REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Republican county convention will convene in Forksville on Saturday Sept. 12, 1891 at 1 p. m. The purpose of this convention is to place a county ticket in the field and to nominate one person as a delegate to the Constitutional Convention.

Delegates elected on the 8th of Aug. will hold over and in precincts where no delegate elections were held on that date the Republican electors are requested to meet at their respective polling places on Friday the 11th of Sept. between the hours of 5 and 7 p. m. and elect the same.

F. P. VINCENT,
Chairman.

AN OLD FASHIONED DEMOCRAT.
Opposed to Bosses and Machines—
Methods—They are the Independents Hearing Us?

From the Harrisburg Patriot.
For some reasons the Republican newspapers in this state that gave aid and comfort to the Democrats in their campaign last year have with only one or two exceptions dropped back into the Republican ranks.

One of the latest to turn back from giving Democratic support is the Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph which contributed earnest and useful aid last year to the Democratic cause. That newspaper does not conceal its reason for the change. It declares that the Democratic party in this state is falling under the curse of boss servitude. It says:

In the days of Wallace Randall the rank and file of the Democracy was allowed to give expression to its sentiments, whether in accord with the policy of these two men or not. Now everything must be made to fit into the ambitious schemes of a governor who seeks the presidency and a party boss who will help his chief so long as he can help himself. No man of intelligence, no man who reads the daily papers, be they Democratic or Republican, can deny the growth of the Harrity's despotism and Pattison's approval of it.

This is a serious accusation and coming from the source upon which Democratic history in Pennsylvania rests is worthy profound consideration.

When Governor Pattison in January last was asked why he was willing to elevate a ward politician who had betrayed Mr. Scott into a place of dignity Governor Pattison answered: "This man has his hands on the machine. I am looking to 1892. My old friends and supporters ought to be content to step aside temporarily until I am helped into the presidency. Just now we must 'broaden' a little." Governor Pattison thought his friends were as anxious for office as he was and thought that they ought to be willing to join hands with any one who could aid his ambition at any cost to conscience or honor.

Are the Democrats of Pennsylvania willing to turn over their honored party to boss rule? This warning from an independent source ought to be heeded. If Pennsylvania is to be won this Fall it is not to be by bosses or through boss methods. It is against these we have been fighting. Are we going to have a Harrity machine or a Democratic party? If the former, then count me and my sons and my Democratic neighbors as supporters of the Gregg ticket this year. I would rather vote for a Republican who had the independence to support a gallant soldier like Hancock than cast a ballot for a man who before he enters public office forswears himself and becomes the tool of one who has no higher idea of Democracy than the selfish use of power and the increase of his individual revenue.

Rain Makers Triumph.

MIDLAND, Tex., Aug. 27.—The rain makers have come and exploded and conquered. Now their experiments here are at an end and their next base of operations will be El Paso, where rain is badly needed, and where great preparations are being made to receive and entertain them. Texans have been convinced that rain can really be induced to come down out of the skies by Uncle Jerry's experts, and hundreds of letters are pouring in begging General Dyrenforth to go to one place or another and make it rain. Some of the letters are really pathetic in their urgent appeals for rain. Rain making in the future, judging from the tenor of these letters, is going to be a mighty important business.

Taken as a whole and separately, the experiments have been successful. Nine showers and one big rain is the net result of three weeks work, and that in a region where for three years there has been almost no rain at all. The experiments have worked wonders in the appearance of grass hereabouts, and the cattlemen are delighted. Tuesday night, the final, and perhaps most successful test was tried here, and the conditions under which rain was produced should be satisfactory to the most skeptical.

The night was clear as it could be possible for a night to be. General Dyrenforth mustered his little army and started his artillery booming. He sent up five balloons and exploded them right in the enemy's camp. He fired a quarter of a ton of rackerock powder and dynamite in packages of from ten to twenty pounds at long range. The bombardment of the twinkling stars lasted five hours. It ceased at 10 o'clock.

At 3 a. m., the General and his men were awakened by the first answering shot from the heavier artillery. It came in the shape of a tremendous clap of thunder. Then the first scattering shots in the way of rain fell on the roof of the ranches and then volley after volley rattled down. The rain fell for several hours. The sun rose and shot two rainbows across the western sky. At 8 o'clock the rain ceased, but upon the explosion of more dynamite it poured down again. Every time it stopped an explosion would start it up again.

Then there was no more rain to fall and the battle was at an end. The clouds drew off and General Dyrenforth's forces were victorious. The General started in the morning for Washington, but will return in about ten days and conduct the experiments at El Paso.—Ee.

