS.

It was just before the dawn, and a darkness, black as Egypt hung over the place, with here and there an occasional oven burning a hole in the inky clouds. Sheriff Closson and Morris Ramsey, however, followed the leaders of the raid and arrested John Hale, J. McCarty and J. Rensd. They were taken to Greensbury where they were committed to jail charged with riot and carrying concealed weapons. In attempting to arrest the man Manager Morris Ramsey was struck in the face by one of the prisoners, and was seriously hurt. He was not disabled, however, and assisted materially in landing the disorderly prisoners.

Mrs. Ramsey, wife of Morris Ramsey, who lives within easy reach of the Moorwood Works, had been in delicate health for several weeks. The confusion by the raid drove her into hysterics, and to-night she is raving and dangerously insane. She has been removed from her home and the place has been abandoned. She is with her brother-in-law, Robert Ramsey, at the Frick Company's Standard Works and a guard of fifty men has been stationed within reach of her room.

Frick Blames the Labor Leaders.

PITTSBURG, March 30.—Henry Clay Frick president of the H. C. Frick Coke Company which controls nearly two-thirds of the ovens in the Connellsville region, said to-day, discussing the riots: "Such of our works for which we have orders for coke will be operated on the terms stated in our posted notice, if operated at all, and it is just as well our old employees should understand that we mean what we say. Fair minded people, and those familiar with the coke business, and the business situation generally, will all say that the wages offered by us are liberal. "Up to this time we have made no fight against labor organizations in the coke regions, but it is not likely that we are going to remain quiet and see our property destroyed at their instigation, and then go into conference and treat with them. "The so-called leaders in the coke region are only urging a continuance of this strike in order to retain their positions as leaders. Harmony between operators and the men means no further use for them—their positions would be gone. There must be friction or they would have nothing to do.—Press.

John E. Gallagher, who has been private secretary to every successive traffic manager of the Short Line, and who had been in the employ of the road longer than any other member of its office force, has resigned to accept a position with the street railway company.—Sioux City Journal, March 25.

Can a newspaper please everybody? It cannot. Ought everybody be pleased? No. Why not? Well, if a newspaper pleased everybody, and everybody were pleased, time spent here on earth would be so fearfully monotonous that the people would not care how soon the old globe on which we repose went to pieces. A newspaper must rattle the dry bones, be boy-cotted, tell the truth, expose falsehood, lay bare hypocrisy, fraud and the like, and then trust to the second thought of all fair minded people.

Every village and town has its loafers or hangers on in the shops or stores giving the benefit of their nature deliberations free and unsought. There is nothing such sages do not know from the unsolved mysteries of electricity to minutest detail of their neighbors business. How tired the merchant or proprietor becomes of these daily loafers. They never work, never are busy, always at leisure and yet know everything about every trade and profession and business under the sun. Questions of finance, labor and capital all are ready solved.

General Sherman, shortly before his death, by written contract, put his memoirs in the hands of Webster & Co., of New York. They, carrying out the spirit of the contract, are about to bring out a cheap edition of his celebrated work: with a brief appendix by the Hon. James G. Blaine, including the closing years of General Sherman's life, his last illness, death and funeral pageant. The work will be in one volume and will contain the full text of the original memoirs. It will be sold at $2.00 all former editions having been sold at $5.00. The proceeds of the work will be devoted to the interests of those whom General Sherman has left dependant for support upon the income of the estate.

Silver Discovered in Lycoming County. Linden, Lycoming county, is all astir and gossips are wild with delight in this vicinity concerning the silver mine said to have been discovered within a mile and a half of this village. The land on which the silver ore was found is the Charles Metzger tract. Metzger is a traveling salesman for a Philadelphia house and has owned this land for a number of years. There were whisperings of a "rich find" on the tract, but not until recently did Mr. Metzger give the subject any attention. Some time ago he had a quantity of the ore assayed, and he was assured that the silver could be mined in paying quantities.—Ee.