Material Witness as for the Defense Unable to Appear in Court.

PAINTON BOLD AND FEARLESS.

William H. Painton, Daniel Wesley Smith and Franklin L. Smith were arranged before Judge Lattimer at York Tuesday morning, charged with the murder of Mrs. Elizabeth Strominger at Lewisberry in March last. There was a striking contrast in the appearance and demeanor of the accused murderers as they sat together, the cynosure of the eyes of a crowded court room.

Painton, who is alleged to have robbed the old couple of a portion of their coveted gold and cruelly applied the gag that caused the death of Mrs. Strominger, was apparently bold and fearless as a young lion. Flanked on either side by his weaker confederates he watched the proceedings without the least outward manifestation of concern or fear. His clear, blue eyes followed critically every movement of his lawyers. He was cleanly shaven and wore a new suit which gave him a pleasing appearance. A yellow cravat hid his shirt front and around his throat was fastened a low, white collar.

MOTHER AND SON.

The aged mother of the accused murderer was an interested spectator of the proceedings. She reached York from her home at Sonestown, Sullivan county, Tuesday with a party of neighbors and remained until last evening. During the preliminary work of the court Mrs. Painton and her son held an animated conversation. She stood behind him with her hand resting on his left shoulder and looked into his comely face with a countenance radiant with love for her unfortunate child. Occasionally they smiled as they whispered into each other's ears with their hands to their mouths to prevent those sitting by to hear what they said. Before the prisoners were taken back to the jail Mrs. Painton kissed her son on the forehead and bid him good-bye. His voice was husky and a tear stole down his pale cheek as he returned the salutation.

Bent with age and his hair whitened by grief over the cruel slaying of his loving wife old Michael Strominger sat between his private council, District Attorney Kunnel, of this city, and District Attorney Bentzell, of York. He leaned on a slender cane and occasionally glanced savagely at the two accused assassins that sat to his left.

A CONTINUANCE GRANTED.

When Judge Lattimer announced that he was ready for business District Attorney Bentzell called up the three cases for trial on a joint indictment. Meade D. Detwiler, of this city, and E. D. Zeigler, of York, counsel for the defence, moved for a severance. This was granted, and the court asked the commonwealth's attorneys which they wanted tried first. William H. Painton they said, but his counsel moved for a continuance and presented the affidavit of Dr. M. J. McKibben, of York, stating that Thomas W. Holden, of Delta, a material witness, was too ill to appear in court. Counsel for the commonwealth vigorously resisted the application for a continuance and a short argument ensued. The defendant's attorneys stated that Mr. Holden was a very material witness and that they had used due diligence to have him appear in court. The application was granted, as was a motion for a continuance in the cases of the two Smiths. All applications were filed in writing and were prepared by Mr. Detwiler. It was decided that the cases will be called at the October sessions, beginning October 19.

A party of citizens of Sonestown have been subpoenaed by the commonwealth and were present. They say Painton is genius, an enterprising conversationalist and a first-class mechanic.—Ee.

ESTELLA ITEMS.

S. S. Rogers was at Towanda last week on business.

J. J. Webster is busy sewing out the remainder of his stock of logs.

C. J. Fuller is building the cellar wall for his new house. William Wheatley is doing the mason work.

Rev. Oliver Bedford of Southern Illinois preached an able sermon to a large congregation Sunday evening.

M. W. Reeser and wife, Peter Messersmith and sister, visited Elkland Grange at this place on Tuesday last.

The auditors were out again assessing damage for three sheep killed by dogs for Joshua Cott. Some one had better load a shot gun and kill a few dogs about Lincoln Falls.

A five year old daughter of Alven Pardoie died suddenly on Thursday morning Aug. 27th. The funeral took place on Friday at the Centre school house. Rev. P. R. Pittman officiating.

for some time. Her health is not much restored.

The band serenaded our town for the first on Saturday night last. Much credit was given them by all the citizens. They serenaded the business places of town.

The heavy rain on Sunday and Monday, of last week, washed away some parts of the R. R. between Orangeville and Light Street—causing the mail to be delayed one day.

POLITE.

It is rather significant that the Republican party can always procure free passes over the railroads for all such as desire to attend Republican State Conventions. This has been the practice for years, while no such favor is shown the Democratic party. Isn't it apparent to the public which party is the party favoring the corporations and against the people?—Wyoming Democrat.

This is a contemptible lie. Republicans are only extended the same favors as are shown Democrats. They are given excursion rates. The chairman of the Sullivan county Democratic Standing Committee received a large package of these tickets last week and a number of them were used by our democratic friends on Thursday. Day, haven't you any regard for the truth?
